EDWARDS IS CALLED NOT COMPETENT BY BACCUS

Sensational Charges Are Read Before Council; Accusations Made to Bring Forth Reply

TAX PAYERS LOSE MONEY, ALLEGED

An Investigation Is Demanded by the Whole Body, But Official Under Fire Says Politics

(FROM BACCUS' LETTER)

"Commissioner Edwards' department is in a demoralized condition."

"Commissioner Edwards has no understanding of the duties of his department."

"Inefficiency in the office of Commissioner Edwards can easily make several points difference in the price of street bonds, which comes out of the people who have the street work done."

"For the sake of saving a few dollars in clerk hire, he has excited hundreds of property owners to fear for their titles, and will probably cause some persons to lose their property."

COMMISSIONER EDWARDS SAID:

"It is untrue that a worse condition exists in my office than in former years with regard to street bonds.

"Baccus is trying to ward off the civil service reorganization of his office by attempting to discredit mine.

"This criticism, I suppose, is an awful jam for the civil service board, which recently reorganized my office.

"I have plenty of men in the bonding department. It would not pay to put on a bunch of extra help just for the street bonds, when the contractors turn them in in a big bunch.

"The civil service board made no change in the bonding department—I have as many men there as there were before."

Commissioner W. J. Baccus today launched a virulent attack upon Commissioner of Finance and Revenue W. F. Edwards, and demanded that the city council investigate the conduct of Edwards' office.

He charged Edwards with inefficiency, with causing property owners extensive loss, and with depreciating the value and attractiveness of street bonds by delays in handling the bonds in the office of City Treasurer F. A. Cooley.

Edwards caused the Baccus letter,

Bandit Terror of Mexico May Have Faced Execution Squad

GENERAL FRANCISCO VILLA, WHOSE CAPTURE AND EXECUTION HAS BEEN REPORTED.

GENERAL VILLA IS PRISONER OF CARRANZA

Report Telling of Capture; Say That Followers Were Killed.

EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 21.—Officials of the de facto Mexican government here had not received confirmation today of the reported capture of Francisco Villa. A positive denial that the rebel leader had been taken near San Geronimo was received from Luis Herrera, a Carranza commander at Chihuahua City. Mexican officials were engaged in an effort to secure further information concerning the basis of the rumor.

The report that Villa, once powerful leader, who numbered his Mexican legionaries by thousands, was captured with a handful of followers who remained faithful at an isolated ranch in the Guerrero district, was received by the American Smelting &

COLLEGE MEN ARE CENSURED BY WOMEN

Dean Lucy Stebbins Says They Put Social Burden Aside.

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—Criticism of the men students of the University of California for not assisting the women students in raising the standard of social affairs on the campus is included by Dr. Lucy Ward Stebbins, dean of women, in her annual report to President Wheeler. She declares that efforts have been made by the women toward curtailing the too numerous social events, the seeking of a standard form of dancing and other things, but that these efforts have received little support from the men. Miss Stebbins refers her complaint particularly to the Students' Welfare Committee. She says:

"My own constant interest in encouraging the women to manage their own affairs with the best wisdom and foresight that can be mustered, brings me to a problem of control and standards where I believe all of us, faculty and students alike, are singularly confused in our analyses. When the question is one of social standards and social restraint the men are sure to shift the responsibility, saying 'This is the women's problem, let them set the pace and we will fall in line.'

"The women have set the pace in some cases. The men have not fallen in line and the women have dropped back with nothing gained and a good deal lost by way of misunderstanding and friction. Neither the men or the women are exclusively to blame for this.

"But the old convention which insincerely places women in the position of social censors is to blame.

"I am convinced that nothing will be accomplished in raising the social standards at the University until men and women take up these problems together. For instance, the limitation of social events to certain days, the standardization of dancing, the type of recreation indulged in on the campus, are obviously all questions which must be handled by men and women in joint council. The Students' Welfare Committee should and would constitute such a council if it had the thorough-going understanding and support of the faculty and student body."

U. C. STUDENT RULE LAUDED BY WHEELER

Controlling Committee Extolled for Its Spirit

Reorganization Policy of Institution Is Analyzed

U. C. Student Body Is Household Tribunal, Not Really a Court

The undergraduate students affairs committee, through which the student self-government system operates, has been a household tribunal rather than a court. Its inquiries and its findings have not been given any legal form. No one has been put under oath. The sole effort has been to find out as directly and frankly as possible what the real facts were, relying entirely upon student honor as between man and man.

It is evident that the student tribunal, in order to be genuine, must be left to its own spirit and devices and must not be, in any way, adulterated by the devices or membership of a faculty element. It must be outright a student affair in its thinking and its doing, otherwise student self-government will be a farce. It will be faculty government disguised with a sweater.

It is evident from our experience that the president should always stand in intervention between student and faculty action. The two forms of action represent a total difference of theory and point of view. They must be kept distinct if student self-government is to be a reality.—From President Wheeler's annual report.

To an exposition of the merits of the students' affairs committee, as an integer in the student self-government in vogue at the University of California, to an explanation of the recent reconstruction in the academic colleges and to other matters of interest in the administration and affairs of the institution, President Benjamin Ide Wheeler devotes his annual report, which came from the University Press in Berkeley today. The volume contains 350 pages, including as well the reports of the various departments to the president.

The portion of the president's report relating to the students' affairs committee follows upon the charges of that committee recently twice made against Verne Smith, a senior student, and its double recommendation for his suspension, which was succeeded by his appeal to the faculty and the courts and finally by a restoration of his standing and the awarding of his diploma upon review by the Academic Senate. Smith charged unfairness in the methods of the students' affairs committee.

President Wheeler refers directly to the Smith case in the following sentence of his report:

"An unusually trying and painful case of discipline occurring near the end of the academic year 1914-15 called attention to the necessity for a formulated and consistent procedure. In the case of discipline mentioned, the accidental failure of the president to discuss with the accused, as was his wont, the charges brought against him before allowing the faculty committee to be notified, advanced the case too hastily out of its phase as a matter of the household tribunal into its phase as a matter of punishment in accordance with formal law.

"The operation of student self-government in this university has been of such far-reaching advantage to the order

English Newspaper Praises President

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Daily Chronicle devotes the most prominent article on its editorial page today to a defense of President Wilson and his foreign policy. The Chronicle declares that Mr. Wilson occupies a position of exceptional difficulty, adding that "if the British press and public took a little more trouble to understand him and were more conscious of the absurdity of lecturing a great republic on what its President ought to do, it would be much to the advantage of the Anglo-American future."

Discussing the English attitude toward the United States, the Chronicle says:

"There is a section of the British press that is not treating the United States as a strictly neutral power. They have treated the United States as if they were one of the family.

"A recent number of an American magazine contains a symposium giving the reasons of English writers why America should come into the war. This is a piece of gratuitous impertinence from those who have no business to advise Americans what course of policy they should pursue."

Paul Shoup Forced to Postpone His Lecture

Paul Shoup, head of the electric railways of the Southern Pacific, has again been forced to delay his visit to the Oakland Chamber of Commerce. Announced to speak at the advertising bureau luncheon last Tuesday, he was forced to put the engagement over to next Tuesday, and today was compelled even to cancel this engagement, announcing that he would not be able to visit Oakland before February 1. He will be the guest of the chamber on that date.

Lincoln's Blockade Proclamation Cited

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Times today publishes prominently the blockade proclamation issued by Abraham Lincoln and makes it the text of an editorial leader urging a blockade on Germany.

Bandit Wilson's Pal Is Placed on Trial

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—William Juber, arrested in San Francisco, where the police were alleged to have obtained a confession from him, was placed on trial in the superior court today on the charge of complicity in the robbery here August 20 last of the Boyle Heights Branch of the Home Savings Bank by three armed highwaymen, who held up the cashier and obtained $3800.

Juber's alleged confession involved George Nelson, who was found dead in a room in which he had barricaded himself and stood off police of San Francisco all night.

PLANS FOURTH LOAN.

BERNE, Jan. 21.—The Swiss government is preparing to issue a fourth loan of 100,000,000 francs. It will offer for subscription bonds bearing 4½ per cent interest. The proceeds will be used to cover the cost of the continued mobilization of the army.

PHANTOM AIRSHIP RUINS NIGHT

BERKELEY HAS NEW GHOST

EVEN BABY'S SLUMBER BROKEN

NIGHT LIFE IN BERKELEY—"HUNTING AEROPLANES."

Sweet sleep that knits the raveled sleeve of care still is denied to the quiet-loving citizens of Berkeley. They have halted by city ordinance the nocturnal rumbling of milk wagon wheels. They have clipped clothespins on the Adam's apple of each noisy rooster. They have even legislated against doves cooing after nightfall. And still there is no peace.

It is all because the motor of some aeroplane, as mysterious as it is annoying, has murdered sleep. For a fortnight the unmistakable whirring of the motor has drifted across the city during the night hours whenever temporary surcease in the storm permitted the aviator his chance.

Whoever that aviator is, and he certainly exists according to the testimony of innumerable mewling auditors, he has neither the compassion of a gentleman nor the soul of a flea. Talk about man's inhumanity to man. This fellow's inhumanity has made that sort pale, for he has disturbed the slumbers of respectable housewives as well and has awakened babes just as their obstreperous teeth quieted down for a moment.

Sooner or later he will be found out. The last moonlight night, when the steady pounding of his motor was heard high above the city, innumerable duds slipped their feet into their carpet slippers, lightened their dressing gowns about their shivering figures, wrapped a towel about their bald spots and fared forth into the night. Despite lanterns and electric flash-lights and opera glasses and patience, they caught no sight of the aerial voyageur, and were forced to return to the side of the gas stove swallowing their wrath.

Several youthful inventors of gliders in the North Berkeley neighborhood have been under suspicion, but have proved alibis. The university scientists, always questioned in such cases, have delved into Euclid, Minto and Bourdon, and emerged witless and unable to aid.

FRAT EXPELS STUDENT WHO WANTED TO RESIGN

There is trouble in Berkeley.

Francis Aikin Leavy, a sophomore in the state university, has caused an unusual amount of fuss and turmoil because he has severed his connection with the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He says he has resigned because it was a question of being a "good fellow" and flunking in his studies or of not being a "good fellow" and standing well in his classes. So he ceased to be a "good fellow."

Officers of the Sigma Phi Epsilon won't have it this way, however. They say that Leavy was "kicked out" of the fraternity because he had "broken relationship with his fraternity and with his parents and severed connections with his friends in the Players' Club."

The statement that Leavy is at outs with his family because of his fraternity troubles is denied by his mother, Mrs. Clarence M. Leavy, 2211 California street, San Francisco, who today said that her son had visited the family last evening and had laughingly discussed the trouble which the fraternity episode had occasioned.

FRATERNITY'S STATEMENT.

The fraternity issued an official statement regarding the case this morning. It follows:

"Leavy was a fine fellow and a good worker for his fraternity, but recently a change came over him. He broke off relationship with his fraternity and with his parents and severed connections with his friends in the Players' Club. He admitted to his fraternity that he had moved away because he could not and would not live up to the ideals and abide by its rules and regulations. He wished to be by himself where he could do as he pleased. The fraternity did take action against him without considering his resignation."

Here is what Leavy's mother had to say about it this morning:

SON GOOD STUDENT.

"My son is naturally a student," she explained. "He is taking seven subjects at the university and so far he has received good marks in all of them. He is endeavoring to get through college in less time than four years and is also trying to get the best credits possible. He has so far not fallen below 95 and 100 per cent and he wants to keep up that record. While he lived at the fraternity he could not study properly. He couldn't be by himself enough. When he would go to his room the boys would all pile in upon him and he had to be a good fellow, and he simply could not do his work. He decided to resign. That is really all there is to it. He was home last night and was joking and laughing with us about all the fuss that had been made because he had sent in his resignation. He is a born student and is not happy when not doing his best in his classes. There you have the whole story."

Leavy entered the university in 1914 from the Lowell high school, where he had won honors in debating and was elected to Sigma Phi Epsilon. Toward the end of last semester he moved out of the house and started preparing, he says, for participance in this year's Carnot debate with Stanford.

LEAVY IS EXPELLED.

Monday Leavy, having decided not to remain in the fraternity, sent a letter to its executive committee incorporating his resignation. The fraternity, he says, instead of permitting him to resign immediately expelled him. Called upon for an explanation of this action he said they refused him any.

"When I went into the university from Lowell high in 1914 I joined this fraternity, which is composed of fine fellows," says Leavy. "I took an oath to make my fraternity uppermost in my college life. I found I could not keep that pledge. I did not have enough time for my studies and adhere to fraternity customs as well. In my freshman year I was one of the final six for the intercollegiate debating team and saw some reason, therefore, for activity along this line. It was either my studies or my fraternity, however, and I gave up the latter. I do not know why I was expelled instead of having my resignation accepted as a due matter of course. They have given me no explanation."

Sigma Phi Epsilon is one of the younger group of fraternities at the University of California, having been instituted here as California Alpha chapter in 1910. Among the upper class members, who reside at the chapter house at 1711 Euclid avenue, are Charles R. Fancher, Joye C. Houn, Maurice H. Knowles, Arnold W. Howe, Paul E. Reames and others.

"I did not get along with the fellows very well, and that was making a mess out of my college life. They charged that I was guilty of breaking my fraternity oath merely because I tendered my resignation. It is absolutely untrue that I have severed connections with my family. I am living in Berkeley because it is handier to college. It is also incorrect to say that I have severed my connections with the Players' Club. In reality, I have been inactive in the club for some time because of the press of college work. My ideals have been different from those of the fraternity members. I have wanted to be of service to others, while they have wanted merely to build up the fraternity."

NAVY HEADS BRAINLESS, CHARGE OF SPEAKERS

Former Secretary Geo. Von L. Meyer Makes Assertions at Meeting of the Security League

ADMINISTRATION IS CONDEMNED BY WOOD

Is Criticized and Strong Demand Is Made for Immediate Steps for an Adequate Defense

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Attacks on the administration's foreign policies and pointed reference to the "utter state of unpreparedness of the army and navy," and the awakening of public opinion on the subject of adequate defense, were features of addresses by prominent speakers today before the National Security League.

An arraignment of the foreign policies of the administration was made by Henry A. Wise Wood, chairman of the conference committee on national defense, New York.

"It may be said with accuracy that we have no foreign policy at the moment," he said. "With the destruction of our citizens while upon foreign merchant ships or upon our own merchant vessels, we offer no armed interference, nor do we offer armed interference when our citizens, while upon foreign soil, are despoiled, their wives and children outraged, their property confiscated. Furthermore, it is to be doubted whether at the moment we are willing to enforce by armed intervention such of our domestic policies as are inimical to the interests of foreign nations."

REACTION DUE.

He said there were, however, certain indications that we are about to experience a nation-wide reaction of public opinion which cannot fail to crystalize into a national spirit, finding expression in a definite code of policies dealing with foreign affairs in order to sustain which the United States, if need be, will declare war.

Wood said the United States should formulate a naval policy that would bear the full brunt if necessary of a coalition of powers. He advocated a naval policy that would "maintain at all times in the Atlantic a force superior to that of Germany; in the Pacific a force superior to Japan; protection of the Panama canal against destruction on land or by sea or injury by air."

PEACE BASIS ONLY.

George von L. Meyer, former secretary of the navy, declared "the fundamental defect of the navy department is that it has no brain," no competent military organization charged with the preparation of the fleets for war and with their conduct

Locks Cashier Up and Steals $500

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21. — Backing George E. McHugh, the cashier, into a vault at the point of a revolver, a lone robber today stole $500 from the Culver City Commercial and Savings Bank of Culver City. The robber then fled after locking the cashier in the vault. Other packages containing approximately $30,000, were overlooked.

SERBS AT CORFU.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—An Athens dispatch to the Havas Agency of yesterday says that the Serbian premier, accompanied by several ministers, has arrived at Corfu as well as 200 Serbian officers and soldiers. The local authorities acting in conjunction with the forces of occupation have made preparations for their accommodation.

RIFT IN DEMOCRATIC LUTE

Is Party's Press Agency Out of Kilter?

(S. F. Chronicle, January 21)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The Navy Department is opposed to another naval academy on the Pacific Coast, as proposed in a recent bill by Senator Phelan, Secretary Daniels told the House Naval Affairs Committee today.

Daniels declared expansion of the present academy at Annapolis, Maryland, is desirable, but that there is no need for another school on the Pacific.

This stand of Daniels effectually kills the Phelan bill. When the bill was introduced Phelan announced it had the approval of the Navy Department. Other California Congressmen who contemplated introducing similar bills fought shy of the project, knowing it was chimerical.

(Dispatch of January 5)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—A naval academy to cost $10,000,000 at San Francisco or on San Francisco bay is proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Phelan of California.

"Annapolis has received its limit of capacity," said Senator Phelan.

"The secretary of the navy approved the purpose of this bill and the location of an academy on the Pacific Coast."

DEAN OF U. C. SUMMER SESSION QUITS

BERKELEY, Jan. 21. — Prof. Charles H. Rieber has resigned as dean of the summer session of the University of California.

No announcement has yet been made of his successor, who will be appointed to take charge of the school during its session in June.

Prof. Rieber's resignation is understood to have been caused by press of work in his department in the division of philosophy. He has been dean of the summer session since 1911, and the registration in the school has grown from 1881 in that year to 5364 for the summer session of 1915. It was reported on the campus two years ago, when Prof. Rieber was East on a six months' leave of absence, that he might resign upon his return. He retained the deanship, however, for the succeeding term.

Another important resignation from the university faculty became known today when it was learned that Dr. J. Morris Flemons, head of the department of obstetrics and gynecology in the medical school, will close his connection with the university at the close of the present term. Dr. Flemons will leave to accept the chair of obstetrics in Yale Medical School. He was a graduate in 1897 from Johns Hopkins University, taking his medical degree there in 1901. He has been a recognized authority on this subject.

Germans Accused of Firing 18,207 Houses

PARIS, Jan. 21.—A dispatch from Havre says that a report has just been issued by the Belgian government giving the number of houses in the various provinces of Belgium, which the report says were burned by the Germans. The following figures are given:

Brabant, 5821; Liege, 2703; Antwerp, 1809; Malines, 1748; Dinant, 2232; Namur, 1710; Philippeville, 1201; Huy, 755; Verviers, 581; Warnerse, 56; Turnhout, 46; total, 18,207. The figures for Flanders are not yet obtainable.

Student Editor Is Barred From School

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—The Board of Education, influenced by the recent attitude of the students of Lowell High School anent the hazing investigation, has issued an order forbidding the registration of Harold B. Matson, of 164 Belvedere street, a senior who was completing his last year. Matson began last term the publication of a paper called the Scholastic Rebel, designed to support "student body rights and fight opposition measures of the Board of Education. The editorials in the publication are said to be very severe and have finally caused the board to take action. Matson has hired an attorney and will fight.

CONTRADICTS GREEK KING'S CONTENTION

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The interview by the Associated Press of King Constantine of Greece occupies a prominent position in this morning's newspapers. The Daily News, which makes the interview its main feature, under the heading "An Angry Outburst by the King of Greece," also says of it editorially:

"It is abundantly evident from the interviews granted by King Constantine to German and American journalists that the business-like measures the entente allies are taking for their protection have inspired the king with lively resentment. That is not altogether astonishing.

"The conditions under which the allies are encamped and soon will be fighting on neutral soil are an anomaly without parallel in modern warfare and involve inevitably an attitude equally anomalous toward the neutrality of Greece. Apart from the occupation of the Saloniki zone, her railways have been cut, bridges blown up, certain of her islands borrowed, and consuls, accredited to her, put under temporary arrest.

"Such facts cannot and need not be disguised. They call for no defense from the allies, as Greece has no one to thank but herself."

The Daily News argues that Greece broke faith with Serbia and that she was responsible for the loss of the Gallipoli peninsula by breaking a promise and also that the occupation of Saloniki had been by the invitation of Greece.

"If German submarines have been on the Greek coast," the Daily News adds, "they must be hunted out; if the Greek railways serve the purpose of the Austrians and Bulgarians, they must be obstructed or destroyed. That was the obvious and necessary corollary of the allies' acceptance of the invitation of M. Venizelos to land at Saloniki. And when King Constantine likens his country to Belgium he shows himself strangely careless of his reputation for honesty and common sense."

KING TO APPEAL TO HIS PEOPLE

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Developments are tumbling over each other in the Greek situation. Today's dispatches brought reports of the following developments:

King Constantine has decided to ask the allies to withdraw from Greek soil. If they refuse he will go to parliament, which convenes on Monday, and seek the advice of the people. If the members counsel against force the Greek army probably will be demobilized.

Under pressure the king has reversed his decision to declare nation-wide martial law. Labor unions led the opposition, declaring such a measure would increase the cost of living.

Berlin reports that the time of the ultimatum said to have been delivered to the Greek king by the allies has expired. The ultimatum was said to have demanded that the German, Austrian, Bulgarian and Turkish envoys be handed their passports and the consuls dismissed forthwith.

Sofia reports that the Greek governmental archives are being hurriedly transferred to a point in Macedonia. Hints are given that the allies are preparing to carry out their threat and that Greece faces a revolution in which the king will declare for the Austro-Germans, ask their assistance in defending the neutrality of Greece and join to their forces that part of the Greek army which remains loyal to the monarch.

KAISER IN WAR ORATION PRAISES KING

LONDON, Jan. 21.—A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam says that at the banquet given in Nish last Tuesday, on the occasion of the presence there of Emperor William and King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, both monarchs delivered addresses. King Ferdinand thanked the emperor for his visit.

"The world learned to know with surprise and admiration the strength of Germany and of her allies," said the king, "and believes in the invincibility of the German army under the guidance and leadership of its emperor."

Emperor William, in his address, thanked King Ferdinand for the appointment as chief of the Twelfth Balkan Infantry Regiment.

"Your words prove," said Emperor William, "that we, in estimating this hour, are filled with the same feeling. Challenged by our enemies, we and our loyal allies have been struck at the very root of our strength. We found a hard fight, which soon spread forth. When Turkey, threatened by the same enemies, joined us, and by stubborn fighting reassured her world's position, your majesty's prudence recognized that the hour had come for Bulgaria to bring forward your old good claims and to smooth the way for your brave country to a glorious future. Your majesty's nation in arms added one sublime leaf of glory to another in the history of Bulgaria.

"In order to give expression to my feelings for such deeds and to the feelings of all Germany, I have begged your majesty to accept the dignity of a Prussian field marshal, and I, with my army, am happy that you in accepting it, also in this sense become one of us.

"With firmest confidence I raise my glass to the welfare of his majesty's house, to the victory of the glorious Bulgarian army, and to Bulgaria's future."

MOB HANGS NEGROES TAKEN FROM JAIL

ALBANY, Ga., Jan. 21.—Five negroes taken from the Worth county jail at Sylvester were hanged to one limb of a tree on the outskirts of Starkville some time last night. The bodies, containing many bullet holes, were cold when found this morning.

Four of the victims were of one family—Felix Lake and three sons. Sheriff Moreland was killed at the Lake home when he went there to arrest a negro. It is estimated that there were thirty or forty men in the lynching party, which traveled in automobiles. Telephone wires out of Sylvester were cut before the raid on the county jail. Six negroes were taken from the prison. The bodies of five were found. What became of the other is not yet known.

SYLVESTER, Ga., Jan. 21.—Six negroes held in connection with the recent killing of Sheriff Moreland of Lee county were taken from the Worth county jail here late last night by a mob and carried away in automobiles. They had been brought here from Dolas, Ga., for safe-keeping.

Officials who set out in pursuit of the party in an effort to prevent the lynching were unable to locate it.

The mob brought to the jail a negro securely bound and gained entrance by telling the sheriff they wanted to place him in a cell to save him from lynching. Once inside they released the negro and overpowered the sheriff.

IMMIGRATION LAWS HELD TO BLAME

Labor Leaders Argue for the Literary Test Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Only by limiting immigration can high standards of living and good wages be maintained among American workingmen, Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, and Representative Burnett declared in advocating the literacy test bill today before the House immigration committee. Representative Burnett, who is chairman of the committee and introducer of the bill, declared that of 2,500,000 foreigners in the United States, only 35,000 were attempting to learn English. Ignorant and unambitious, he declared, they work cheaply, live in squalor and create conditions that drive American workingmen from a community. To such causes, he insisted, were due the recent Youngstown riots.

"A workingman told me he left Youngstown for no other reason than the contaminating influences that these foreign laborers created there," Burnett said. "And what decent, self-respecting American, Irishman or German would stand for such conditions?"

"The farm calls for the foreign laborer, but he does not answer," John H. Kimble, national legislative representative of the Farmers' National Grange, said in supporting the measure.

MONTEREY REGRETS ITS ROAD PROMISE

Asks Congress for Harbor Improvement Clause Relief.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Two California projects for harbor improvements were taken up today by the House rivers and harbors committee.

Representative Hayes urged the committee to relieve the citizens of Monterey of the obligation of building a railroad to connect San Joaquin Valley with Monterey harbor, one of the conditions stipulated in the Monterey harbor project adopted several years ago. Congress already has appropriated $200,000 for Monterey with an ultimate cost limit of $800,000, conditioned upon the Monterey people raising $200,000 of the amount, which they have done, but also upon their building the connecting road.

Representative Randall urged the committee to provide in the omnibus bill for $135,000 for a channel to connect Los Angeles harbor with Long Beach, a new project in which the local interests are to raise approximately the same amount.

Both projects were taken under advisement.

Message to Senate to Be Confidential

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Some of the information on Mexico which President Wilson will send to the Senate in response to Senator Fall's resolution will be transmitted as confidential. All of the facts in possession of the State Department will be disclosed to the Senators, but officials feel it would not be wise to make public all the information. Secretary Lansing said today the data had not been fully collected and he could not indicate when it would be ready for the President. The Mexican question was discussed briefly at today's cabinet meeting.

President Outlines Preparedness Tour

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—President Wilson formally will open his fight for national preparedness with a speech in Pittsburg January 29. The President plans to leave here a week from today and in addition to Pittsburg the itinerary calls for speeches at Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Des Moines and Davenport. Plans for the President's second tour, to begin about February 15th, are under consideration. He probably will go as far west as Denver and may return through the south.

Coast Guard Cutters Sought for Pacific

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Eight new coast guard cutters are proposed in a bill reported favorably today by the House commerce committee. Two for the Pacific Coast and Alaskan waters, one for ice breaking in New York harbor, two for shoal waters at $50,000 and three light draft river cutters for patrol duty and flood relief would be provided.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. — The further urgent deficiency bill, carrying appropriations of approximately $12,500,000, passed the House today without roll call.

HEAR GRIEVANCES.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 21.—The delegates to the convention of the United Mine Workers devoted most of today to hearing the report of the grievance committee on appeals from the rank and file of the organization. The complaints dealt largely with alleged injustices done individuals or local unions by officers, district or national, or by district or state organizations within the union.

TRONA CASE SUIT.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 21.—The ejectment suit of H. Waymire and E. Thompson against the California Trona Company involving 25,000 acres of potash deposits at Searles Lake, San Bernardino county, was continued in the superior court here today until Monday by consent.

"BLACKHAND" TRIAL BEGINS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—Paul Ternso, an alleged member of a blackhand organization, who sent a threatening letter to Vincent Virgilio in September, was placed on trial before Superior Judge Griffin today. in war, and in consequence the navy is being built and administered on a peace basis and is not being efficiently prepared for war service. "We add to our difficulties," he continued, "by being the only civilized nation that has not a budget system."

He urged the fortification of the Panama canal and the additional protection of it by the navy, a definite naval building program, abolition of useless navy yards, necessary increase of personnel with the increase of tonnage, establishment of a national council of defense, prompt organization of a naval reserve of over 25,000 men and creation of a navy general staff.

P. H. W. Ross, president of the National Marine League, advocated an American merchant marine owned by Americans, manned by Americans and at the beck and call of our government.

Henry Woodhouse of the Aero Club of America declared that by spending $25,000,000 the United States could be made fifth in aeronautic equipment and still would be ranked by Great Britain, France, Germany and Russia.

Miss Mabel Boardman of the executive committee of the American Red Cross made a plea for support in the organization's part of national preparedness—readiness to care for those who suffer in defense of their country.

MONTENEGRO'S POSITION IS IN DOUBT

VIENNA, Jan. 21.—It is announced here that the press reports that Montenegro has discontinued peace negotiations are unfounded. It is stated that as yet the laying down of arms demanded by Austria has not been completed by the Montenegrins and that until this is done by all Montenegrin troops, peace conditions will not be discussed.

The conditions have not yet been stated, as the Austro-German peace commissioner Otto, formerly Austrian minister at Cettinje, still is en route for that city and arrived at Serajevo today. It is added that several days will still be required before all the Montenegrin troops will come in from the hills and surrender. Only then are the actual negotiations to begin. What the Austro-Hungarian terms will be, it is said here, cannot yet be published, but they will include the retention of Mount Lovcen.

A Rome dispatch of yesterday said Montenegro had informed Italy officially that hostilities with Austria had been resumed over the entire front. The foregoing Vienna dispatch, also under yesterday's date, may have been filed before the time of the announcement credited by Rome to the Montenegrin government.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—The Geneva correspondent of the Temps says that, according to dispatches from Vienna, an active renewal of military operations has been undertaken by the Austrians in Montenegro. General Koevess' army is in movement, according to these advices and one Austro-Hungarian division is advancing in the general Cettinje-Podgoritza direction, while another is moving south along the Adriatic coast toward Antivari. Other detachments of less strength are reported to be in Albania, within fifteen kilometers of Scutari.

MONTENEGRIN CONSUL SAYS FIGHT TO END

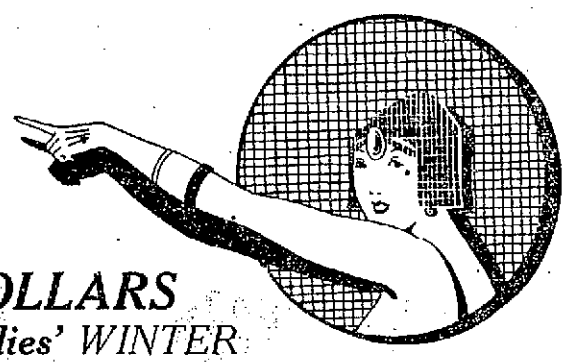

PARIS, Jan. 21.—The Montenegrin consul in Paris makes the official announcement that all negotiations between Montenegro and Austria have been broken off and that Montenegro has decided to fight to the end.

BRIGHTER CHILDREN

Children are probably brighter to-day than a generation ago—but are they stronger? That's a grave question. So many pinched faces, dulled eyes and languid feelings make us wonder if they will ever grow into robust, healthy men and women.

If your children catch colds easily, are tired when rising, lack healthy color, or find studies difficult, give them Scott's Emulsion for one month to enrich their blood and restore the body-forces to healthy action.

Scott's Emulsion is used in private schools. It is not a "patent medicine", simply a highly concentrated oil-food, without alcohol or harmful drugs. It cannot harm; it improves blood; it benefits lungs and strengthens the system. Your druggist has it—refuse substitutes.

WHEELER LAUDS STUDENT CONTROL

Little Need for Faculty Guidance, He Reports Officially.

of the university community and, what is far more, to the attitude and spirit of the students themselves, that no pains must be spared to devise and recognize a procedure which will insure to the system workableness under the law and avoid any crippling of its freedom and full responsibility."

In his report today, President Wheeler not only declares that student self-government in the university really works, but he points out the merits of the committee's program of action and the value of the system as a whole. Discussing the growth and meaning of student self-government, President Wheeler writes as follows:

"Since November, 1909, when a case of student discipline was first referred by the president for counsel and advice to an informally constituted committee of the senior class, our system of student self-government has been steadily growing in range and effectiveness and in the confidence felt toward it on the part of the student body. During all this time no formal agreements have been entered into as between faculty and students and no attempt has been made to give the system legal validity of any sort.

THE SPIRIT OF INQUIRY.

"The undergraduate student affairs committee, through which the system operates, has been a household tribunal rather than a court. Its inquiries and its findings have not been given any legal form. No one has been put under oath. The sole effort has been to find out as directly and frankly as possible what the real facts were, relying entirely upon student honor as between man and man.

"And, to the credit of the system, it may be unhesitatingly said that in all of the various cases which in the sixteen years have come before it there has rarely been one in which the substantial facts were not laid clearly bare. Very seldom has the defendant refused to co-operate in finding out or revealing the facts or sought to hinder the inquiry by concealment, except for a natural inclination to place a favorable interpretation upon the conceded facts of his own conduct.

"It may perhaps be said that the student committee has shown itself a mechanism better adapted to discover and determine all the facts than to devise a form of punishment suited to the offense committed.

"After a man has shown himself ready to co-operate in determining the exact character of the facts and once and for all recognized the full extent to which he is an offender, the matter of punishment becomes a thing of secondary importance and interest. Punishments have most usually taken the form of a recommendation to the president that the offender be reprimanded by the president, or deprived of credit in a course, or placed on probation for a year. The reprimand from the president is probably not generally regarded by the student as an eminently agreeable form of social intercourse, although it has usually taken the turn of a friendly talk of some length about what is worth while in the world and has given the president, for his part, a reasonably appreciated opportunity. Recommendation of punishment by suspension or expulsion has been relatively rare.

ADVENTITIOUS AUTHORITY.

"It has, of course, always been understood that the legal authority in matters of discipline rested with the faculty or the particular college in which the student was enrolled. The findings of the student committee have been so universally accepted by the student community and the faculty that they appear to have obtained a standing of their own.

"It is evident that the student tribunal, in order to be genuine, must be left to its own spirit and devices and must not be, in any way, adulterated by the device of the membership of a faculty element. It must be, outright, a student affair in its thinking and its doing, otherwise student self-government will be a farce. It will be faculty government disguised with a sweater.

"It is evident from our experience that the president should always stand in intervention between student and faculty action. The two forms of action represent a total difference of theory and point of view. They must be kept distinct if student self-government is to be a reality.

"The president, on learning that the student accused does not accept as reasonable and fair the judgment of the student committee, will in normal cases be justified in asking the committee for a review before submitting the affair to the faculty committee. It is surely in the interest of a successful student self-government that the faculty action should not come to be considered and felt as an action of a higher court to which the student has appealed. And yet it must always be the duty of the president, in asking the student whether he accepts the judgment of his fellow students, to inform him that he has, under the law, a right to a hearing before the faculty."

President Wheeler describes the reconstruction which has just been brought about of the system of "colleges" and "schools" which constitute the inner organization of the University of California. This reconstruction was made necessary by the remarkable recent growth of the university in students and in complication of courses and the great development of graduate and professional instruction.

BI-CAMARAL SYSTEM.

"The three 'colleges of general culture,' letters, social sciences and natural sciences," says President Wheeler, "have been consolidated into one new college called the 'college of letters and science.' The studies within this college lead all its students to the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A. B.)

"Through the establishment of the engineering council, the council of letters and science and the council of agriculture, the three great natural divisions of the undergraduate university have been plainly recognized and made the basis of the first and fundamental grouping. Each of the three councils exists only as a standing committee of the Academic Senate.

"In addition to these councils there exists, also, as a committee of the Senate, the university council, representing, by delegates, all the colleges of the university, academic, technical and professional. It prepares legislation for the Senate, whether by initiation or by reference.

"The councils, like the colleges and departments composing them, represent vertical sections of the university, i. e., their boundaries run up and down across the student classes. At right angles to these boundary lines there run in horizontal stripes, like the boundaries between the classes, the three following grand divisions of the student body:

"(1.) The lower division (the freshman and sophomore classes), represented by the advisor, as dean of the lower division.

"(2.) The upper division, in charge of the dean of the faculties.

"(3.) The graduate division."

President Wheeler predicts that the graduate division will hereafter concern itself with professional as well as merely with "graduate" students.

MORE ADVANCED CLASSES.

"Now that the technical and professional schools have come to occupy a permanent place in the graduate area," he writes, "the graduate school must no longer be restricted merely to those courses leading to the degree of Ph.D. and the horizontal stripe representing graduate study must stretch across the vertical section of the technical and professional schools as well as of the others. Courses in medicine and engineering requiring graduate studies have, evidently, common interests with the graduate courses in philosophy and physiology, notably, for instance, in the determination of what constitutes graduate status. One and the same university cannot well maintain two or more different standards in this regard. It is apparent that, sooner or later, this barrier resting between the two sorts of graduate status must be broken down and all the different upright sections of the work done by graduates must be brought within the purview of the graduate division. We seem to be ready now to take that step in spite of certain difficulties, mainly difficulties of conflict in jurisdiction.

"Characteristic of the need of the times is the demand for a vertical grouping known as the 'school.' Such is, for instance, the school of architecture, of education, of medicine, of commerce. The school represents a group of special studies leading to the higher degree, which, beginning at the earliest with the junior year extends upward for one, two, or three years past the Bachelor's degree into the graduate years. The actual facts of present-day demand for professional training have made this differentiation of school from college a frank necessity. It is a demand for an entity which shall administer a certain orderly curriculum in preparation for a certain professional career."

REPORTS OF "SCHOOLS."

The volume also contains President Wheeler's description of the recent achievements and the needs of the university and special reports on the schools of medicine, law, pharmacy, dentistry and art, the university extension division, the infirmary, the library, the Lick observatory, the University Press or publishing department of the university, the Scripps institution for biological research at La Jolla, the California museum of vertebrate zoology, the Wilmerding trades school, the dean of the summer session, the dean of women, the appointment secretary, and the alumni secretary.

There are also brief summaries of the work of each of the teaching departments of the university, from agriculture to zoology, and a report of the secretary of the regents giving an account of all official action by the regents, the governing board of the university, throughout the year. It requires twenty pages just to enumerate the year's gifts to the university.

Other features of the volume are a bibliography of writings published during the year by members of the faculty, statistics showing that the infirmary provided an average daily number of 120 consultations and treatments for the students and cared for an average daily number of fourteen students sick enough to be in bed, statistics compiled by the recorder of the faculty showing just how the enrollment of nearly 12,000 is made up and illustrating the extraordinary expansion in numbers during recent years, and a financial statement by the comptroller showing the sixteen and a half million of assets of the university and the sources of its income. The expenditures for the year included $918,955.99 for education and research; $491,681 for its economic, scientific and teaching work in agriculture; $435,575.86 for building operations and improvements; and for all the varied purposes of the university including its economic activities in agriculture, the running of the university farm, care of the grounds and buildings of the university, the Lick observatory, and agricultural expenditures offset by agricultural income, an all-inclusive total of $2,727,616.84.

Copies of the president's report have been sent by the university to the principal libraries of California, and copies may be obtained by those interested by writing to the president's office, at the university.

PROFESSORS TOO FEW.

There are not enough professors in the faculty, according to another section of the report, where Dr. Wheeler says:

"With the growth in the number of students, the first because all the more conspicuous and regrettable that the university is undermanned in all the higher professorial ranks. A result of the present division of income by needs is that, for instance, there is but one single full professor in the department of English as compared with nine full professors in the department of English at Harvard university; but two full professors in the department of mathematics as compared with five in Princeton university, which had, last year, only 1643 students, or only a little over one-fourth as many as were registered for full courses in the University of California."

President Wheeler makes a plea also for an adequate auditorium, the building of an Alumni hall or "Student Union" and dormitories for freshmen and sophomores.

Newspaper Censures Secretary Tennant

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The statement of Harold J. Tennant, under Secretary of War in the House of Commons, regarding the limited effectiveness of the new Fokker aeroplanes of the German army, is criticized by the Daily Mail today. The newspaper says that Mr. Tennant's statement does not diminish the fact that the British airmen are outpowered and outengined.

Mr. Tennant's explanation that the British losses have been due to the fact that the Germans keep to their own lines, causes the Daily Mail to ask whether German aeroplanes never reconnoiter to observe the effect of their artillery, and to declare that if they do they must pass the British lines.

Two Are Injured in Jitney Bus Accident

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—Robert Cahill of 2379 Bryant street, was probably fatally hurt, and Louis Serainl of 2332 Twenty-third street, was painfully hurt in a collision between a street car and a jitney at Nineteenth and Bryant streets this afternoon. Seralni was driving the machine and Cahill was a passenger. The collision was head-on and the automobile was badly smashed. Cahill's skull was fractured and Seralni's collar bone and left arm were broken. Both went to the Mission Emergency Hospital.

German Booty for War Period Great

LONDON, Jan. 21.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Central News says that the total booty of the Teutonic allies during seventeen months of war, is summed up in Vienna as follows:

Nearly 2,000,000 prisoners, 10,000 guns and 40,000 machine guns, while 470,000 square kulometers of enemy territory has been occupied.

$15,000,000 Ship Suit Still Rests With Jury

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—The suit of the Bluefields Steamship Company against the United Fruit Company for $15,000,000 damages under the Sherman anti-trust law, which has been on trial here for more than two months, was placed in the hands of the jury yesterday. No agreement had been reached when court adjourned until today.

The claim of $15,000,000, which would be trebled under the provisions of the act, was reduced by the ruling of the court that only damages incurred after June 23, 1905, could be considered by the jury, as the statute of limitations in this state is six years, and suit was not instituted until June 23, 1911.

The original claim was for damages from the date of the absorption of the steamship company by the fruit company in October, 1898.

Joffre Looks Ahead to Victory and Obscurity

PARIS, Jan. 21.—General Joffre says that the essential thing now is for the civilians to do their part in holding firm.

"If only the civilians will hold firm, that is the essential thing," said the French commander-in-chief to a deputation from the National Railroadmen's Union, formed to help the war sufferers. "If Frenchmen keep steady we shall have victory, not immediately, nor even soon, but eventually."

The head of the deputations said:

"There is one thing which encourages us above all others. It is that the commander-in-chief enjoys the confidence of every one of the people, who don't say 'General Joffre,' but 'our Joffre,' or 'Grandfather Joffre.'"

The general seemed more deeply touched than he cared to show. Then he said gravely:

"I have only one object—the salvation of the country. After that I shall disappear."

Italy Surprised at Finding War So Hard

FLORENCE, Italy, Jan. 21.—In an address delivered here Antonio Salandra, the Italian premier, said:

"We thought this would be a short and easy war, but it has become a long and hard one. We had thought that all the hardships would be of a military character, but we find it difficult even behind the front to keep on fighting. However, we are going to do it and we shall persevere until victory is won."

GUNNESS CASE ECHO.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 21.—Echoes of the wholesale murders at Laporte, Ind., for which Mrs. Belle Gunness was sought in 1908, were heard in the Supreme Court when Mrs. Cora B. Hereen of New York filed an appeal from the decision of the New York court refusing her damages against the New York Central railway for arrest and removal from the railway's train in May, 1908.

King Constantine Presides at Festival

ATHENS, Jan. 21.—King Constantine, accompanied by Crown Prince George and Princess Nicholas and Alexander, officiated today on the occasion of the festival of the Epiphany, at the ceremony of the blessing of the waters at Piraeus. On a like occasion a year ago M. Venizelos presided at the function.

Members of the cabinet, a few diplomatists and representatives of the army and navy and of the labor unions stood bareheaded while the Archbishop of Athens, in gorgeous and ceremonial robes, embroidered with medallions of gold and silver and with precious stones, pronounced the benediction over a cupful of the Jordan water which the king and princes afterwards drank. A similar ceremony was performed at Phaleron.

PURE RICH BLOOD PREVENTS DISEASE

Bad blood—that is, blood that is impure or impoverished, thin and pale—is responsible for more ailments than anything else.

It affects every organ and function. In some cases it causes catarrh; in others, dyspepsia; in others, rheumatism; and in still others, weak, tired, languid feelings and worse troubles.

It is responsible for run-down conditions, and is the most common cause of disease.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest purifier and enricher of the blood the world has ever known. It has been wonderfully successful in removing scrofula and other humors, increasing the red-blood corpuscles and building up the whole system. Get it today.—Advertisement.

REPEATS VON PAPEN DID NOT PAY HORN

German Press Agency Again Issues Defense of Official.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—Another statement in defense of Captain von Papen, former German military attache at Washington, was made today by the Overseas News Agency, which says:

"A wireless dispatch from England says the letters, checks and vouchers which were taken from Captain von Papen by the British at Falmouth, in violation of international law, are to be published. It is to be hoped they will be reproduced in fac simile, because it will then be evident that Captain von Papen never made a payment to Werner Horn, who is accused of having attempted to blow up a Canadian railroad bridge."

Referring to the British contention that von Papen's safe conduct did not include personal belongings the agency says:

"Germany will regret that it was not known before, for in that case the archives of the British embassy might have been seized after the beginning of the war."

PICTURE OF DEATH HORROR FAILS TO MOVE MARY PAMIAS

MRS. MARY PAMIAS, ON TRIAL FOR MURDER, WHOSE HUSBAND WAS FORBIDDEN TO CARESS HER IN COURT TODAY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—Grewsome pictures of the dismembered body of Michael Weinstein, taken by the police photographer as the limbs were removed from the box-couch in which Mrs. Mary Pamias is said to have hidden them, were shown this morning to the jury which is trying Mrs. Pamias for murder.

The witness on the stand was Detective James Cottle, who discovered the dismembered parts after twice searching the McAllister street lodging house where Mrs. Pamias and her husband, Joseph Pamias, resided. Although the photographs, ghastly in aspect and bringing a vivid recollection of the crime, were passed directly in front of her, Mrs. Pamias showed no emotion. Her husband placed his arm about her, but she seemed almost unconscious of his caresses.

After the pictures had been offered in evidence Pamias continued his lovemaking and Judge Dunne ordered that he sit in another part of the courtroom. He took a chair where he could see his wife, but could not touch her.

Assistant District Attorney Alexander O'Grady questioned Detective Cottle at great length regarding the two conflicting confessions made by Mrs. Pamias after she had been surrendered to the police by her husband. In the first statement she had declared that Weinstein, a crippled peddler whom she had known in New York, had made an effort to attack her and that she had slain him and later purchased a trunk intending to send the body away. Later she admitted that she had committed the crime the day before and that it was because Weinstein threatened to show certain letters of hers to her husband.

Herman Baumgarten of 1016½ Golden Gate avenue, who sold the trunk to Mrs. Pamias, is out of the city. His police court testimony was read to the jury.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF FLOODS URGED

Water Problem Conference Is Told of Necessary Action.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—Recommending government control in the reclamation of lands in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys and in the regulation of flood control of the rivers of the state, a special committee reported today to the State Water Problem Conference here. The committee, composed of V. S. McClatchy, of Sacramento, J. E. Woodley of Los Angeles, and J. P. Baumgartner, chairman of the State Conservation Committee, has made an exhaustive study of the subject and makes recommendations in connection with the principal rivers of the state.

The report deals with both storage and reclamation as factors in flood control. It is shown that the Sacramento river has the greatest volume of flood in proportion to the area drained of any river in the country, and that its actual volume is the fourth greatest in the United States.

The excessive cost of storage and the necessity for sacrificing valuable lands in creating reservoirs which would probably be insufficient, makes the storage plan almost prohibitive, according to the committee, as regards this great river.

Comprehensive plans as to the San Joaquin river have not yet been made, and the Colorado river, flowing as it does in three other states and into Mexico, does not permit of the diversion of its waters.

"Reclamation in either the San Joaquin or the Sacramento valleys cannot be made safe or permanent," says the report, "unless there be a comprehensive plan formally approved by government enactment with some authority with arbitrary power to see that it is carried out. The old plan of independent reclamation district working regardless of each other inevitably increasing the danger and must end in ultimate disaster.

NECESSARY WORK.

"Flood control of the Sacramento river is necessary not only for the safety of the lands in the Sacramento valley but also for those in the joint delta of the two rivers and on the San Joaquin river up to Stockton. Flood control of the Sacramento can be secured, the engineers agree, only through completion of the plan recommended to congress, formally adopted by the state and now being carried out."

The committee says further that navigation and irrigation are both vitally necessary to the interests of the state.

CALLED BY KIN'S ILLNESS.

RICHMOND, Jan. 21.—In answer to a telegram from Mineral Springs, Montana, P. J. Mahoney of Stege, has departed for the bedside of his brother, who is reported to be dying.

Air Dreadnaught Is Being Built

Giant Craft to Rule Sky, in Theory

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—An aerial superdreadnaught that is being built in a factory in the United States for use by one of the belligerent powers is described by Alberto Santos-Dumont, the aeronaut, in a statement made public today by the Aero Club of America. This aeroplane is said to be six times larger than any yet tried and will be able to cruise more than 600 miles at a speed of 75 miles an hour with a crew of thirty.

The power plant, according to Santos-Dumont, consists of six 160-horsepower motors and one of 40-horsepower. With about eight passengers it can carry oil and gasoline weighing 6250 pounds and a load of 3000 pounds of ammunition. It is armored in all vital spots and is designed to carry the new aeroplane gun projecting nine centimeter shells.

The machine is built with three planes, spreading 133 feet.

HOLD DANCING PARTY.

RICHMOND, Jan. 21.—A dancing party following the regular meeting was held by Richmond Rebekahs last night. The affair was arranged by a committee from the lodge consisting of Mrs. L. H. Cobb, Mrs. George Craig, Mrs. L. Damon and Mrs. G. Alexander.

Peter Cook, Pioneer's Funeral Is Tomorrow

A simple ceremony tomorrow will be held as the last tribute to the memory of Peter Cook, one of the early pioneers of Oakland, who died at his home, 1222 Fortieth street, yesterday. Only relatives will attend the services and interment.

Peter Cook was one of the pioneer newspapermen of the bay region. He was the father of former County Clerk John P. Cook, now an official in the Pacific Coast Baseball League. He was 78 years of age.

Cook was a native of New York and came to Oakland fifty years ago. Besides his widow and son, he left three daughters.

He had been ill for more than a year since being stricken with paralysis.

"History in Making" to Be Subject of Lecture

"In Line With the Hour," a review of current history, will be the lecture tonight at the McChesney school, Thirteenth avenue and Thirty-eighth street, when Arthur L. Sigeet of Berkeley, a director in the American Institute of Current History, will speak.

This is one of the free lectures being given in the Oakland schools under the auspices of the Board of Education. The lecture is the fourth of a series and will be illustrated with stereopticon slides of new pictures, cartoons and photographs dealing with world events of interest.

Poet Burglar Takes Poems to San Quentin

Frederick H. Glanz, who turned burglar after editors all over the country consistantly turned down his voluminous manuscript of poetry and prose, profusely illustrated by himself, was today sentenced by Superior Judge Ogden to serve two and one-half years in San Quentin.

Glanz spent three hours at the county jail segregating his belonging preparatory to his moving headquarters. In a suitcase filled with penned inspirations accumulated during the last few years were his principal belongings. From the Saturday Evening Post to the Commoner was an accumulation of letter heads denoting "returns." Still persistent Glanz said that he would occupy his spare time while behind prison bars in endeavoring to pen his way to fame and fortune.

"Maybe it will pay better than burglary," he philosophized.

Glanz was traced by the police through his habit of leaving behind copies of his literature when he entered apartments to steal.

"I felt as if I ought to give them something for their money," is the way he put it.

"But no one ever took me seriously; 'twas ever thus with genius," was his final comment.

WOULD BE BOSS.

When William F. Spotts, a plumber, asserted to his wife that he was going to be boss in his home, and emphasized the declaration by slapping her in the face, she decided to move, according to her complaint for divorce filed today. The couple were married in October, 1914.

Professor Bade Will Give Plymouth Sermon

In view of the large publicity through the press and the severe criticism by some ministers and high praise by others of Professor Bade's new book on "The Old Testament in the Light of Today," considerable interest attaches to the fact that he is to speak in an Oakland church this coming Sunday. Rev. Albert W. Palmer, pastor of Plymouth Church, has invited Professor Bade to speak to the people of Oakland both morning and evening, and he has accepted. The following subjects are announced: 11 a. m., "The First Great Heretic," and 7:45 p. m., "Is the Old Testament Outgrown?"

A unique feature of the evening service is that after the formal address is concluded opportunity will be given for questions from the congregation. Professor Bade will be glad to answer candidly and courteously any sincere serious questions which may be written out and sent up by one of the ushers.

Professor Bade, who is of Moravian descent, a graduate of Yale University, and who occupies the Old Testament chair in the Pacific Theological Seminary, Berkeley, represents the modern scholarly interpretation of the Bible, sometimes called the higher criticism. He believes that what is needed now is honest moral criticism and revaluation of the Old Testament, and that, in this, Jesus led the way when he challenged certain portions of the Mosaic code and struck hard at the priestly regulations of ritual purity. He holds that Jesus bequeathed to his followers the liberty and duty of this kind of moral criticism of the Old Testament.

CENTRAL BANK HAS ANNUAL DINNER

Employees and Directors Meet Around Board for Entertainment.

Figures and the click of adding machines were forgotten, and finances were forsaken for fun last night, when the employes and officers of the Central National and Central Savings Banks gathered at Hotel Oakland for their second annual dinner. The big dining-room was lavishly decorated and 100 guests were present. Between the program numbers dancing was enjoyed.

The program consisted of vaudeville and musical numbers, contributed by the bank clerks, and an address by Arthur Arlett, a newly chosen director.

Arlett, announced to talk on "How It Feels to be a Progressive," chose rather to tell how it feels to be a new banker.

"For I'm the youngest banker here," he explained, "and am just learning it. I have been on the board long enough to see some of the troubles a banker has—troubles that I did not realize existed before I saw the inside of the business."

Arlett told several anecdotes of his introduction to the banking field, and spoke of the responsibility resting on the shoulders of the bank employes of today.

R. M. Fitzgerald was toastmaster, announcing that there would be no formal speeches and that the occasion was simply a "get together" affair at which every guest was expected to have a "good time."

President J. F. Carlston and other officers of the bank were cheered during the evening, and a full list of songs and special numbers was heard. The "National Quartet," composed of bank clerks, and the Central Bank Chorus gave selections, and Miss Sadie Ortez played a piano solo, "Pop" Hodowal gave a recitation and Charles Rider and Clem. Rowlands presented violin and piano numbers.

The dinner is an annual affair given by the employes of the bank, the object being to gain closer co-operation. A. J. Mount and Edward Bothwell were in charge of the arrangements.

Pantalettes Shock Penn City Residents

DARBY, Pa., Jan. 21.—Pantalettes have made their appearance in Darby. Darby, which for the last 234 years, ever since it was settled by the pious Friends from Derbyshire, has acquired a reputation for being a conservative, staid community, is shocked. No one seems to know the comely young woman who caused a sensation by walking along Main street with the aforesaid pantalettes showing below her somewhat abbreviated skirts.

Scores of women who saw the young woman and noticed her conspicuous show of the new decree of fashion blushed, took a second look, and one woman followed the wearer from Chester pike to the trolley loop, where the young woman took the Front and Chestnut street car to Philadelphia.

Would Know English; Is Taught "Beat It"

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—"Beat it!"

These two words are the only English words that Alfred Maguenat, Swiss baritone, can speak. Caleria De Vries, the titian-haired prima donna who fell and hurt herself during a rehearsal of "The Rhinegold," taught them to him last night during the opera.

She was sitting in a box, for she is still too lame from her accident to sing. M. Maguenat remarked (in French, of course) that he could speak no English. "I'll teach you some English," said Mme. De Vries, with a mischievous twinkle in her eye. "Say 'Beat it.'"

"'Beatut,' beetut," repeated M. Maguenat. "What does it mean?"

"It means 'va,'" replied the Rhine maiden.

MARINE SENT TO PRISON.

VALLEJO, Jan. 21.—J. B. Curran, who robbed rooms in hotels and lodging-houses while he was attached to the Mare Island marine barracks, has been sentenced by Superior Judge William T. O'Donnell to serve five years in San Quentin prison. Curran pleaded guilty.

ILLINOIS RIVERS ARE ON RAMPAGE

Cities and Villages Are Flooded and Many Lives Imperiled.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 21.—Rivers throughout Northern Illinois, swollen by the rain, which fell almost continuously through the night, today overflowed their banks and inundated a score of cities and villages. No loss of life was reported, but the property damage was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

All through the valley of the Desplaines river the water spread far over the lowlands, reaching its height in the neighborhood of Joliet, where that city and several villages were flooded. Sheets of water spread over the western suburbs of Chicago and boats and hastily constructed rafts were utilized.

Aurora and Elgin on the Fox river and intermediate towns of St. Charles, Batavia and Geneva reported high water and much damage.

Southeastern Iowa and Northeastern Missouri also were in the rain belt, which came up from Texas.

At Joliet, many residents, unable to obtain boats or rafts, sought safety in upper stories of their houses, where they watched the water swirling about their houses and rising a foot and more. Every policeman was put on flood duty and scores of volunteers aided in the rescue work.

Aside from the flooding of basements, little damage was done in the business district.

At Rockford a rapid rise of the Rock river and its confluents flooded the east side of the city. One school was closed because of the inability of the pupils to reach the schoolhouse. Firemen and policemen were busy assisting families in the inundated district to higher ground in boats and on rafts.

FLOODS IN IOWA.

CLINTON, Iowa, Jan. 21.—Flood waters, the result of a twenty-four-hour rain, converted creeks in this vicinity into raging torrents, flooded low lands and completely surrounded the town of Charlotte in this county. No serious damage is anticipated.

EDWARDS ACCUSED OF INCOMPETENCY

in which the charges were contained, to be referred to him for a report and reply. He intimated that Baccus had exaggerated the situation to make political capital.

Baccus' attack was made in connection with the collection of installments on bonds for street and sewer work. He charged that the bonding department has fallen so far behind in its work that the notices that payments were due were sent out after payments had actually become delinquent in some instances, thus causing property owners to forfeit their property or to be forced to pay the full amount of the bonds, instead of only the annual installment.

CAUSTIC IN COMMENT.

The reading of Baccus' letter caused a sensation in council today. When the letter had been read there was a silence, broken by Edwards. He said sarcastically:

"The civil service board must have made an awful mistake with regard to my office in the reorganization it recommended, eh?"

"You're away behind in your reports to the auditor, to," said Baccus; "isn't that so?"

"Yes," answered Edwards, "but are conditions any different from what they have been in former years?"

"They've never been like this before," said Baccus.

"That's quite a jam for the civil service board, I suppose?" said Edwards.

"You let the civil service board reorganize your department and did not make a fight to keep the men you needed," said Baccus.

"Yes, I know where you're leading," answered Edwards.

After the council meeting Edwards said that Baccus was trying to divert the fire of the civil service board from his own department.

BACCUS' OWN WORDS.

Portions of Baccus' letter addressed to the council follow:

"Your attention is hereby directed to the demoralized condition existing in the office of the commissioner of revenue and finance. I take this action because the point has been reached where the title to thousands of homes may become clouded through his failure to send the customary notices of installment payments on street bonds, and to issue the bonds covering street work completed in 1915.

"Furthermore, I am tired of explaining and apologizing for the shortcomings of the commissioner of revenue and finance. For the past twenty days property-owners and bondholders have furnished my department with a steady stream of complaints. I, therefore, hope that you will make a prompt investigation, take steps to remedy the situation, and prevent its recurrence.

WHERE MEN ARE NEEDED.

"The whole trouble comes from lack of men in the bond department of the office of the commissioner of revenue and finance. So far as I have reports, the men in that branch of the office are doing their best, but are swamped by the amount of work. The commissioner has no understanding of the duties of his department, but has an ambition to make a record for economy. He, therefore, made no adequate provision for the work of this part of his department. Now it develops that for the sake of saving a few hundred dollars in clerk hire, he has depreciated the value of street bonds, has excited hundreds of property-owners to fear for their titles, and before the council has time to straighten out his department he will probably cause some persons to lose their property.

TWO OTHER "FAILURES."

"The failure of the commissioner of revenue and finance to issue the usual notices in time to prevent delinquencies in the January payments is a serious matter, worthy the attention of the council, but even worse is his failure to issue the bonds on work done during 1915.

"The vicious feature of this situation is that the moment the bonds are issued the holder may present the coupons and demand his January 2, 1916, payment. The treasurer cannot pay and the holder can then demand that the treasurer sell the property. The sale cannot take place for fifteen days, and in the meantime the owner may prevent the sale by making payment. But he must pay the entire bond, not one installment, and he must pay all expenses incurred by the treasurer.

"This takes the owners by surprise and most of them cannot raise the money. Even if they can, it leaves them with a deep distrust of bond payments and a general belief that city officers are either grossly neglectful or are 'standing in' with contractors and bondholders. The danger of loss is now threatening hundreds of property-owners. I demand that the council take immediate steps to protect these people.

ANOTHER COST.

"There is another feature about this delay in issuing bonds and notices of payments due. Four of these series now in the office of the commissioner of revenue and finance are under the amended act. Under the law the treasurer cannot accept any delinquent payment since January 28 without adding a penalty of 10 per cent. Fortunately, these jobs were small and the total penalties cannot exceed $113. If any of the owners have paid it may be less. But this is chargeable directly to the inefficiency of the commissioner of revenue and finance. Next year all of the new bonds will carry this penalty. I request that steps be taken to put enough efficiency into the commissioner of revenue and finance and his department to prevent this condition next year. Notices should be sent in ample time to protect the property-owner.

"The effect of this muddle is far-reaching. Most of the bonds are held by large concerns that would rather have their legitimate installments of principal and interest than cause trouble. But if the delinquencies are large, and they must wait weeks for their money, these bonds are not attractive as an investment.

"In other words, the price goes down; the contractors must figure on selling at a large discount and must raise the price of street work accordingly. Inefficiency in the office of the commissioner of revenue and finance can easily make several points difference in the price of the bonds, which comes out of the people who have street work done. One point in the price of the bonds would pay the salary of a dozen clerks throughout the rush season.

"The only saving feature about the whole situation is the fact above stated, that most of the bonds are held by concerns that have no desire to take advantage of the property-owners. There are enough held by sharks and other irresponsible people to make the situation extremely dangerous, however, and no commissioner has a right to conduct his office so inefficiently as to needlessly expose the property-owners to the dangers that I have outlined as now existing.

"A similar condition might arise in my office every time a street opening is passed, and I know that I would not be doing my duty if I did not make every effort to notify the property-owners of their payments. I again express the hope that the council will take such action as is necessary to bring the commissioner of revenue and finance to a realization of his responsibilities."

DOUBTS LEGALITY OF DOCK CHARGES

Engineer Contends That City, Not S. P., Has Right to Fix Tolls.

M. K. Miller, whose connection with the city as consulting engineer is at present a matter of controversy, today informed the city council that he is investigating the right of the Southern Pacific Company to collect wharfage, dockage and tolls from shippers for the use of Long Wharf. The information was conveyed in a communication in which Miller explains that he is still working for the city, preparing an extensive waterfront report.

Miller advised the council it would be best to rescind the resolution terminating his contract with the municipality and "thus avoid needless litigation in reference to the payment for services." The contract was terminated by a resolution passed while Commissioner Jackson was ill. A recent opinion of the city attorney stated that if the work specified in the contract has not been in fact completed the council caused a breach of contract, for which Miller would have redress in the courts.

Miller's letter was referred to Mayor Davis.

In the letter Miller raised the question as to whether the city council has not the right and power to adopt an ordinance fixing a schedule of charges for dockage and tolls on the Oakland waterfront, this schedule to govern the shipment of freight and merchandise over Long Wharf and all other portions of the municipal waterfront. He said he had applied to the city attorney for an opinion on this point.

The council set Wednesday, January 26, to hear the petition of property owners, merchants and tenants of the produce exchange at Eleventh and Webster streets that the exchange shall be permitted to continue occupancy of this location. The council has passed a resolution that the produce exchange district shall be abolished in April, and that the commission merchants must seek another location. This action was taken at the request of residents of the neighborhood.

San Mateo Assessor Ends His Life by Shot

REDWOOD CITY, Jan. 21.—Clarence D. Hayward, assessor of San Mateo county for twenty-five years, was found dead today in the basement of his home here with a discharged shotgun beside him. The noise of the shot was heard by relatives upstairs nursing Hayward's aged father, who has been ill for several weeks.

Snow, Not Devils, Wrecks Tong Hall

Chinese Convinced Evil Spirits Did It

DUTCH FLAT, Jan. 21.—The rain, falling on five feet of snow, caused considerable damage to buildings from which the snow had not been shoveled. Chinatown suffered the most, as several buildings collapsed.

The Chinese Free Mason Hall is flat, and the Chinese say the devils did the work while the keeper was taking a few minutes' recreation.

Had the keeper been in the quarters occupied by him he would have been crushed to death. All the paraphernalia of the lodge is buried in the wreckage.

SNOW IS DEEP.

ELLENSBURG, Wash., Jan. 21.—Four feet of snow fell at Martin on the Northern Pacific Railway and at Laconia on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway last night. Both points, which are on the crest of the Cascade Mountains, now are covered with fourteen feet of snow.

MEXICAN GOVERNOR SUED BY AMERICAN

$6000 Paid for Liberty; R. B. Hull Alleges in Complaint Filed.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—Roy B. Hull of Pasadena filed suit today in the Superior Court here for $6000 damages against Esteban Cantu, governor of Lower California. Hull charged that he was compelled to pay this amount to the Mexican governor to obtain his release last August after being arrested at Tia Juana on a charge of running over and killing a Mexican soldier with his automobile.

Hull set forth in his complaint that after his arrest at Tia Juana he was removed to Ensenada and that while there Paul Dato, an agent of Governor Cantu, called upon him and told him he could not regain his liberty until the money was paid.

Friends and relatives paid the money, it was charged, whereupon his release was granted. In order to secure any judgment that may be obtained attorneys for Hull filed an attachment on money deposited by the Mexican government in banks at Calexico, California.

What Happened to Jones

A year or so ago, Jones was a merchant, with good stock and perfectly good intentions. He stuck to horse-drawn vehicles for his delivery service.

Soon sales sloughed off, customers flitted away, expenses continued above par; a competitor, using motor trucks, was grabbing Jones' customers and thriving thereon.

Jones investigated and found "Motor Trucks" the "answer." It is a time-honored but ever-new story of superior service.

Whereupon Jones saw a great light. He arranged for a demonstration, and was convinced by the results achieved with

FAMILY AWAY; THEIR HOME BURNS

Rumor of Victim in Flames Dispelled After Long Doubt.

Rumors that a member of the family of R. Edwards had been caught in a fire that burned to the ground their home at One Hundred and Ninth avenue and Volta street added excitement to an early morning blaze in the Elmhurst district. Neighbors told the firemen that a son of the family, the members of which are at present in Sacramento, was sleeping in the house alone. So great a headway had the fire made before the alarm was given, however, that, were anyone in the place, rescue would have been impossible.

Relatives of the Edwards family in San Francisco were communicated with and set at rest the fears that the young man may have been burned to death. They said there was nobody in the house at the time of the fire.

The glare of flames attracted the attention of neighbors to the outbreak. The San Leandro and Elmhurst fire departments responded to the alarm, the Edwards home being situated on the boundary line between San Leandro and Oakland. The house, a two-story wooden structure, was in flames when the departments arrived and could not be saved.

What caused the fire is unknown, but it is supposed that tramps who had entered the empty building were responsible. The damage was about $2500.

NO MORE BACKACHE; NO MORE MISERY

Hundreds of people have been relieved of the agonies caused by weak, diseased or clogged-up kidneys by using Solvax, the new remedy that quickly reaches the source of all kidney complaints.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides or have any signs of kidney or bladder trouble, such as rheumatic pains, puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Solvax will quickly and surely relieve you of your misery.

Solvax is probably the most potent remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It neutralizes, dissolves and makes the kidneys sift out all the uric acid and poisons left by the blood, and renders the kidneys and urinary organs clean, vigorous and healthy.

Many of the best druggists say that no medicine ought to be paid for unless it does the user some good. Solvax, therefore, sells under a positive guarantee to quickly relieve the worst cases of kidney trouble or your money refunded. Try Solvax today and if you cannot see and feel a decided change for the better just go to the druggist from whom you bought it and tell him you want your money back and he will return it without question. This is the strongest argument that can be offered in behalf of any medicine. Solvax is sold in Oakland and vicinity by The Owl Drug Co. and other leading dealers.—Advertisement.

WOMAN'S WISDOM OUT OF PAST

SPEECH UNHEARD 25 YEARS

PLEA MADE, BUT POSTHUMOUSLY

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 21.—Words written a quarter of a century ago, which were to have been spoken on the opening day of Stanford University by one of the founders, Mrs. Jane Lathrop Stanford, first found their way to student ears this morning, when spoke by Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, the third president, whose inauguration takes place tomorrow, and who addressed the student body in special assembly today.

"Not read as I expected, as I did not have the courage on that opening day, so important in our lives."

Thus reads the note at the end of the address that was not given. It bears the signature of Mrs. Stanford, who, on that momentous day in October, 1891, when the college was first filled with students, had not the courage to face that eager student body and read the words which she had written at the suggestion of her husband, Leland Stanford. So the address, tender and sympathetic, has remained in the sacred archives of the college for twenty-one years, and did not become a part of history until today.

INSPIRATIONAL THEME.

The address was full of inspiration, full of wistful pleading for the better and spiritual things of life, and bore a quaint plea for chivalry toward the women students of the institution.

"I am anxious that the young men should treat the young ladies who have entered this institution with the greatest deference," reads her quaint plea, "that they will be helpful in aiding and cheering them in their ambition for a thorough education. We have started you both in the same equality and we hope for the best results."

In another portion of the address she makes a plea for the men who work with their hands.

"Many of the young men who have entered this institution have come not only to improve their mental faculties but to teach their hands to be skilled in manual labor," reads the address, "and for these young men my heart goes out in sympathy and hope, for many will have nothing but the work of their hands to sustain them in the future.

THE NEED OF SKILL.

"I feel that the laborers of our country have not that encouragement and cheer which they should receive from those who have had superior advantages and larger means. Skilled laborers should be held in higher esteem and given more respect and consideration."

Reference to the death of their son, to whose memory Stanford University was dedicated, is noted in the following words:

"Our hearts have been more deeply interested in this work than you can conceive. It was born in sorrow, but has now become a great joy to our hearts."

The address in full, as read by Dr. Wilbur, follows:

REQUEST OF HUSBAND.

My husband has expressed the wish that I would address a few words to the students today. Perhaps it is befitting that I should do so, for since the first conception of this work Mr. Stanford and myself have been in unison and we have not only conferred together earnestly and deeply, but we have made this work a subject of deep and earnest prayer. We fully realize our own weakness and our inability to accomplish anything by ourselves. We are not deserving of praise for what we have done; we are merely following out a great plan that was conceived by one far greater than ourselves, our Heavenly Father, and we are but lowly instruments in His loving hands.

WORK BORN IN SORROW.

Our hearts have been more deeply interested in this work than you can conceive. It was born in sorrow but has now become a great joy to our hearts. While Mr. Stanford has dilated on book education I desire to impress upon the minds of each one of these students, both male and female, that we have at heart and very closely the hope that you will each strive to place before yourselves a high moral standard; that you will resolve to go forth from these class rooms determined in the future to be leaders with high aims and pure standards; and live such lives that it will be said of you that you are true to the best you know. I hope your lives will be truly earnest, not in the sense of going forth to acquire great wealth, and great names; but to be conscientious workers, to be helpful to others, to send cheer and good will to those who need lifting up, and to always follow the Golden Rule, "to do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

PRACTICE PATIENCE.

For a while you will be obliged to practice great patience. You have gathered together from different parts of the United States, strangers to each other and everything is at present unorganized. It will take you some time to accustom yourselves to your new surroundings, and to the different elements you will come in contact with; consequently we are desirous that you should be tolerant until all of the machinery is in good working order. I am also anxious that these young men should treat the young ladies who have entered this institution with the greatest deference; that they will be helpful in aiding and cheering them in their ambition for a thorough education. We have started you both on the same equality and we hope for the best results.

ADVANTAGES FOR STUDENTS.

Many of the young men who have entered this institution have come not only to improve their mental faculties, but to teach their hands to be skilled in manual labor and for these young men my heart goes out with great sympathy and hope; for many will have nothing but the work of their hands to sustain them in the future. We are anxious that they should have all the advantages possible. I feel that the laborers of our country have not that encouragement and cheer they should receive from those who have had superior advantages and larger means. Skilled laborers should be held in higher esteem and given more respect and consideration. I have in my mind the engineers who carry our great railroads across the continent and our great Leviathans across the oceans; they stand at the helm faithfully through darkness and storms, and hold our lives as it were in their hands. To their watchfulness and faithfulness we certainly have to trust ourselves. They as a class are our most self-sacrificing, heroic and daring men. I never cross the continent or the ocean without asking blessings and reward to be bestowed upon them from the Highest Source for their faithful service to mankind.

DAY IS SACRED.

Perhaps it will not be improper for me to say to these young men and women who have gathered here as students that this day is held by us as one of the most sacred of our lives. We thought it a sacred day when we laid the cornerstone of this institution, and how often we have wondered if it would be our Heavenly Father's will to allow us to remain on earth to witness its inauguration. His tender loving heart has seen fit to spare us to take part with you this day. A great sense of thankfulness pervades my being that He willed it thus and I deem it proper I should give public testimony of my gratitude. Our hearts go out to you in a peculiar manner. I think that we both feel a personal and individual interest in each one of you; in fact, it seems to me that you have become a part of our lives.

YEARNED FOR INSPIRATION.

Our hearts have yearned for a work which might rouse our interest in the life of the young and in this field our hearts are filled almost to overflowing with deepest interest. While we are permitted to remain in this life we shall watch closely your efforts to improve your opportunities and closely follow the results when you go forth to battle with the world. I believe there are loved ones beyond the life here who are joining us today in our prayers for the success of this institution. Four of our trustees have been called to the world beyond this, but I feel sure they, too, continue to remember us and our needs.

PRAYED FOR STRENGTH.

An impression has gone forth that we are indifferent to religious influences here and to religious instruction being given here. I am quite sure that this impression would not exist if all could be made to understand that this project was born from a great sorrow, the greatest that parents can endure; that the Creator has led us through the deep waters out into the sunshine of faith and belief in a future life; that we have wholly and entirely given our lives to Him, and only ask that He will guide us to do His will; that every stone that has been laid in the buildings of this university but numbers the prayers that have been offered up to our Heavenly Father for strength, guidance and help. That we should forget His love and mercy and be indifferent as to the Christian influence to be used among the students, would be an impossibility.

REVERENCE TO CREATOR.

We desire all of these young men and women to pay due reverence to the Creator, to remember His precepts and to obey His will; and so live that their deeds will tell better than words their love for the Master. There is only one failure for you and that is not to be true to the best you know. Always be gentle in manner, resolute in purpose and you will develop characters on which others can depend; and you can safely dispense with the more brilliant qualities if you can be depended upon for truthfulness, honesty of purpose, and each example of a good student will reach out and have an undying influence.

One who has passed from earth life has said, "Kind words and liberal estimates and generous acknowledgements, and ready appreciation, unselfish delight in the excellence of others, these are the best signs of a large intellect and a noble spirit. To be true, to be loving is the secret of Christian growth." I hope each one of you will hold up this ideal before you and then you will go forth as missionaries into the world. This is what we wish, what we hope, and what we pray for.

NEW STORM HESITATING FEW HOURS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—A temporary cessation of rain and threatening weather condition which have been prevalent almost since the first of the year, is promised today by the United States weather bureau. The large storm which appeared early yesterday over the British Columbia coast has moved eastward and is now stretched between Montana and Iowa in the northwestern portion of the country. California was on the edge of the disturbance and Eureka and Tamalpais both reported some moisture. It is believed that the storm will cause cloudy conditions today and with the coming of tomorrow there will be clear skies and sunshine. Southern California had its second clear day today with a consequent receding of the waters and overflowing rivers.

Flood conditions continued today throughout Arizona, where rain has been falling all week, delaying traffic, damaging property, and, according to reports, causing the loss of five or six lives. Flood waters of the rivers and streams were reported to be somewhat lower today. Clearing weather throughout the state was believed to presage the end of the storm.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—Practically all of the local railroad lines in Southern California, with the exception of the Santa Fe line between Los Angeles and San Diego, which have been tied up several days as a result of the disastrous rainstorm and floods in this vicinity, are in operation. Only one line, the Salt Lake route, was open through to the East. Both the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads were moving eastward to Arizona points, but they were blocked from further progress in that direction owing to floods and washouts there.

Interurban service on several of the various lines of the Pacific Electric Railway in Southern California have not been resumed owing to the washouts of a number of bridges.

Clear weather aided the work of repairing the damage done by the storm and the rivers again are within their banks.

ACCOUNTS SHORT, MANAGER IS ILL

Man and Woman Both Have Their Books Under Scrutiny.

Following the discovery of a shortage of $4000 in the accounts of Mrs. Ella McGreer, for years a trusted cashier in the Berkeley office of the People's Water Company, the company officials today are working on another puzzling case, in the alleged shortage of $500, discovered in the accounts of Ray O'Brien, also an old employe of the Berkeley office.

As the result of the strain of handling the two shortage cases, together with the work attendant on settling the estate of the late Daniel McLaughlin, the Richmond realty dealer who committed suicide, C. D. Maloney, manager of the office and executor of the McLaughlin estate, has left the office to recuperate at the Livermore sanitarium, where he is being treated for nervous prostration.

O'Brien, it was said today, went to San Diego when the shortage in Mrs. McGreer's account was made public, and relatives are making up the missing sum.

It was not learned, say officials of the water company, that O'Brien's books were out of order until he had gone away. It is probable, they say, that no action will be taken against him.

O'Brien was a close friend of Maloney's for years, and news of his predicament prostrated the manager, according to the water company officials. No action has been decided on yet in the McGreer case, it is said.

Fordites Finally Get Out of The Hague

THE HAGUE, Jan. 21.—After being detained for nearly a week by the German military authorities, who had refused permission to cross Germany, thirty-three Scandinavian members of the Ford peace expedition reached their homes today, it is reported here.

The American delegates and alternates of the neutral conference were informed today that they would be permitted to pass through German territory in a sealed car on their way to Stockholm. They will leave here at noon today.

Rito Bargas Hanged for Killing Two Men

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 21.—Rito Bargas was hanged at Folsom prison today for the murder of Frank Amador and Damlar Chavez in Kern county. He shot them from ambush as they were passing in a wagon with Damlar Chavez's mother, with whom Bargas was infatuated. Death was pronounced today thirteen minutes and fifteen seconds after the trap was sprung.

COMMERCIAL BODIES FORM NEW MERGER

Consolidation of the Wholesalers' Manufacturers' and Jobbers' association, one of the most powerful business organizations in the bay region, with the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, which has been the subject of quiet negotiations for three months, has been virtually effected, and will be completed within the next two weeks.

This was confirmed this morning by officers of the association. The consolidation brings into the chamber a new department, not only wealthy but influential, and backed by some of the most important business interests in California.

Under the consolidation plan, the association will merge with the manufacturers' committee, under the name of the Manufacturers' and Jobbers' association, and will be a distinct bureau of the chamber. The association has been headed by A. S. Day, and among the prominent men connected with the organization are Edson F. Adams, G. W. Hatch, manager of large companies, many prominent commission merchants, and important factory and wholesale firms of the bay cities.

The consolidation is the result of negotiations of several months between Managing Director Joseph E. Caine of the Chamber of Commerce and the association officers, of even many high officials of the chamber knew of the plans. Caine this morning admitted that negotiations had been in progress, but declined to give particulars. From the association members, however, came confirmation of the plan. A meeting, it was said, has been called for next Thursday night in the Commercial Club grill, when the manufacturers' committee will amend their by-laws to permit the consolidation.

Frederic Boegle Now Secretary of Bureau

Frederic Boegle, Jr., formerly secretary of the manufacturers' committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, today resumed that office, having been named to that position by the executive committee of that organization and by Managing Director Joseph E. Caine. In the old Chamber of Commerce the manufacturers' committee was developed, under Boegle's secretaryship, to one of the largest bodies of its kind in the United States.

Chairman John Phillips declares that a campaign will immediately be started to make 1916 a year of signal achievement in the manufacturers' committee, and plans for a membership campaign and other activities are under way.

"Follow Up" Campaign Begnu by Chamber

Oakland's big Chamber of Commerce membership campaign is to have an aftermath in the "cleanup campaign" to start next week, when the various prospects and promised memberships collected during the big campaign of a few weeks ago will be "followed up." This campaign will last for two weeks.

Roy Smith, who directed the big campaign, arrived today from the south and will assume personal charge of the work.

Unknown Man Dies of Privation in Storm

Cold and exposure caused the death of an unidentified man, apparently about 30 years of age, whose body was found at the side of the Southern Pacific railroad tracks near Decoto this morning. The remains are at the branch morgue in Centerville, held for identification.

The victim of cold and rain was penniless. In his overcoat pocket was found half a loaf of bread and a handful of ground chocolate, his sole supply of food. He was identified this morning as having been seen to enter a Decoto store last evening and purchase a loaf of bread.

An autopsy performed by Dr. Hanley of Decoto showed that death was due to congestion of the lungs, induced by a cold contracted while walking in the storms of the recent days. The dead man was well dressed, in dark clothes and a dark gray overcoat. In his pockets were found photographs of himself in the uniform of a United States sailor. He weighed about 150 pounds and was light in complexion.

Murder Trial Is in Its Third Week

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 21.—Today saw the end of the second week of the trial of Mrs. Elizabeth Mohr and two negroes, Cecil Brown and Henry Spellman, for the murder of Dr. C. Franklin Mohr.

J. J. Fitzgerald, counsel for Mrs. Mohr, concluded today his examination of George W. Heglis, Dr. Mohr's negro chauffeur.

Heglis, who turned state's evidence after being indicted with the others, testified that Mrs. Mohr told him she would not allow her son Charles to go to his father's home in Newport while the physician had Miss Emily Burger there. Miss Burger was the doctor's secretary and was with him in an automobile the night he was shot and killed on a public highway.

John Edwards, counsel for Spellman, then began cross-examination of the witness.

Mrs. Dupont Joyce to Forsake "Movies" Now

Forsaking the "movies" to return to the legitimate stage, Mrs. Dupont Joyce, of London, who was brought from England a year ago as a film star, is returning east to enter the legitimate field again. Mrs. Joyce, who is one of London's most famed tragediennes, arrived at the Hotel Oakland from the south this morning and tonight will board a train out.

"I like the picture work, although it was always strange to me," she declared, "but I would rather act before an audience, whose applause tells one when the acting is right. No one applauds in the movies—and you cannot act at your best."

Mrs. Joyce plans to return to London after her eastern engagement.

Escaped Convicts Get Munitions by Robbery

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 21.—Convicts who escaped from the state penal farm at Cummins, sixty-five miles from here, Wednesday night, last night robbed the depot at Moscow, Ark., fifteen miles from Cummins, and obtained arms and ammunition shipped to a hardware store at that place.

Twenty-three convicts escaped. Only four have been captured.

The treasurer's report is accompanied with a general report of the committee. The two reports follow:

"The committee in charge of the Alameda county branch of the relief work in Belgium wish to express to the public their appreciation for the generous donations received at their headquarters in the Pulztel building, Oakland.

Allendale Mothers Not Anxious to "Play"

That he did not represent the Allendale Mothers' Club in asking that whist playing be permitted in the Allendale school, but referred to the organization as an example of organizations desiring to hold whist parties who would profit could such a permit be granted, C. R. Tinsley, of the Allendale Central Improvement Club, who appeared with the request at the last meeting of the Board of Education, states that it was at the instance of his club only that he spoke.

"I mentioned as one of several illustrations," he declares, "that the Mothers' Clubs, even in raising money for school purposes, were compelled to hire outside halls if card playing were to be indulged in."

Tinsley requested that permission be granted to hold whist tournaments in the school. The request was unanimously denied on the ground that such action would be indirectly to countenance a possible form of gambling.

Freight Banquet Is Delayed by Illness

Announcement was made today that the annual banquet of the San Francisco Bay Terminal Freight Agents' Association, which was to have been held tomorrow evening, had been postponed a week because of the illness of W. J. Hardy, president of the organization. The banquet will be held at the Key Route Inn on Saturday evening of next week.

The affair is in charge of the local terminal freight agents, including R. A. Podlech of the Santa Fe, George Sheldon of the Key Route; W. Merriman of the Southern Pacific, and L. Davis of the Western Pacific lines.

All railroad agents of the cities of San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and Richmond are members of this association.

QUICKLY STOPS HEAD COLDS AND SNUFFLES

Catarrhal Germs Cause of Most Colds. New Germicidal Air Treatment Best Remedy for These Common Ailments.

Reliable authorities say that upward of 90 per cent of the so-called colds in the head and throat are in reality dangerous indications of the presence of acute catarrh. When you hear a person sneeze or cough it's almost certain they are throwing catarrh germs into the air for some other person to breathe and it's just as certain that the person breathing these germs will soon have catarrh or a catarrhal cold. The time to make these germs harmless and drive out your catarrhal cold is the very instant you feel a desire to sneeze or cough, or start to snuffle and wipe your nose every few minutes.

The quickest and surest way to stop a head cold and drive catarrh germs out of your system is to pour a few drops of the oil of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei) into one of the Hyomei inhaling devices which comes with each large package and pierce the inhaler between your lips and breathe the germicidal but pleasant smelling air into your nose, throat and lungs. This air utterly destroys all catarrh germ life, quickly opens the closed air passages, makes breathing easy, clears your stuffed-up head, cleans out your throat and ends your snuffling and nose blowing. There certainly is no quicker or more satisfactory way of breaking up a cold, even after it is well started, and a few weeks' use will do away with all danger of chronic catarrh. Sold by druggists everywhere, including The Owl Drug Co., which agrees to return the full purchase price to any who use it and are not satisfied. In buying Hyomei for the first time be very sure to get the large size, which contains the inhaler, as this is very essential for best results.—Advertisement.

SMOKER TONIGHT TO BE WELCOME

Chamber of Commerce Arranges Affair for New Members.

Preparations were completed today for the "get acquainted" smoker to be given tonight in the Commercial Club's rooms in the Hotel Oakland, when the new members of the Chamber of Commerce will be entertained by the organization.

The entertainment is promised to furnish several surprises and deep secrecy surrounds the work of the house committee in arranging the "stunts" for the occasion. The principal part of the talent for the jinks is chosen from the ranks of the 2500 members of the organization.

The entertainment is the first held since the November membership campaign, and 600 new members who have been added to the rolls, have been specially invited to attend the celebration.

The affair will be informal. Older members will serve as reception committees.

Deserted by Wife, Divorce Is Granted

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—Vahan Cardashain, purchasing commissioner to the Panama-Pacific Exposition, was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Cabaniss today from Mrs. Cornelia Cardashain, now in the east. Desertion was the only allegation, the commissioner testifying that when his government had appointed him to represent it at the Exposition Mrs. Cardashain had refused to accompany him. This was the second time she had declined to take up her residence with him, he said, having insisted on living in New Jersey when he first came to this country and was living in New York. The couple were married in Constantinople in May, 1907.

Censor Blunders And Hits Press

Editions Seized, With No Notice

PARIS, Jan. 21.—The seizure yesterday throughout France of all copies of the Petit Parisien and the Journal, by order of the censor's bureau, has raised a storm of protest in the entire press.

The Parisien belongs to Senator Jean Dupuy and the Journal to Senator Charles Humbert. They have circulations of more than a million copies each and both are regarded as influential publications which always complied with the request of the censorship.

The reason for the seizure, the Journal says, was the publication of the note given out yesterday by the consul of Montenegro in Paris.

Its publication at first was authorized, but later was ordered stopped. In the meantime the editions for the provinces had been printed and sent out and the censorship, without notifying the editors or publishers, telegraphed to every town in France ordering the police to seize all copies of the two newspapers containing the note. A few hours later authority again was given for the publication of a note with a few slight alterations, but the police already had executed their orders, which have occasioned the present outburst of criticism.

The note issued by the Montenegrin consul in Paris was sent out by the Associated Press correspondence January 8. It constitutes an appeal for the King of Montenegro and his government in agreeing to surrender to Austria-Hungary, the consul basing his acceptance of the note in this connection on the press reports.

Following soon on the publication of the consul's note came the official announcement that the report of Montenegro's surrender had been premature.

YUAN SHI KAI TO POSTPONE CORONATION

PEKING, Jan. 21.—The coronation of Yuan Shi Kai as emperor of China has been postponed indefinitely. The reason given officially is the uprising in southern China.

The foreign office notified the various legations today that the Chinese government had decided that the enthronement would take place early in February, but that Yuan Shi Kai had issued an order cancelling the arrangements in view of the disturbances in Yunnan province. No intimation was given as to when the enthronement will take place.

Government officials estimate that not more than six months will be required to quiet the disturbances in the south.

ALLIES BRING PRESSURE AGAINST MONARCHY

TOKIO, Jan. 21.—A conference between the emperor, the elder statesmen and the members of the cabinet has created the impression that the entente allies, under the leadership of Japan, are discussing the possibility of a new step to secure postponement of the formation of a monarchy in China until the end of the European war.

BUFFALO MAN HAD FINE EXPERIENCE

Well-Known Washington St. Man Relates His Experience With Plant Juice.

Few new remedies of the times have created such a profound interest, especially in the larger cities, as has the new herbal stomach remedy Plant Juice. People in all walks of life have been attracted to it—the statesman, professional man, financier, mechanic, brakeman, society woman, waitress. They all have tested it and permitted the use of their names in telling about it. It is a rare combination and its effect on the human organism is gratifying, as is attested by the thousands of signed testimonials from people in all parts of the United States.

Recently the testimonial of Mr. George J. Fleiner, who lives at No. 953 Washington Street, Buffalo, N. Y., was received in which he stated:

"I had stomach trouble and indigestion for some time. My food would ferment in my stomach, causing gas to form and I was always more or less bloated. My system contained a great quantity of uric acid which caused rheumatic pains. I had doctored for some time but nothing seemed to help me. I read in the daily papers about Plant Juice and decided I would try a bottle. I can now truthfully say for publication that Plant Juice has cured me, as I have no trouble at all now in digesting my food and my appetite is very good. The uric acid has left my system and my general health is fine. I am very grateful for my recovery to health and I am recommending Plant Juice to all of my friends."

Plant Juice is sold in all Owl Drug Stores.—Advertisement.

Military Service Passes With Cheers

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The military service bill passed through the committee of the House of Commons at 11 o'clock last night amid loud cheers.

Walter Hume Long, president of the local government board, in a speech closing the discussion, said he desired to remove the impression that under this bill the government was creating a great monster in the form of a military machine which would grab all coming within its scope.

ITCHING ECZEMA ON BOY'S NECK

In Small Water Blisters. Itching Became Burning Torturing Pain. Skin Cracking Open.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"Eczema first appeared in small water blisters forming a crust on my boy's neck and around his left ear. The surrounding surface of the skin would be reddish, feverish looking splotches and the itching was very evident. After a time the itching gave way to a burning, torturing pain and the skin was red, dry and hard, cracking open and causing frightful sore eruptions.

"He was treated but without any results and the rash spread to all parts of his body. Then we used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After a time good results were evident and after treating for about six months with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment he was healed." (Signed) Andrew B. Dickinson, Corinne, Utah, Oct. 25, 1915.

Keep your face young by the daily use of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment.

L. Donohue of Willows, Glenn county, and W. A. Green of Willows, waited on Governor Johnson yesterday to interest him in a plan to make the Orland federal irrigation project the first for an organized land settlement project under federal control.

The plan in detail will be laid before Secretary Franklin K. Lane of the Department of the Interior for inauguration. Governor Johnson has declared he is in favor of the plan and will do whatever lies in his power to bring about the undertaking.

Under the plan the government would assist settlers to develop the land, giving them long-term loans and low rates of interest to make it possible for the man of moderate means to get a start toward tilling the soil. The government would engage expert irrigation men, farm advisers, soil experts and farmers to teach the new settlers how to get their lands into bearing.

Steamers to Leave This Port for Alaska

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—This port is to return to its former supremacy as the port from which the steamers for Nome and other Alaska ports direct leave during the open season, according to advices received from Seattle last night.

Plans now under consideration by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company indicate that San Francisco will not only get the first steamer service each year to Nome and St. Michael, but regular sailings all summer to the Far North.

Washington's stringent prohibition law is said to be responsible for the premeditated change which will mean vast business for local shippers and the port, and a return to the profitable times when San Francisco was the source of Alaska's supplies and workers.

Sufferer from Indigestion Relieved.

"Before taking Chamberlain's Tablets my husband suffered for several years from indigestion, causing him to have pains in the stomach and distress after eating. Chamberlain's Tablets relieved him of these spells right away," writes Mrs. Thomas Casey, Geneva, N. Y. For sale by Osgood Bros. Drug Stores.—Advertisement.

Indigestion May Be Due to Constipation

Neglect of Important Function May Seriously Impair the Health.

There are many people who believe they suffer from indigestion when their discomfort really is due to a constipated condition.

Bloat, with its attendant mental depression, sick headeache, the belching of sour stomach gases, etc., are frequently due to inaction of the bowels. Relieve the congestion and the trouble usually disappears. The use of cathartics and purgatives should be avoided, however; these shock the system unnecessarily and, at best, their effect is but temporary. A mild laxative is far preferable.

The compound of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle, is highly recommended. Mr. Benj. Bassin, 360 Madison St., Gary, Ind., thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin a wonderful medicine; for four years he had a severe case of indigestion and constipation before trying Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which he is glad to recommend to all who suffer with stomach and bowel trouble.

BENJ. BASSIN.

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be in every home for use when occasion arises. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

On their return the couple will make their home in Hayward. Rogers is a son of the proprietor of San Lorenzo Grove.

Nervous Periodical Headaches

This trouble commonly called "sick headache," is said to be due to the retention of urea in the system. Often it is stated that a poor condition of the blood is a cause of these headaches, or that it is a nervous condition; and in certain cases, no doubt this is true.

Where treatment is demanded, it is more for the pain than anything else, and Dr. A. F. Schellschmidt of Louisville, has found anti-kamnia tablets to give prompt and satisfactory relief. "Rest should be insisted upon," he says, "and the patient should go to bed, darken the room, and all the attendants and family should be as quiet as possible. An emetic will sometimes shorten the attack. The bowels should be kept open with "Actoids"; a hot bath and a thorough rub-down with a coarse towel, often give grateful relief. Two anti-kamnia tablets when the first signs appear, will usually prevent the attack. During an attack, one tablet every hour or two will shorten the attack and relieve the usual nausea and vomiting." These tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for nervous headaches, neuralgia and all pains.

Preacher to Explain Meaning of Bible

"The Bible for the Average Man" will be the subject of Rev. Roy H. Campbell, pastor of Calvary Congregational church, at his Sunday morning sermon. He has chosen this as his subject that he may answer many questions which have arisen about the Bible and its teachings following the discussion which was occasioned by the announcement of Dr. F. W. Bade's book, in which he stated the stories of the Old Testament to be but poetic tales.

"I have had so many people during the last week ask me to give my opinion of Dr. Bade's book as it was set forth in last Sunday morning's TRIBUNE and my attitude toward the comments given in Monday's night's TRIBUNE, that I think it is worthy of a public presentation," Rev. Campbell said today. "I believe many good people are troubled, and I shall try as well as I may with a grateful acceptance of what I think is best in the modern attitude to lay down some principles to help the average man."

Mayor Davie to Tell Why He Wants County

"City and County Consolidation" is the topic of discussion for tonight's meeting of the Progress and Prosperity Committee, to be held at Golden West hall, Pacific building. Mayor John L. Davie will be the speaker. This is the second meeting of the organization to be devoted to this subject. The mayors of other east bay cities, and other students of consolidation, will speak at future sessions.

Mayor Davie holds that consolidation of city and county offices should apply only to Oakland. Others would include all of the east bay cities or the entire county. It is the intention of the Progress and Prosperity Committee to hear all the plans discussed and then to formulate an eclectic plan and ask the people of the community to adopt it.

Owing to the limited capacity of the hall, admittance will be by cards, which may be obtained from members of the organization.

PUBLIC ATTENTIVE TO TAPSCOTT PLAN

Constant Increase of Interest Reported by Its Director.

A constantly increasing interest on the part of the public is marking the continuation of E. N. Tapscott's educational advertising campaign to show the exact use of Tapscott Money-Saving Coupons in securing cash refunds for the purchase of property. The sales forces of the realty dealer are kept busy answering questions as to how the co-operative buying plan works out. In speaking of this interest Tapscott said:

"We still manage to squeeze in a few property sales between times, but if the public continues to ask questions the way it has for the past few days we will have to hire a few lecturers and a few halls in order to meet the demand for information. Otherwise our information bureau will crowd out the salesmen.

"When I completed my plans for launching these coupons I thought that I had something that was better than the best real estate proposition ever introduced, but I never expected such a ready response. I had heard so much about hard times that I thought that even if you gave real estate away that there would be a little difficulty in finding people to accept it.

MARKET FOR GOOD THINGS.

"But the past week has demonstrated that if your proposition has merit there is a market for it, and mine must certainly has. And speaking of giving real estate away we come as near doing it as anybody can. Under my plan anyone can own a fully improved and restricted lot without it costing them a cent more than $20. That comes pretty near to giving it away."

Tapscott's co-operative buying plan depends on the use of his coupons, which are given to a purchaser of real estate to the full amount of his monthly payment on a lot. Under the Tapscott plan property in Oakland, Berkeley and Richmond is sold for an initial payment of $25 and $5 per month, the lots ranging in value from $350 to $750. At the time of the first payment $5 worth of coupons are given. For each subsequent payment the full amount of the payment is given in coupons.

These coupons are accepted by over 2850 merchants in San Francisco and Alameda county for a cash refund of 5 or 10 per cent on every article needed for personal or household use. Holders of Tapscott coupons receive, in cash, from 5 to 10 per cent of the full amount they spend in the stores of these merchants. With the use of $5 worth of these coupons the person using them has saved exactly $5, the amount of the monthly payment on a lot.

VALUES CORRELATED.

Those who wish to pay more than $5 a month can do so and will receive the full amount of coupons according to what they pay. As these coupons are without any time limit and all the merchants in this co-operative plan have signed contracts with Tapscott for 10 years, a Tapscott customer will have plenty of time in which to save what he pays on a lot, even if he receives more coupons in a single month than he can use.

In several cases two or more people have clubbed together to buy a lot under this plan, where their monthly bill are so small that the cash refunds will not amount to the full $5 payment.

Ogden Marriages Free If Bride Proposes

OGDEN, Jan. 21.—"Provided the bride makes affidavit that she proposed to the bridegroom, I will marry couples free of charge during 1916, which is leap year."

The foregoing is the first official announcement made by George S. Barker, municipal judge of Ogden. He said it was his intention to encourage leap year proposals to the extent of his power, and he thought he could do no better than to marry without charge those couples who are venturing on the sea of matrimony through the activity of the women.

Municipal Judge Barker further announces that he may be found at his office in the city hall every afternoon and will even recess court to unite leap year couples.

FAMOUS VOLCANO AGAIN ERUPTS

Fresh Disturbances Reported in New Hebrides Group.

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 21.—Delayed reports have brought news of a fresh volcano outbreak on the island of Ambrim, in the New Hebrides group, a spot which experienced a most destructive volcano eruption in December, 1913.

The Rev. A. T. Waters, a missionary stationed on the island of Cos, about 60 miles from Ambrim, writes that on the first few days of October last smoke and volcanic ash clouded the sky so thickly that the sun gave only a weird light like the moon, and it eventually became so dark that the people on Cos had to light lamps. Everything became gritty with ashes indoors, and out-of-doors they were so thick that the sea could not be seen from the mission house, which ordinarily affended a fine view of the water.

There was for a time some panic among the natives of Cos, who thought one of the mountains on their own island was in eruption, but the source of the trouble was later traced to Ambrim, and it appeared as though the entire island was burning. The missionary's letter did not say that anyone ventured to visit Ambrim during the eruption, and the extent of the damage or loss of life, if any, is unknown.

The previous eruption at Ambrim, in December, 1913, was reported to have cost the lives of 500 natives, and to have completely altered the face and coast line of the island. According to the natives of Cos the recent trouble appeared to have been still worse than the previous eruption.

Little is known as to the interior of Ambrim, which has been visited but rarely by white men. No census has ever been taken, but among the coast settlements there are a number of mission stations, mainly Roman Catholic and Presbyterian, whose members had a narrow escape in the previous eruption.

The New Hebrides Islands have been controlled since 1906 by a joint commission of British and French officials under the supervision of two resident commissioners, one appointed by each nation.

Ninety-six Members Join Church in Year

According to the report for 1915, made at the annual meeting of the Plymouth Congregational Church yesterday, there were ninety-six new members joining the church during the year. Of this number thirty-three were on confession of faith and the balance by letter from other churches. The loss for the year was seven by death and thirty by letters to other churches. The net gain in membership for the year was fifty-nine, making the total membership at present 778.

Rev. Albert W. Palmer, pastor of the church, reported that he had officiated at fifty-seven weddings and fifty-nine funerals, and had delivered fifty-nine addresses outside of his regular church work.

The Plymouth Athletic Club won championships in both track and basketball in the Oakland Church Athletic League. The Woman's Club, without bazaar or sale of any kind, raised $500 for the building fund and $334 for missions. It now has a membership of 235.

Ding! Ding! Fire Bell Saves Life of Piggie

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 21.—Ed Welch and Arthur Spotswood, pipemen at station No. 11, still enjoy a semblance of a reputation as foot racers. They enjoy it yet because they have a good alibi for not catching the pig.

To start at the beginning so the pig can be identified, be it said that the pig was a prize pig. He was won in some sort of a contest and was healthy enough to break out of his pen near the owner's home.

The owner was a woman and she called up the fire station and sent an alarm of pigs astray.

Welch and Spotswood had outdone the speedy track athletes of the St. Paul fire department and were detailed to catch the pig.

The pig gave them an awful chase. It turned into a hurdle race because the pig turned under several fences. The firemen had just got the porcine fugitive in a corner and were closing in for the capture when they heard a fire gong. They had to let the pig go and answer the fire alarm from the De La Salle Institute. The pig is still at large.

Vessel in Distress 7 Miles From Cape

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 21.—The steamer Siamese Prince is standing by the Pollentia, which is in distress seven miles from Cape Race, according to a wireless message received last night by the marine department. The Pollentia will have to be abandoned, the message said, and the Siamese Prince will take off her crew in the morning.

Street Accepted, So Assessment Fails

SAN JOSE, Jan. 21.—Twenty-nine persons owning property on North Thirteenth street will not have to bear the cost of paving that thoroughfare, according to a decision handed down yesterday by Superior Judge J. R. Welch. The work was done by the Ransome-Crummey Company, and it will be at a loss. The court held that the street was accepted by the city as a fully improved street and could not be improved further at the expense of property owners holding adjoining land.

Indoor Life Makes Fat

TAKE OIL OF KOREIN TO KEEP WEIGHT DOWN, OR TO REDUCE SUPERFLUOUS FAT.

People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precaution to guard against over-stoutness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. Lack of exercise in the fresh air weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of unsightly and unhealthy fat is the result.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above normal weight you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any person who is satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout should go to a good druggist and get a box of oil of korein capsules, and take one after each meal and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days' treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight, digestion should improve, energy return, footsteps become lighter, and the skin less flabby in appearance.

Oil of korein is inexpensive, cannot injure, helps the digestion and is designed to increase the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. Any person who wants to reduce their weight 15 or 20 pounds should give this treatment a trial. There is nothing better. Drug Dept. at Kahn's, Broadway, San Pablo and Sixteenth street, can supply you.—Advertisement.

Waiter Treated Kindly, Steals Two Overcoats

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—Not content with obtaining free passage from Seattle to San Francisco, and after being treated kindly by many on board, Carter Anderson, a waiter, and a stowaway on the steamer Queen, is accused of stealing two overcoats from the staterooms of passengers. Soon after the vessel left Seattle Anderson was found concealed in the cargo. Captain Tarpey gave him a berth and his meals en route.

Yesterday Robert Smythe of Alberta, Canada, discovered that his overcoat had been stolen from his stateroom. A search was made and it was found in Anderson's berth. He confessed the theft and admitted he had taken another overcoat also. When the vessel docked this morning Anderson was charged with burglary at the Harbor police station.

Benefit Planned for Serbian Relief

Plans are being perfected for the benefit for Serbian refugees to be held in Golden Gate Commandery Hall, San Francisco, next Thursday evening, when the Serbian colonies on both sides of the bay gather for the affair. The celebration is partly in honor of San Sava Day, a Serbian holiday. The Serbian Relief Fund Committee is directing the affair.

Buck Deer Battles With Its Keeper

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Jan. 21.—Felix Lagard, 70 years old, one of the animal tenders at the Zoo in Irvine Park, was seriously injured by a big buck deer which attacked the keeper when he entered the deer inclosure.

Mr. Lagard battled for nearly an hour before help came. The rescuers, Ell Nelson and Anslino Paquette, had no weapons and they grappled with the enraged animal. After a twenty-minute battle five men succeeded in throwing the deer and tying its feet to its horns. In trying to free itself the animal broke its neck and died. Lagard was taken to the hospital two years ago.

Proves Hard Nut for Busy Squirrel

MILAN, Tenn., Jan. 21.—Jim Jackson, mail carrier out of here, has a pocketknife that was found a few days ago by Jake Roberts in a squirrel hole in a big tree three miles south of Luvonia on the Forked Deer river. Near the tree was a birch tree with the name of Leroy McAlexander, 1843, cut into the bark.

The horn of the knife has been almost completely eaten off by the squirrels. It is thought that McAlexander dropped the knife by the birch tree and the squirrels carried it to their nest for food, seventy-two years ago.

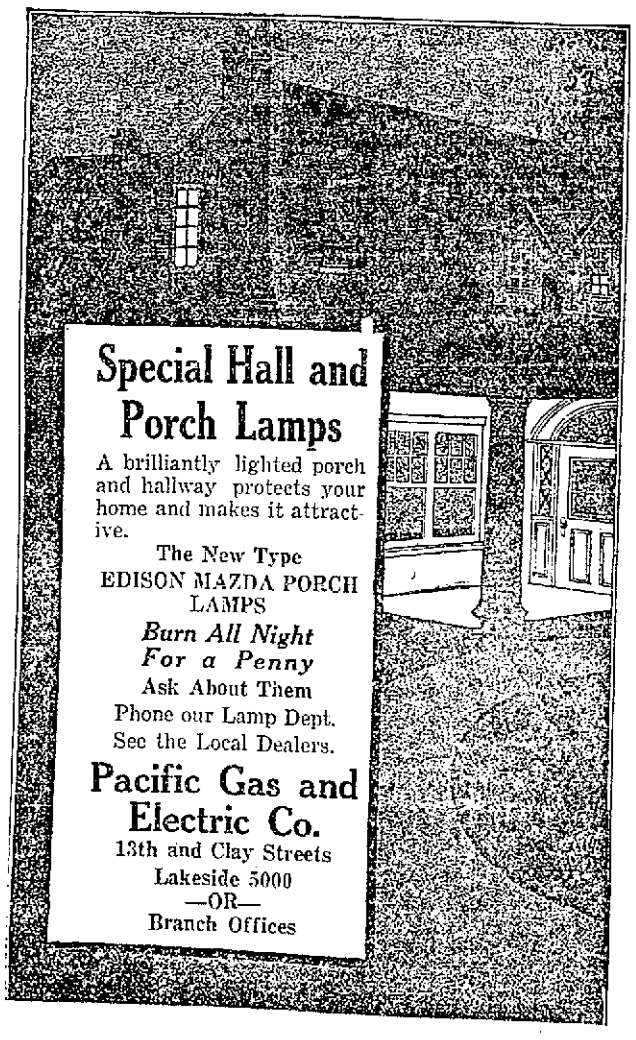

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Murdered Man Cast Into River by Slayer

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 21.—The body of John Lynch, an Australian, 30 years old, employed at a farm near the city, was found in the Jordan river today. Investigation showed that he had been murdered with a hammer in his room on the farm and the body carried a considerable distance to the river. No motive for the murder is known.

ADVERTISING MADE FORTUNE IN TRADE

Multi-Millionaire Manufacturer Praises Columns of the Daily Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—The story of how newspaper advertising and a trade mark built up a fortune of $4,000,000 from an investment of $12,000 in 25 years was related yesterday by General J. S. Carr of Durham, N. C., when he arrived from Honolulu on the liner Great Northern.

Carr was the first manufacturer of Bull Durham tobacco. He told how he had spent $100,000 in lawsuits to protect his trade mark, but he added advertising had done the most to make the success of the brand. Carr said:

"When I signed my first advertising contract for $250,000, I didn't sleep for a week. I thought I was ruined. But the results justified the expenditure, and soon I was spending $500,000 a year for advertising. The biggest part of it went to the newspapers, for I had learned that the newspaper ad is the best in the world. There is no line of business that it does not help.

"I was in the banking business, and I built up as much trade as my two nearest competitors combined by newspaper advertising. My four boys are the biggest hosiery manufacturers in the country, and they have relied on newspaper advertising to make their success. The first thing, of course, is to have the goods; but after that you must make your goods known."

General Carr is one of the few remaining generals who surrendered at Appomatox. He is now Lieutenant general of the Veterans of the Confederacy. He is retired from business now, having sold out his tobacco industry in 1898.

Salvationist Wins Wealthy Widow

Bridal Couple Make Home in South

On an orange grove at Redlands an Oakland Salvation Army officer and a wealthy Bakersfield woman are passing their honeymoon, after a secret marriage in San Bernardino two weeks ago. Though the engagement was known six months ago, news of the wedding failed to transpire until yesterday.

Adjutant William Reilly, the bridegroom, was for 12 years superintendent of young people's work for California for the army. The bride, Mrs. L. S. Johnson, is the widow of a Bakersfield man who had won a fortune in the oil fields, and who died several years ago, leaving one child.

According to Brigadier General Wood, head of the Oakland Salvation Army, the friendship of the couple began last spring when Mrs. Johnson came for an extended visit to this city, and met Reilly through Adjutant Heisinger, her brother-in-law.

A short time ago, when Reilly's health began to fail, he was obliged to give up his army work, and entered the automobile business. Mrs. Johnson had a car that he often drove for her. The end was, that she placed him as managing head of a large orange grove, which she purchased immediately after the wedding and where they are now living.

The newly married pair are both about forty years of age.

Scandinavian Singers Will Give Big Concert

A concert and dansant, under the auspices of the Scandinavian singers of Oakland, will take place in the Ivory ballroom at Hotel Oakland, Thursday evening, January 27th, at 8:15 o'clock.

The concert will be rendered by the amalgamated Scandinavian Singing Societies of Oakland, consisting of the sixty male voices of the Danish Society, "Brage," the Norwegian Singing Society and the Swedish Society, "Svea," assisted by Miss Laura Lundegaard, pianist; Miss Elin Kinell, soprano; Miss Alice Davies, violinist; Carl Edwin Anderson, tenor, and Conrad Anderson, baritone.

This concert marks a new departure in the Scandinavian Societies, in that it is the first one to be given by a union of the Singing Societies in Oakland, and in consequence a large attendance is assured.

Professor Pihlstrom's orchestra will also render a program of Scandinavian folk songs.

The committee upon whom a large amount of work has developed, is composed of J. H. Fiuren, president; K. F. Westerholm, secretary; P. Terkildsen, treasurer; S. Ottesen, M. Nelson and G. L. Wikstedt.

Wants His Own Grave; Sues Widow for It

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—Fearing that he is about to die, and setting forth that the body of another man occupies the grave which he bought beside that of his wife many years ago, Guiseppe Datt, an aged and paralytic resident of 680 Green street, brought suit in the Superior Court yesterday to compel Mrs. Adelaide Bianchiani, who lives in the same house, to remove the body of her husband from a plot in the Italian Cemetery, in San Mateo county, owned by Datt.

Datt says that when Mrs. Bianchiani's husband died two years ago, she asked permission to bury the body in his plot until she selected a plot of her own. He gave the permission, he says, with the understanding that Bianchiani's body would be removed within a few months. Now, according to the complaint, Mrs. Bianchiani refuses to move her husband's remains.

Datt asks the court to compel Mrs. Blanchiani to remove her husband's body in order that he may rest beside his wife when he dies. The case has been assigned to Judge Graham.

STORM DISCLOSED BY ARMY DIVORCE

Captain and His Estranged Wife Berate Each Other's Ways.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—With the filing of a counter suit for divorce in St. Louis by Captain Ben H. Dorey, U. S. A., retired, against Mrs. Linda H. Dorey, sensational incidents in the married life of the former army officer and his wife, a daughter of Ben Holladay, owner of the famous pony express of early days, are revealed.

The retaliatory suit brought by Captain Dorey, following his wife's action against him, which was filed secretly in Santa Cruz last October, has brought forth disclosures heretofore concealed, which indicate that the matrimonial career of the couple has been marked by storm and stress.

Mrs. Dorey is at her home in Santa Cruz with the couple's five children, while Dorey is in St. Louis, being employed by a military academy as an instructor.

Back of the filing of the two complaints is the story of a broken agreement entered into between Captain and Mrs. Dorey at Mexico City, Mo., November 7, 1913, in which the former, it is alleged, agreed to pay his wife $185 a month for the support of herself and the children. Mrs. Dorey says her husband has never lived up to this agreement.

MAY YET COMPROMISE.

Friends of Mrs. Dorey still hope for a compromise which will relieve her from the ordeal of a trial in a city far from her home. Mrs. Dorey, it is said, is willing to permit her husband to obtain a divorce quietly if he will agree to give her $150 a month for the maintenance of herself and children.

Charges made by Mrs. Dorey against her husband range from threats to kill to taking their children from bed at midnight and placing them in a cold bath in order to hear them cry.

Mrs. Dorey says she paid Captain Dorey's debts at the time of their marriage and virtually supported him for years. He often beat her and charged her with unfaithfulness for no cause at all, she asserts. His brutality was extreme when he was intoxicated, she says, which was frequently the case.

While acting as instructor in a military academy at Mexico City, Mo., Captain Dorey, according to his wife, forced four of their children, whose ages then were from 8 to 13 years, to walk in the snow at night. This was the rigorous punishment conceived by Captain Dorey for students of the academy who were guilty of derelictions, says Mrs. Dorey.

CALLS HER "FLIRT."

Flirting and making love with students at the military academy were among the false accusations made against her by Captain Dorey, according to the allegations of the wife.

Mrs. Dorey says her husband has an income of $325 a month, $180 of this being his salary as a retired captain in the United States Army, the balance being his salary in his present employment.

In the counter action Captain Dorey alleges that from the time they were married, in June, 1899, in this city, until November 7, 1913, he demeaned himself toward defendant with kindness and affection and discharged all of his duties as a husband."

On the other hand, Captain Dorey alleges his wife inflicted upon him "intolerable indignities." On this score the husband's cross-complaint says "that plaintiff constantly caused defendant the most poignant embarrassment by incessantly, without cause or excuse, ridiculing, upbraiding and scolding him in the presence of strangers, and manifested and expressed toward him the most extreme contempt and hatred."

Captain Dorcy further alleges in his suit that his wife left him November 7, 1913, "without a reasonable or just cause."

The five children of the couple are Ben H., 15 years of age; John B., 13 years; Duncan B., 11 years; Laurence H., 10 years, and Doris, 7 years.

KEEPS KIDNEYS ACTIVE WITH A GLASS OF SALTS

Must Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally if You Eat Meat Regularly.

Noted Authority Tells What Causes Backache and Bladder Weakness.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood; then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders, come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Advertisement.

ALASKAN DOG RACE WON BY ENDURANCE

Team Trained by Woman, Driver Takes Place in Harness.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 21.—Taking the leader's place in the harness when the big greyhound collapsed, Frank Dixon dragged his dogteam three blocks to the finish line early last night, and won the 84-mile dog sled race from Anchorage to Old Knik and return. Dixon's time was 8 hours and 14 minutes. Walter Howard, the favorite, was a close second, Albion Gustaffson third and William Greer a poor fourth.

The race was run in the face of a howling northwest gale with the temperature ten degrees below zero. Dixon's face was frozen, but otherwise he was in good condition at the end, although two of his dogs had to be carried and the other three were unable to drag the sled.

Dixon placed confidence in his big greyhound leader and in spite of his own tremendous efforts at the finish gave credit to the big leader for his victory, which was won by a margin of only four minutes.

Starting last, the big dog fairly dragged its team mates past every other contestant in the first fifteen miles of the race, and then settled down for a test of endurance.

At Old Knik, Dixon gave his five dogs 20 minutes' rest, while Howard stopped only two and a half minutes. Dixon and Howard started on the return trip only 5 minutes apart. Eight miles from the finish Howard led by four minutes.

Nearing the end of the race Dixon encouraged his big greyhound to greater effort for the final dash and the big dog dragged the rest of the team past Howard and increased the lead minute-by-minute.

Three blocks from the finish the big dog collapsed. Dixon unharnessed his faithful leader, placed him on the sled with another trail-worn dog which could not get up after lying down, fastened the leader's harness to himself and dragged dogs and sled across the line. The three dogs remaining in harness were scarcely able to keep their feet at the end.

Howard finished with all 7 of his dogs in harness, but they were unable to travel faster than a walk at the end.

Gustaffson came in nearly half an hour behind Dixon, riding on his sled. All Gustaffson's dogs were in good condition.

The dogs driven by Dixon were trained by his wife, who has been exercising them over the trail for several weeks.

Indict Brothers for Plot to Kill Parents

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Irving and Herbert Updike are said by State's Attorney Hoyne to have told him, in separate interviews, that each was watching the other and pretending to fall in with a plan to murder their parents. Both said, according to Hoyne, that they had no idea of consummating the plot.

Indictments charging them with conspiring to murder their father, Furman D. Updike, wealthy retired grain and lumber man, their mother and their sister, Florence, were returned yesterday. They were placed in the county jail in default of bonds of $20,000 each. The elder Updike remained unchanged in his assertion that the law must take its course while Herbert said that he and his brother were content to remain in jail until their father's attitude changed.

Has Faith in Remedy

Mrs. H. S. Carlson of Wakefield, Nebr., testifies to the relief she experienced from the use of Fruitola and Traxo:

"I used Fruitola and Traxo with very good results, having passed almost a cupful of gall-stones with the first bottle. My skin is clear now, and I have a good appetite. I have lots of faith in Fruitola and Traxo."

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs, softening the hardened particles that cause so much suffering and expelling the congested waste in an easy, natural manner. A single dose is usually sufficient to clearly indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a splendid tonic—alterative that acts on the liver and kidneys, stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion and removes bile from the general circulation.

For the convenience of the public, arrangements have been made to supply Fruitola and Traxo through representative druggists. In Oakland they can be obtained at The Owl Drug Co. stores.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 21, 1916.

IF VILLA IS TAKEN.

By all the rules of the revolutionary game in Mexico Francisco Villa, reported captured by Carranzista forces yesterday, will soon be dead. Thereupon will end one of the most spectacular careers the world has ever known. For three years the name of Villa has been continually on the tongues of Americans and Mexicans. Probably the name of the German Emperor has been mentioned oftener, but it is a very close race. Villa has become an international character and his name a synonym for the spirit of revolution, pillage and murder.

By many measurements he is a remarkable man. Like the good thief on the cross, he is a "good" bandit. He came by his outlawry naturally. At the age of 18 he became a fugitive from justice and took up the profession of highway robbery in the mountain precincts of his state. He has kept continually at the business for over twenty years. During the disorder that followed the Diaz regime it developed that he had collected around him a sufficient number of fellow highwaymen to become a menace to the peace of the northern states. He became a national figure at the downfall of the Madero government.

The evolution of public attitude toward this professional bandit is remarkable. At first he was referred to only by the title of "bandit"; later he became known as a revolutionary leader; as "Poncho" Villa; General Villa; sometimes Constitutionalist chief; later the acknowledged friend of the President of the United States from whom he received openly bountiful aid in the way of ammunition to secure arms, ammunition and funds to wage his campaign against other bandits.

Ultimately fickle Washington fortune deserted him for the camp of his enemies and he became a hunted fugitive, his forces broken by desertions and dissension. The energy displayed by Carranzista lieutenants in running him down was directly caused by the fury aroused in the United States over the massacre of seventeen American citizens in Chihuahua by Villa followers. He will die. His execution will be made a grand public spectacle. We can imagine only one consolation which can come to Villa as he stands with his back to the wall, facing the firing squad. He may reason something like this: "They kill me at last; but with American arms, ammunition and moral support I have murdered hundreds of Spaniards, Englishmen, Germans, aye! and Americans." That will be a consoling, elevating thought—to Villa.

So the criminal passes. For a brief period he commanded international attention and gathered to his support many good, worthy citizens of Mexico who had no better leader to follow. He leaves Mexico in devastation and sorrow. The country will recover bye-and-bye and then will forget Villa. He has given it nothing the memory of which will cause pleasure or arouse a feeling of pride. Such is the fate of criminals and Villa was an arch-criminal. He came by it naturally, by birth, environment and education. He did not possess the capacity to be else.

But the people of the United States cannot forget Villa so easily as may the Mexicans. It shall be written in history that this great and enlightened government conducted official transactions with him, supported his cause and helped him to enjoy a few weeks' debauchery in the captured capital of his country. It is an episode never before equaled in the serious affairs of nations.

AMALGAMATION OF PARTIES.

The conciliatory spirit which characterized the overtures pronounced at the recent meeting in Chicago of the Progressive national committee for the amalgamation of the Progressives with the Republican party is cause for congratulation on the part of all those who believe a change should be inaugurated in the administration of the national government next year. No less satisfactory is the manner in which the Progressive overtures have been taken by all the leading Republicans in the country, particularly in the Eastern states. There is no longer any doubt that the presidential contest will be waged between the Republican and Democratic parties.

Progressive leader Flinn of Pennsylvania announced a few days ago that so far as the contest in his state for the United States Senatorship is concerned the Progressives would put forth no candidates and that he would lend his support to Former Senator Knox. Former Congressman Landis of Indiana, who seconded the nomination of Governor Johnson at the Chicago convention in 1912, and one of the ablest of the Progressive leaders, has also announced within the past week that he would reaffiliate with the Republicans. The Progressive members of Congress think the time has come to unite with the Republicans and aid in restoring solidity and efficiency in the government and Americanism in the nation.

In California the Progressives will undoubtedly wish to follow a course similar to that being pursued in the East and the Republicans of the State should not hesitate to meet them half way. Continued divided efforts mean absolute ineffectiveness. For numerous reasons California is particularly interested in the success of Republican policies. The movement toward amalgamation in all other parts of the country is gaining invincible headway and with it there is general acknowledgment of the ascendancy of the Republican party. Obstancy on the part of either Republican or Progressive leaders should not be permitted to prevent amalgamation. There should be some basis upon which it may be brought about.

WATER FRONT DEVELOPMENT STARTS.

The resolution adopted by the City Council Wednesday calling for bids on a lease for a block of land in the Key Route basin makes public the plan which has been advanced for attracting manufacturing plants to the splendid sites owned by the city on the west water front. It also signals the first move in the development of this section of the harbor, upon which high hopes have been based since it passed to the city's control.

The importance of this new activity is accentuated by the knowledge that Albers Brothers, one of the largest milling concerns in the state, will bid on the lease. For three years there has been no inquiry as to this particular part of the water front. The terms of the lease as drafted are general, but attempt to meet in part the proposition made by Albers Brothers. This firm first indicated its willingness to come to Oakland by offering to pay five per cent on the city's investment if the city would construct a wharf on the site where they were to build a mill. The city had no money with which to build and a bond issue was deemed inadvisable. The alternative proposition was made by Albers Brothers that they build the wharf and retain the annual charges due the city until reimbursed. The milling firm wanted to insert a provision that if the tolls was not sufficient to reimburse it for the cost of the wharf within twenty-five years, the term of the lease, the city should then make up the difference.

Mayor Davie submitted the matter to the Chamber of Commerce and it was referred to the Harbor committee of the chamber for investigation and report and after numerous conferences this committee modified the proposition in the sense that there should be nothing due Albers Brothers at the end of the twenty-five years and that upon the expiration of the lease the improvements should revert to the city. Figured on the normal business of the milling company the wharfage tolls ought to make up the cost of the wharf in a much shorter period than twenty-five years.

This plan of bringing manufacturing and shipping business to Oakland is one we believe will commend itself to all. It is essential that we make a start. It is also important that more tonnage be handled in Oakland harbor. All federal appropriation in aid of harbor development is based on tonnage and the business of the milling concern will add very materialy to the tonnage of Oakland.

While The TRIBUNE believes that it would be better for the city to construct the wharf and accept the five per cent from Albers Brothers, there is a condition and not a theory to meet. The city has no money with which to build and the next best thing is desirable. The proposition has been carefully inspected and the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce has unanimously adopted the report of the harbor committee recommending its acceptance. The lease should be made to Albers Brothers or whoever else makes a better bid. No concessions or preferential rates are to be extended. There is no denying that the wharves have not been used to the extent hoped for, but once a start is made other firms ought to locate in this city.

The issue seems fairly joined in China. An uprising in Eastern Mongolia has proclaimed the restoration of the Manchu dynasty. It is not so much of a surprise that the republic is encountering difficulties. A large class accepted and encouraged it for the reason that it was "revolution," rather than for those reasons that have Occidental peoples change from monarchy to republic. The Oriental mind is not attuned to democracy. It is more in the way of construing liberty as license.

Notwithstanding the considerable mortality among California corporations when the corporation tax went into effect, and again when the close supervision of them became effective under a later law, about 20,000 survive and pay taxes. A much greater proportion of corporations than formerly are going concerns, the formation of corporations for any other than actual business purposes being discouraged by existing laws and regulations.

The cost of collecting the revenues of the port of San Francisco is represented to be abnormally small. The reason is not due to unusual economies at the customs house, for the percentage of expense has increased, but to the fact that there is not so much revenue to collect. Eighty-four per cent of the importations come in duty free. The total prohibition of the importation of opium cut off $860,000 at a single swoop.

THE NEW NAME FOR U. S.

In the report of the German Geographical Society's autumn meeting, in Berlin, under the presidency of Dr. Schwarz-Luebeck, the Geographischer Anzeiger credits that body with the attempt to change the name of the United States of America to Usa. Dr. Schwartz-Luebeck argued that the ordinary name was inexact, as nearly all the smaller American republics called themselves officially "United States of America." Moreover, he considered the name lengthy. As it was customary to abbreviate the title to U. S. A., he thought a combination into one word of the elements of that abbreviation would be acceptable. The German adjective might then be "usanen." After some discussion, the meeting agreed to adopt the change. The Berliner Tageblatt, in commenting on the procedure, says, editorially, that it does not consider such a change dignified. In this connection it may be remembered that the late Professor Waterhouse of Washington University suggested "Usona" as a new name for the United States.

LODGE AS CHAIRMAN.

As chairman of the national Republican convention, Senator Lodge would bring to the discharge of the duties of the office a thorough knowledge of parliamentary procedure, a spirit of fair play, a genuine concern for the future welfare of the party and the country and a dignity and presence which would be an inestimable asset to the convention as a deliberate assembly. We hope the choice of Lodge will be announced by the committee following its sitting in Chicago the latter part of this month.—Manchester Union.

Shortly after the death of one of England's great poets one of his devoted admirers visited the little village where the poet had lived and died. The stranger entered into conversation with an old man, a native of the village, remarking sadly on the death of the poet.

"No," replied the prisoner, "but the old woman turned up."—Tit-Bits.

SHIP PLANT PLANS NEAR COMPLETION

Financial Regulation Is Made by State Official

Choice of Site to Follow Formulation of Design

There is considerable speculation along Oakland's waterfront today as to where the new shipbuilding plant of J. D. Barnes & Co, of San Francisco will be situated, as the $300,000 yards will require more than eighteen acres of ground and there are several sites containing that acreage available along the estuary.

Interest in this new plant has developed since the announcement in The TRIBUNE of last night that the company had been granted permission by the state commissioner of corporations to sell capital stock and make other arrangements preliminary to building the drydocks and ways and other necessary equipment.

STIPULATION BY STATE.

The Barnes company intend to pay as much as $75,000 for the site of the new shipyard and will build ways and drydocks capable of receiving vessels of 4000 tons. In issuing the permit to the company to sell stock the state commissioner made certain recommendations relative to impounding a certain percentage of the money derived from the sale of the capital stock until a first payment of $40,000 could be made on the land purchased for the yards.

With the building of the Barnes plant there will be seven shipyards in the Oakland harbor, which does not include many boat builders who construct smaller pleasure crafts, launches and tenders. The announcement of the building of the new shipyard gave an added impetus to the business activities already enjoyed along the waterfront. Among the larger shipyards that are working to capacity are the United Engineering Works, the Pacific Shipyard and Ways Company, Hanlon's Shipyards, Moore & Scott and Stone's Shipyard, at the upper end of the estuary.

PLANS NOT DEFINITE.

In speaking of his plans this morning Barnes said he was not ready to make a definite statement in regard to the site and construction of the shipyard, although he would be in a position to make a public statement in a few days. The company is awaiting the completion of some of the minor details.

"We are," Barnes added, "considering several sites, but have not decided which to buy. It will be but a short time before construction of the drydocks and ways will commence."

According to Barnes' statement the first expenditure in Oakland will merely cover the first unit of the plant, which will eventually be developed into one of the largest plants in the United States.

Employers of Indians Report to Carranza

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Employers of Indians in the Yaqui Valley, Sonora, have been ordered by the Carranza government to submit a monthly report giving the names of their workmen to enable military authorities to keep a check on those who hide their guns one day while employed in the fields and disappear into the lines of the rebels the next. Failure to submit such a report, according to advices to the State Department from the west coast of Mexico, is punishable by a year's imprisonment. The state government for the same reason is taking a census of all Indians in the towns and country around Guaymas.

SEARCH FOR WOMAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—The police are searching the bay cities today for Mrs. FloraRice who was shot in a lodging house at 328 Third street, last October and who was recently discharged from a hospital totally blind as the result of her injury. Word has come from Leomeister, Mass., that a sister of Mrs. Rice is anxious to find her and care for her.

OAKLANDERS TO RESTORE THIS BABY'S SIGHT

MAY THOMPSON

Baby Thompson will see again. She will not be forever in darkness, doomed to life-long blindness. Within a short time Baby Thompson will again see the flowers, will see the beautiful things in life that have been so long denied her. This awakening into a new, bright-colored world for the child, is being made possible by the prompt response of generous people who read of her plight in The TRIBUNE and are donating to the $100 needed to pay for medical attention and nursing during the period of convalescence.

Letters bearing testimony of sympathy and love, accompanied by checks and the "widow's mite," are being received by Mrs. Annie Wilson, 208 Lexington street, Rust, where the child is being cared for. One donation to the worthy cause was in one cent postage stamps—only a few—but given in a spirit of love, and possible sacrifice. Larger amounts range to as high as $5, while a little girl sent her "only dollar."

Besides the donations, many tickets have been sold for the benefit ball to be given for Baby Thompson Saturday night. Many women are selling tickets, the music having been donated by the Albany Band, and the hall by the owner, William F. Huber.

Slowly, inexorably, the young life of May Thompson, was being forever darkened because of the lack of funds, but the innocent little one's sight will be restored, thanks to the generous response of kind, sympathetic people. The child's mother, sick for months, still lies in a Los Angeles hospital anxiously awaiting the time when her baby girl will again see.

Contributions to this fund may be sent to the editor of the Blue Bird Bureau and will be acknowledged. Any surplus will go to the child's future welfare.

CONFESSED SPY IN SURRENDER MOOD

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Captain William M. Offley, chief of the local bureau of investigation of the department of justice, today received a letter from Ignatius T. Trebich Lincoln, the confessed German spy, who escaped from a United States deputy marshal last Saturday in which the writer offered to surrender at once if guaranteed immunity from prosecution on the forgery charge which caused his arrest last August. Captain Offley declined to make public Lincoln's letter.

The forgery charge was preferred by the British consulate here and he was being held in Brooklyn pending extradition to England.

Lincoln, a Hungarian by birth, but a naturalized English citizen and a former member of the British Parliament, contended after his arrest that the British authorities did not wish to try him on the forgery charge, but to execute him for his former espionage work in behalf of the German war intelligence office.

BLUEBIRDS TO STREW HAPPINESS

WHO WANTS A WILLING BOY?

GOOD FELLOW MOVE GOING ON

Board of Education, Oakland, California. Office of the Medical Director., January 20, 1916.

OAKLAND TRIBUNE, Oakland, California.

Gentlemen: On behalf of myself and several hundred children of Oakland whose bodies you have warmed, and courage you have strengthened, I want to thank you for the splendid work The TRIBUNE has done during the last two cold weeks. The lives of our poor children are hard to bear, and they often turn against society with a feeling of resentment. Such whole-hearted aid as you have given will do much to lessen this feeling, and make them into better citizens.

Very truly yours,
N. E. FOSTER, Medical Director.

The Blue Bird, inhabitant of the Pays Bleu, the fabulous blue country of our dreams, is an ancient symbol in the folk-lore of Lorraine and stands for happiness.

We'll call him "Bud." He's 15 and as manly and polite a little fellow as one would care to meet. His father and mother are dead. He has two brothers, one of whom has gone to sea and the other has left for the north. Bud is absolutely alone in this world, and rather at a loss to know what to do. He grew up in the country, where he used to run around barefoot, bring in the cows at night and lead the normal happy life of a country youngster.

"I don't like the city, Mister, honest I don't. If I could get a job on some farm where they'd let me be one of the family," he explained, "I'd work for my room and board and prove of real help. Do you think you could find me a home in the country, Mister?"

We wonder if some kindly Good Fellow wouldn't give Bud a chance, and take him, not to see how much work he could get out of the boy for nothing, but treat him as the lad deserves.

A line to the Blue Bird Bureau of The TRIBUNE will put Bud in touch with anyone interested.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Oakland, Jan. 18, 1916.

Editor Blue Bird Bureau:

Dear Sir—I am so glad you will continue the "Good Fellow" movement. The work is too grand to stop and the great amount of good that has been done cannot be realized by those who haven't yet joined in helping.

There are still more "Good Fellows" in California who haven't yet responded, that have some worn clothing put aside that they would gladly give to some poor child, if they but realized the serious need of these poor little boys and girls for just what they could give. By bringing the matter before our attention in the good way you have it helps us to not forget those about us that are less fortunate and need our support.

Some of us who are of the middle class today may tomorrow need the kind assistance in some way of those whom we have befriended in their time of need.

The biggest asset the country has is its healthy boys and girls. Let us help them to be healthy by keeping their little bodies warm.

Cordially yours,
"A GOOD FELLOW."

FRESH AIR FARM.

January 18, 1916.

Editor Blue Bird Bureau:

Dear Sir—I am enclosing herewith my membership blank for the Good Fellow Club, and would like to say that I have a roomy automobile and plenty of leisure time, both of which I am glad to place at your disposal.

Also in regard to outings for children, we live a couple of miles out of town on a two-acre "farmlet" and will be pleased to keep a child or two for short lengths of time during the spring and summer.

Hoping I may be of some assistance, and with all best wishes for the succes of the club, I am

Yours truly, etc.

Blue Bird Bureau, Oakland, Cal.—

Gentlemen: I have checked up several subjects hoping that I may be of service sometimes. As I am a nurse my time is uncertain and limited and I trust you may have patience in telephoning to me when there is anything that a nurse may do for the little children of the poor.

If I am not able to attend a sick child I may be able to induce a friend or a nurse to attend the case for a few hours each day while the mother sleeps. Even in hospitals people in moderate circumstances are unable to afford special nurses and many anxious mothers come and go, so perhaps a nurse could render assistance as a special a few hours each day in some of these homes and help the mothers as well as the children.

I am willing to give one day out of each month at least and if you wish I will help to enroll other names for this work.

LESSONS AND PLAY.

The Blue Bird Bureau:

I shall be happy to know two little boys who really like "good eats," the Orpheum and story books (occasionally), little boys who really want to know me, also two little girls who will take free embroidery lessons at ——— on Saturdays and do needle work for me for the clothing I may give them in exchange for their work.

I shall be busy now for three or four weeks, then I shall be glad to hear from you and to make appointments to meet the children.

Do not hesitate to call me for any help I may render, either as a nurse or as a human being, when off duty. With best wishes for the success of the club I am, respectfully yours,

AGNES L. BLACK.
Oakland, Cal., Jan. 18, 1916.

Blue Bird Bureau,
Oakland Tribune:

In pledging myself to render assistance to some one in the name of Good Fellowship along the lines of "entertainment," I wish to explain a little further so the bureau can tell more easily what is best for me to do to help.

I am eighteen and just out of high school, so I can't go anywhere alone to entertain or cheer some one up in any questionable part of town, but otherwise I would love to go to read or take care of some sick or otherwise—child or older person. Anything else the bureau thinks advisable in that way I would willingly do.

My days are almost comparatively free, and I would be willing at any time to do any service in my power. I don't know enough about music to teach it, but have had a high school course in drawing and could give some child a start if they want it, though not a finished course. I will do grammar school coaching, too.

All I want is to get a start toward helping some one else and then more opportunities will come later. I'm sure I could get lots of friends interested in this work if a specific case should come before their eyes. Yours sincerely,

V. J.

Greenbacks May Be Scarcer Yet

WouldReplaceTreasury Notes With Gold

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—A committee of the American Bankers' Association has proposed a plan for the retirement and cancellation of the $346,000,000 outstanding treasury notes, commonly called "greenbacks." The plan proposes a bond issue of $200,000,000 to displace an equal amount of greenbacks, the remainder to be taken care of by the $150,000,000 gold fund in the treasury specifically reserved to protect the notes.

The question has been brought to the attention of the governors of the federal reserve banks, who as yet have not approved it. Its backers are expected to present it before Congress at the present session.

RELIEF DAY FOR JEWISH RACE, PLAN

Oakland Business Men Unite in Aid of the Sufferers

Large Meeting Arranges for Fulfilling Big Project

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 21.—Relative to the movement for the relief of the stricken people of the Jewish race in Europe, Governor Hiram W. Johnson today issued the following proclamation to the people of California:

"At the suggestion of those active in providing aid for the destitute in Europe, I hereby direct the attention of the people of California to the proclamation of the President of the United States, designating Thursday, January 27, 1916, as Jewish Relief Day, when concerted effort will be made throughout the country to obtain funds for food and clothing for the five millions of Jews whose homes and resources have been laid waste in the eastern war zone.

"I trust that California's response will be hearty and generous and that citizens everywhere will lend active co-operation to the committees in charge."

Ways and means for best carrying out the provisions of President Wilson's proclamation setting aside Thursday, January 27, as Jewish Relief Day, are being discussed at a general meeting being held at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce at Hotel Oakland. Rabbi Martin A. Meyer of Temple Emanu-El, San Francisco, is the principal speaker. Following his address a general discussion is to take place, when the plan of campaigning for the relief funds will be mapped out by the business men and women present.

That there is considerable interest in the work is shown by the fact that the meeting is crowded. Many busy men and women of all businesses and professions have left their offices to join with the committee members who are devoting so much of their time to the work.

TELLS OF NEED.

Rabbi Meyer, who is conversant with conditions in the war zone, told of the sufferings of more than 6,000,000 Jews in Russia, Poland, Galicia and Austria. He told of the manner in which they were driven from their homes, and their homes destroyed after them; how millions are wandering about without shelter, and how fully 3,000,000 of them, many of them aged men and women, and hundreds of thousands of small children, are literally facing starvation.

The money to be secured in the campaign of January 27 will be used only for the relief of Jews in countries where organized relief work has not yet been extended. This is in the eastern war zone alone. Many millions of dollars will be needed, the interested workers say, that adequate relief may be provided the great horde of sufferers.

ALAMEDA JOINS IN.

The city of Alameda is also interested in the work. Following a recent address by Rabbi Meyer, a meeting of Alameda residents authorized Mayor Frank H. Bartlett to appoint a committee to map out the details of the campaign in the Encinal city.

I. Goldman heads the Oakland committee in charge of the work. Frederick Kahn is treasurer and H. Garfinkle the secretary. Other members are A. S. Lavenson, H. Goldwater, I. Woolein and A. Jonas.

Navy Goat Dies Of Broken Heart

Animal Grieved for Old Comrade

VALLEJO, Jan. 21.—"Bill," the big goat from the United States ship Maryland, which acted as mascot for the football team from that cruiser when the jackies struggled with the All-Vallejo eleven, is no more. Last week "Bill" died on board the Maryland and his remains now repose beneath the sod at the upper end of the navy yard.

When the Maryland was placed in reserve at the yard the goat was left on board the big vessel, while most of the crew was transferred to the Buffalo. It is believed that the animal grieved so much at being separated from Jack Jacobson and the other boys that it succumbed to a broken heart.

THREE MEN ARE BURNED IN EXPLOSION

Wash Box Blows Up as Gas Workers Enter Room

Injuries to Hands and Faces Result of Blast

An explosion in a wash-box at the works of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company early this morning resulted in serious injury to three employes. The blast occurred as the men entered the room to clean up.

CHARLES PROTO, 23 years of age, 692 Fourth street.

RICHARD McHUGH, 29 years of age, 1625 Ninth street.

All of the men incurred burns on their faces and arms. They were rushed to the emergency hospital, where their injuries were dressed by Steward Emlay. They were then able to return to their homes.

BITTEN BY DOG.

Eugene Ellis of 7003 Arthur street, was attacked yesterday by a dog and severely bitten. Ellis was walking along Sixty-ninth avenue when the animal bit him. Ellis was treated by Dr. Joseph Hamilton. The dog was placed under observation and later killed.

BURGLARS FRIGHTENED AWAY.

Thieves attempted to gain admittance to the home of Walter Wawcett, former secretary of the Board of Public Works, last night at 3728 Elston avenue. Members of the family heard them prowling about the premises and frightened the intruders away.

GRADUATE SCHOOL TAKES BIG STRIDE

Gains in Student Enrollment Told in University Recorder's Report.

BERKELEY, Jan. 21. The graduate students of the University of California have increased in number 23 per cent in the past year, they have nearly doubled and the total registration at Berkeley has grown 65 per cent in the past five years. So announces Recorder James Sutton after enrolling the 5151 students now at work at Berkeley. At least 200 more will register this term.

The remarkable growth of 23 per cent in a single year in the graduate division (devoted to higher training of college graduates), was made known through the announcement that by the fifth day of this term the graduate students numbered 712 or 132 more than a year ago. The undergraduates increased 209 to 4439, as compared with 4230 on a corresponding date in January, 1915. The total registration at Berkeley by the fifth day of this term was 5151, or 341 more than a year ago.

The graduate division, which has almost doubled in five years, enrolls only those with a bachelor's degree. Its registration up to January 13 was 712, as compared with 580 on the fifth college day of January, 1915, 518 in 1914, 496 in 1913, 364 in 1912 and 351 in January, 1911. The undergraduates at the end of the fifth college day for the same six years numbered 4439, 4230, 3948, 3434, 3056 and in January, 1911, 2745.

The total Berkeley registration for the first five days in January of the past six years was 5151, 4810, 4465, 3980, 3410 and 3126. That is an increase of more than sixty-five per cent in five years.

None of these figures include university students at the University Farm at Davis. The January registration of university students there is 110, as compared with 76 last year and 60, 41, 23 and 10 for the preceding four years.

Including students in law, medicine, dentistry and pharmacy in San Francisco last year 322 and the 5364 students in the last summer session, but deducting the duplicates, the year's registration will considerably exceed 11,000. These figures exclude the students in the University Farm school at Davis, the Wilmerding Trades school, the San Francisco Institute of Art, the University Extension Division, the 20,000 in correspondence courses in agriculture, and the many thousands reached by farm demonstration work of various sorts.

Sorority Wants None but Cooks, And Good Ones

MISS DELPHINE FERRIER (LOWER) AND MISS ELIZABETH BRIDGE, WHO HAVE STUDIED HIGHER ARTS OF HOME-MAKING.

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—Hail to the super-cook!

She has arrived.

On the University of California campus her arrival has been signalized by the formation of Alpha Nu, a brand new honor society especially for students in the nutrition classes, which means women particularly. Only those who have been graduated or who have neared the end of the senior year may be elected to membership.

"Nutrition" is the name under which the university hides such well-known feminine studies as cooking, sewing and care of the household, and diligently, through them, the members of Alpha Nu have striven to high scholarship marks. The character members are Miss Elizabeth Bridge, Miss Delphine Ferrier, Miss Margaret Mills, Miss Mabel Nelson, Miss Lila Rau, Miss Josephine Davis and Dr. Fay Morgan.

It is no simple cooking of hot-cakes and manufacture of patty cakes that has made the Alpha Nu members eligible. Here, on the contrary, are some of the very serious things they have had to study:

Pure food and drug laws and their operation; laboratory courses in food and household chemistry, feeds and feeding, the chemistry of milk, fundamental principles of nutrition, applied dietetics, feeding infants and children and modern theories of disease in relation to diet.

Special problems beyond these have been investigated by some of the members, while others are engaged in special research work in dietetics and others are preparing to teach the nutritive art-science.

Prof. Myer E. Jaffa, director of the State Food and Drugs Laboratory, heads the department and with him in the faculty two of the chester members of Alpha Nu, Dr. Morgan and Miss Davis, are associated.

Twenty-six Vote for All Berkeley

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—Twenty-six persons who had interest enough in the affairs of Berkeley schools to quit their firesides last evening acted for the whole 65,000 inhabitants of the Berkeley school district and voted to acquire a piece of property 25 feet wide adjoining the Garfield school on Shattuck avenue.

The law provides that a district meeting, if properly advertised previously, may act upon a matter of this kind. Last evening's meeting at the school board rooms was prominently announced for a week beforehand but only 26 voters appeared. As half a dozen would have answered as well, under the law, and as the vote of the 26 was unanimous, the property was ordered purchased. It will cost the city $2000 and will be used for playground purposes.

Travelers Pause to Assist Belgians

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—As far as Belgium only proceeded Dr. David P. Barrows, dean of the faculties of the University of California, and Mrs. Barrows on their contemplated trip through war-swept Europe when the destitution of the Belgians appealed to their sympathies and they decided to stop and help. Dr. Barrows received a commission from the relief workers and is stationed at Rotterdam.

The pause of the Barrows on their journey is, however, temporary. Dr. Barrows writes to Berkeley that he expects to proceed before long, first probably to Spain, England, Germany, Austria and such other countries as he and Mrs. Barrows can reach they will visit.

TROPICAL MEDICINE LECTURES.

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—The series of lectures on tropical medicine being given at the University of California Hospital in San Francisco on Saturday mornings by professors of the University of California Medical School and members of the staff of the Hooper Foundation for Medical Research will be continued at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, January 22, by a lecture by Dr. E. L. Walker of the Hooper Foundation, associate professor of tropical medicine, on "Entamoebiasis." This lecture, in the amphitheater of the University hospital, at Second and Parnassus avenues, San Francisco, will be followed by a clinical discussion by Dr. Herbert C. Moffitt, professor of medicine and dean of the University of California Medical School. The medical public will be welcome.

SEEKS WORK FOR WOMEN.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 21.—City Clerk R. E. Rossbard has been receiving appeals for positions from women of Alameda who are needy. The city has set aside a relief fund for the unemployed, but it has been found that work that women can do is scarce in the municipal departments. As a consequence City Clerk Rossbard issues an appeal that any local residents who have housework positions notify him and he can supply the necessary help. The city clerk's telephone number is Alameda 446. Any local women who need work are asked to register their names with the city clerk.

PASTOR TALKS ON POET.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 21.—Joint installation of officers will be held this evening in Eagles' Clubhouse by Court Pride No. 19, Hamlet Circle No. 64, Merritt Circle of Oakland, Foresters of America.

PROFESSORS PLAN HISTORY HANDBOOK

To Tell How Other Nations Run Their Politics and Government.

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—A series of "government handbooks" on the administrative organization of each of the principal European governments has been undertaken by Dean David P. Barrows and Prof. Thomas H. Reed of the University of California faculty, and Dr. Fritz-Konrad Krueger, formerly of the faculty. The first volume on the German government by Dr. Krueger has just appeared.

Prof. Barrows is to write a volume on "The Government of American Dependencies." For eight years he was commissioner of education for the Philippines, and he has written much on the achievements of America in the archipelago, where more efficient provision has been made for the education, health and welfare of an Oriental population than ever before in the dealings of East with West.

"The Government and Politics of Great Britain" is to be a volume by Prof. Thos. H. Reed, and in "Prussia and the Federal States of the German Empire" an American's point of view on German institutions will be presented by Prof. Herman G. James, last year of the summer session faculty of the University of California, now of the University of Texas. A number of other volumes are to follow.

The first volume, just out, "The Government and Politics of the German Empire," is written from the point of view of one who is a conservative German in training and sympathy, but scholarly and scientific in spirit. The author, Dr. Krueger, was formerly assistant in political science in the University of California. His volume of 340 pages gives an illuminating account of how the German empire's vast affairs are conducted.

NOT "EMPEROR OF GERMANY."

Americans seldom understand what the German empire really is, declares Dr. Kruger. The Kaiser is "German Kaiser," not Kaiser of Germany. His real power comes, he says, from the fact that he is King of Prussia, and that Prussia has preponderant weight in the empire. He speaks disparagingly of the Reichstag, the elective legislative chamber, and says it has declined in quality.

"The parties in the Reichstag," says Dr. Kruger, "become the representatives of special economic and social classes. Disgusted, many men of statesmanlike qualities and high ideals turned away and left the seats in the Reichstag to average politicians. A great deal of this decline in personnel is due to the growth of the Social-Democratic party. Although they count some excellent parliamentarians among their members, the average Social-Democratic deputy is a man of comparatively little education and of narrow views. Of the 110 Social-Democrat members, 83 were formerly workingmen or employes. Of the deputies, 266 had an academic graduate training. The extreme scarcity of lawyers as compared with the American Congress is notable. His charts show the great numerical strength of Social Democrat and Liberal membership.

"The Reichstag," says Dr. Kruger, "it is generally conceded, has disappointed the hopes of the more intelligent people. Nevertheless it compares favorably with other legislative bodies."

LIKES LOWER HOUSE.

The Bundesrath, in which 61 votes are distributed among the 26 states by a federal principle, the votes of each state being cast as a unit, is more highly thought of by Dr. Kruger than the Reichstag. He declares it the most original institution of German government, and really a "progressive conservative" body.

Zingg Bowlers Lose Two Games in Three

ALAMEDA, Jan. 21.—After three of the closest games ever played on the local alleys, the Alamedas of the Alameda City Bowling League, took two out of three from the Zinggs on the Zingg alleys. In all three games the tenth frame decided the result. The Zinggs won the first game by eighteen pins, while the Alamedas won the second by eleven pins and the third by fifteen pins. The scores were not up to the usual averages of the players, due probably to the tension of the first tournament game.

The scores were as follows:

Overseas Club Moves to New Headquarters

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—The Overseas Club, which has had a very successful career during its brief history in this city and which now has a large membership, has established new headquarters at 2131 Haste street. The club previously was located at the Hotel Shattuck. An at home, which will celebrate the removal, will be held the evening of February 6.

On this occasion A. Carnegie Ross, British consul general, will preside. An invitation to attend has been extended to all members and friends, especially those who have attended the club's series of whist parties. Music, dancing and cards will furnish the divertisements of the evening, and refreshments will be served.

Last evening one of the best attended whist parties of the club was held as a closing event at the Shattuck under the direction of Mrs. H. Parisch and committee. An elaborate cake which had been donated to the ladies' relief party, was presented by Mrs. A. P. Read and received by Miss Constance Simpson.

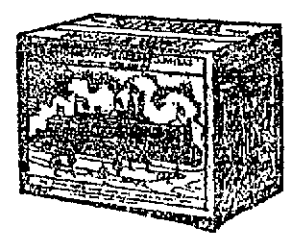

On the evening of January 27 an informal meeting of club members is to be held in the new headquarters. Arrangements for future activities of the club will be made at that time.

U. C. Seeks Best Cows in State

Dairy Competition Plan Announced by College

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—Who has the best cows in California?

The University of California wants to find that out, and to demonstrate how much better good cows are than poor ones. So the College of Agriculture is considering the inauguration on the first of next November of a State Dairy Cow Competition. It is planned to continue the competition for sixteen months. It will be open not only to pure-bred but also to grade and to common cows, and a number of different prizes will be awarded, for butter fat production during any ten continuous months of this period. Prizes aggregating several thousand dollars have been offered. The prize list, however, will be held open until July 1, so that any other persons or firms who wish to offer such contributions to the list of prizes may have opportunity to subscribe.

A circular in which the university will officially announce this competition and for the first time make public the list of premiums offered will be issued by the College of Agriculture of the University of California about August 1, 1916.

MAYOR REQUESTS SERMONS ON RELIEF

Ministers Are Requested to Give Aid to Jewish Fund.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 21.—The ministers of all the churches in Alameda have been requested by Mayor F. H. Bartlett to issue an appeal to their congregations Sunday to aid in the cause of the war sufferers of Europe.

They have been asked to make the campaign for raising money the subject of sermons, so that a general interest may be aroused. Next Thursday, January 27, has been set aside by the President of the United States as the day on which contributions are to be made for the afflicted and needy in Galicia and Poland, eastern Europe.

Mayor Bartlett tomorrow afternoon will meet with the executive committee which is to handle the local campaign. The session will take place in the executive's office in the city hall, at 2 o'clock. There will be several dinners before the dance. One of these will be a progressive dinner for which Miss Fiela Bishop, Miss Virginia Gohn and Miss Mignon Hencrict will be hostesses. Mrs. George Dillman will entertain with another and others have also been planned.

DEATH OF VAN SICKLEN BABY.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 21.—The sympathy of many friends and a still larger circle of acquaintances will be extended Mr. and Mrs. Jack Van Sicklen, over the death of their little son, John Van Sicklen, Jr., a year and a half old, and their only child. The little one has been ill for the past four months and every effort of science was made to discover the cause of the illness, and to check the gradual decline which proved, however, unavailing, and yesterday the end came, leaving the parents dissonsolate, with empty arms and aching hearts. Both funeral and interment were private, the simple services being held at the family home in Piedmont.

The parents of the little one whose life career ended ere it had scarce begun have been married but a few years, and both are well known in Alameda. Mrs. Van Sicklen was Miss Sue Harrold and Jack Van Sicklen is a nephew of F. W. Van Sicklen of this city and a brother of Mrs. McKee Sherrard.

IF FATHER ARRIVES, MISS KNOX WILL WED TONIGHT

MISS MILDRED KNOX, WHOSE WEDDING HAS BEEN DELAYED BECAUSE OF STORM IN SOUTH.

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—For the god of storms Cupid stayed his hand at the home of the Charles E. Knoxes on Benvenue avenue last evening and held up the wedding of Miss Mildred Knox to Rollin Bascom Moore. Neither of the young couple desired to be married in the absence of the bride's father and he, blockaded below Barstow by the Southern California storms, could not reach Berkeley for the ceremony.

So, the bride-to-have-been came downstairs in an evening gown instead of in her bridal garb and the reception which had been planned to follow the ceremony proceeded as before. If anything it was just a little jollier than it would have been, if that were possible, for the delay shook a speck of unexpected spice into the gathering.

Knox is expected home some time today, the railroad being rapidly cleared of debris, and if he arrives the wedding will be celebrated by Rev. H. J. Loken this evening as had been planned. If he cannot come until tomorrow, then tomorrow evening will see the young couple united. Meanwhile the guests who were present last night and who will gather again for the wedding are staying close to their telephones awaiting the declaration that Master of Ceremonies Cupid is at last ready to proceed.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Knox of Tuolumne county, uncle and aunt of the bride, remained today as guests at the Knox home. Her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. John Bryant Knox of Kansas City, are also her mother's guests.

Miss Knox was recently a graduate of the university, where she was prominent in sorority circles. Moore is a young business man of the bay cities. Miss Janet Knox is to be her sister's maid of honor and six sorority sisters, Miss Ruth Sherman and Miss Lelia Berry as bridesmaids and Mrs. Harold Havens and Miss Katherine Crellin, Miss Mabel Moller and Miss Lillian Sherman as ribbon bearers, also will attend her. Arthur Beal of Stockton is to be groomsman.

CHOLERA FOLLOWS IN TRAIL OF WAR

VIENNA, Jan. 21—The extent to which cholera followed the war into Austria-Hungary is shown by an official statement to the effect that the disease was epidemic only in Galicia, where the weekly number of cases in the month of August was from 1300 to 4000.

Since the middle of September of this year a rapid decrease was noted, and since the first week in October the number of cases occurring weekly has not exceeded 200.

Outside of Galicia there has been nothing resembling an epidemic. In the period from August 29 to October 2 there were, according to the official statement, only 140 cases in all Austria, with the exception of Galicia, Bukowina and the coast districts. In the last named two places there were 193 cases in the period stated. There have been 743 cases in all Austria since October 2.

The maximum number of cases in Hungary never exceeded 4000, a number which was reached in two weeks of June among Russian prisoners of war. Except for this, the maximum was 800 cases in the beginning of August. Since September the number has remained under 100 cases per week.

The official statement does not give the number of deaths from cholera.

SAN PABLO AVENUE TO BE IMPROVED

RICHMOND, Jan. 21.—Plans for the improvement of San Pablo avenue for a mile within the city limits have been prepared by City Engineer H. D. Chapman and will be presented to the city council Monday evening. This is a part of the plan outlined by the mayors and publicity bodies of the east bay cities at a recent conference when the project of extending the state highway from Sacramento directly into Oakland by the shortest route was discussed.

The state will improve the road as far as the town of Albany with the exception of the mile through the city of Richmond. Mayor Garrard promises that Richmond will be the first of the east bay cities to improve San Pablo avenue as outlined at the conference.

The proceedings will be fixed so that the contract can be let as soon as the weather clears.

DEFENDS GRAND JURY.

RICHMOND, Jan. 21.—Charges that the Anderson grand jury had cost Contra Costa county $5000 during its period in office were answered yesterday by Foreman E. B. Anderson, who procured from County Auditor A. N. Sullenger a signed statement of the expenditures for that body. The total amount shown in the official report is $1428.42. Answering the charge that "scores of witnesses had been summoned by the jury," Anderson said that only $88.50 had been expended during the year for expenses of witnesses.

YEOMEN HAVE VISITORS.

RICHMOND, Jan. 21.—District Deputy C. P. Klinkner and State Manager W. J. Elliott were visitors last night at the meeting of the Yeomen in Pythian Castle. Both made addresses. Arrangements were made for an open meeting to be held next Thursday evening. The committee in charge of the affair consists of Mrs. J. E. Bonham, J. C. Bly and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bryant.

TOWN UNWILLING TO TOOT OWN HORN

Poor Old Curfew Has No Friends Left Except Mother.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—Curfew shall not blow tonight in this city, nor any other night, if the citizens have their way about it. The idea of curfews blowing may be strange to outsiders, but that is the sort of a curfew Albany possesses, an immense steam siren that shakes the buildings every time it sounds.

The curfew not only has sounded at 5 o'clock in the afternoon for the benefit of good union members, but it has boomed into the quietude of respectable homes at 9 p. m. daily also. It has got the nerves of numerous citizens, who have called mass meetings for next Monday night to see what can be done about it.

Venturesome small boys, hearing how Mrs. Carter once swung from the clapper in "The Heart of Maryland," have wanted to become new heroes by sitting on the steam vent of the curfew, but have been detained pending the action of the Monday night meeting. That something must be done about it has become generally evident. Berkeley is complaining that, every time it blows, her residents have rushed into the yard to shoo the cow out of the lettuce patch and members of the Albany volunteer fire department are objecting to having to reach for their trousers several times a day unnecessarily, since the siren is also the town's fire alarm.

The only steadfast friends the siren possesses in town are members of the Albany Mothers' Club, who were instrumental in having the 9 o'clock signal sounded. They will object at the meeting that, if it is interrupted, they must return to the old fashion of ringing a bell on the front porch to get Johnnie and Mamie to come home.

GIRLS PASS PETITION.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 21.—Miss Evelyn Bush and Miss Minnie Golumb, San Francisco society girls, are making a canvass in this city for names to the peace-preparedness petition which is to be forwarded to Congress by the Western States Peace-Preparedness League. Alamedans are asked to attach their names to the petition, which requests Congress to prepare the country for war and thus maintain peace. Miss Bush and Miss Golumb are authorized by the league to take memberships in the organization, the small fee being used to bear the expenses of circulation of the petitions.

ALAMEDA PERSONALS

ALAMEDA, Jan. 21.—Mrs. F. V. Dowson of Ukiah, who has been in Alameda for several weeks, and has been a guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. Schloss, 2114 Eagle avenue, will leave Sunday for her home. Mrs. Dowson was Miss Ruby Schloss, before her marriage. She has been residing in Ukiah for the past three years or more.

Thomas Allen, who has been in Eureka for five weeks, has returned home. He will make one of a party which will include his brother, Louis Allen, and a number of Oakland young people with their chaperones, who will spend the week-end at Truckee.

Miss Dorothy Trout of Washington, D. C., who has been a guest of Miss Mabel Clark of Alameda avenue for a few days, left for her eastern home by way of Chicago. Miss Trout is a popular young society belle, and has been enjoying a visit with the family of Captain Cochran at Fort Shafter in the Hawaiian Islands, where she spent several months, returning on the transport Thomas, last Saturday. Miss Trout is the granddaughter of the late Colonel Burt, famous Indian fighter of the Second United States cavalry of Wyoming and Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland S. Scott (Marie McHenry) left this week for the east, where they will spend about two months in travel, visiting many of the large cities in their tour.

Mrs. Harry L. Hintze of 2510 Chester street left for Marshfield, Or., to join her husband, who has been established in business there for the past month. The young people will make their future home in the northwest, Mrs. Hintze was Miss Bertha Edwards of Oakland.

The Research Club will have the regular semi-monthly meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Lemmon, 2150 Pacific avenue, when the hostess will conduct the program, the subject of which will be "Lamps." Mrs. E. T. Hosford will preside at the business meeting which will precede the program.

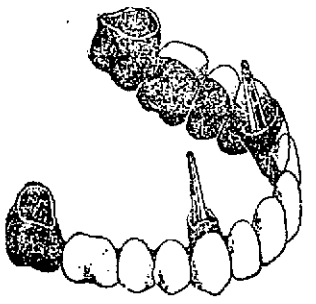

Mrs. Zoe Greene Radcliffe accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Statler, to her home in Napa, and will be a guest of her daughter and son-in-law for two weeks or more.

WHITMAN DEPOSES WARDEN'S ACCUSER

He Drops Superintendent of Prisons Riley From Office.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 21.—Governor Whitman today removed John B. Riley, state superintendent of prisons, from office.

Governor Whitman issued an opinion, sustaining charges of misconduct in office, preferred by himself. These charges had to do with the transfer of convicts, members of the Welfare Association organized by former Warden Osborn, from Sing Sing to Clinton prison.

The deposed superintendent issued a statement saying Governor Whitman had "catered to maudlin sentimentalists rather than the public."

Private Burial Ground for Dogs

Trustees of Chico Buy Plot for Them

CHICO, Jan. 21.—Chico ranks with the few cities in the country which owns its own "graveyard." By vote of the trustees, Deputy Poundmaster Charles Lefloy will have a place to bury homeless dogs. The establishment of a dog cemetery in the city grounds near the rock-crusher east of this city, has been authorized by the trustees.

GARIS' BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Third Little Pig

(By HOWARD R. GARIS.)

Uncle Wiggily Longears sat in the burrow, or house under the ground, where he and Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady, lived with the Littletail family of rabbits.

"Oh, dear!" sounded a grunting, woofing sort of voice over near one window.

"Oh, dear!" squealed another voice from under the table.

"Well, well! What is the matter with you two piggie boys?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he took down from the sideboard his red, white and blue barber pole striped rheumatism crutch that Nurse Jane had gnawed for him out of a cornstalk.

"What's the trouble, Grunter and Squeaker?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"We are lonesome for our brother," said the two little piggie boys, No. 1 and No. 2. "We want to see Twisty-tail."

"Well, perhaps I may meet him when I go walking today," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "If I do I'll bring him home with me."

"Oh, goodie!" cried Grunter and Squeaker. For they were the first and second little pigs, you see. Uncle Wiggily had saved Grunter from the bad wolf when the growling creatures blew down Grunter's straw house. And, in almost the same way, the bunny uncle had saved Squeaker, when his wooden house was blown over by the wolf. But Twisty-Tail, the third little pig, Uncle Wiggily had not yet helped.

"I'll look for Twisty-Tail today," said the rabbit gentleman as he started off for his adventure walk, which he took every afternoon and morning.

On and on went Uncle Wiggily Longears over the snow-covered fields and through the wood, until just as he was turning around the corner near an old red stump, the rabbit gentleman heard a chukity-clankity sort of a noise and the sound of whistling.

"Ha! Some one is happy!" thought the bunny uncle. "That's a good sign—whistling. I wonder who it is?"

He looked around the stump corner and he saw a little animal chap, with blue rompers on, and a fur cap stuck back of his left ear, and this little animal chap was whistling away as merrily as a butterfly eating butterscotch candy.

"Why, that must be the third little pig!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Hello!" called the rabbit gentleman. "Are you Twisty-Tail?"

"That's my name," answered the little pig, "and, as you see, I am building my house of bricks, just as it tells about in the book."

And, surely enough, Twisty-Tail was building a little house of red bricks, and it was the tap-tap-tapping of his trowel, or mortar-shovel, that made the chukity-clankity noise.

"Do you know me, Uncle Wiggily?" asked the piggie boy. "You see I am in a book. Once upon a time there were three little pigs, and——"

"I know all about you," interrupted Uncle Wiggily. "I have met your two brothers."

"They didn't know how to build the right kind of houses, and so the wolf got them," said Twisty-Tail. "I am sorry, but it had to happen just as it is in the book."

Uncle Wiggily smiled, but said nothing.

"I met a man with a load of bricks, and I begged some of them to build my house," said Twisty-Tail. "No wolf can get me. No, sir-ee!"

"I'll help you build your house," offered Uncle Wiggily kindly, and just as he and Twisty-Tail finished the house and put on the roof it began to rain and freeze.

"We are through just in time," said Twisty-Tail, as he and the rabbit gentleman hurried inside. "I don't believe the wolf will come out in such weather."

But just as he said that and looked from the window, the little piggie boy gave a cry, and said:

"Oh, here comes the bad animal now! But he can't get in my house, or blow it over, 'cause the book says he didn't."

The wolf came up through the freezing rain and knocking on the third piggy boy's brick house, said:

"Little pig! Little pig! Let me come in!"

"No! No! By the hair on my chinny-chan-chin, I will not yet you in!" grunted Twisty-Tail.

"Then I'll puff and I'll blow, and I'll blow your house in!" howled the wolf.

"You can't! The book says so!" laughed the little pig. "My house is a strong, brick one."

"Just you wait!" growled the wolf. So he puffed out his cheeks, and he blew and he blew, but he could not blow down the brick house, because it was so strong.

"Well, I'm in no hurry," the wolf said. "I'll sit down and wait for you to come out."

So the wolf sat down on his tail to wait outside the brick house. After a while Twisty-Tail began to get hungry.

"Did you bring anything to eat, Uncle Wiggily?" he asked.

"No, I didn't," answered the rabbit gentleman. "But if the old wolf would go away I'd take you where your two brothers live with me in the rabbit house and you could have all you want to eat."

But the wolf would not go away, even when Uncle Wiggily asked him to, most politely.

"I'm going to stay here all night," the wolf growled.

"Are you? Well, we'll see about that!" cried the rabbit gentleman. Then he took a rib out of his umbrella, and with a piece of his shoe lace (that he didn't need) for a string he made a bow like the Indians used to have.

"If I only had an arrow now I could shoot it from the umbrella-bow, hit the wolf on the nose and make him go away," said Uncle Wiggily. Then he looked out of the window and saw where the rain dripping from the roof had frozen into long, sharp icicles.

"Ha!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "An icicle will make the best kind of an arrow! Now I'll shot the wolf, not enough to hurt him, but enough to make him run away."

Reaching out to the window sill Uncle Wiggily broke off a sharp icicle. He put this ice-arrow in his bow and shot the wolf on the nose.

"Oh, wow! Oh, double-wow! Oh, custard cake!" howled the wolf. "This isn't in the book at all. Not a single pig did I get! Oh, my nose! Ouch!"

Then he ran away, and Uncle Wiggily and Twisty-Tail could come safely out of the brick house, which they did, hurrying home to the bunny house to get something to eat. So everything came out right, you see, as did Uncle Wiggily saved the three little pigs.

And if the canary bird doesn't go swimming in the rice pudding and eat out all the raisin seeds, I'll tell you next of Uncle Wiggily and Mother Goose.

Women "Half-Clothed," States Rev. Coroner

PITTSTON, Pa., Jan. 21.—The Rev. J. J. Coroner, rector of St. John's Roman Catholic church here, has scored the cabaret and the young women who wear short skirts. The cabaret, he says, leads young people astray. He called it a "trap for vice and sin, and nothing good comes out of it."

"The girl with the short skirt," he said, "is not the typical kind that our mothers and our grandmothers were. Those were the good old days, when our parents and grandparents lived. Then there was no cabaret and women were not strutting about half-clothed in short skirts, with no other intention, of course, but to attract young men."

EXPLODING OIL BURNS MOTHER AND BABY GIRL

MRS. ANNIE PEYRE

ELEANOR PEYRET, CHILD WHO GAVE LIFE IN VAIN EFFORT TO SAVE MOTHER.

Garments Catch Fire From Kerosene

Fire due to using coal oil to start a blaze in the kitchen stove last night caused the death of Mrs. Annie Peyret and her 7-year-old daughter, Elinor, at their home, 682 Twenty-seventh street. The child died from suffocation and from the burns and was found beside the kitchen range already dead when the firemen entered the house. Mrs. Peyret in her agony ran out of the room and through the house. Her burns were so severe, however, that she died within a few hours at the Receiving Hospital.

Charles Peyret, whose wife and child were the victims of the blaze, is a jitney bus driver. He was away from home at the time the fire occurred and did not learn the facts until nearly an hour after the little girl was dead and when his wife was dying at the hospital.

Mrs. Peyret and her daughter were in the kitchen and the mother was preparing the evening meal. The fire was not burning well. Mrs. Peyret got a can of coal oil and poured a quantity of the inflammable liquid into the stove. At first it did not catch fire, but gas formed from the contact of the kerosene with the hot coals in the grate. An explosion followed, which sent streams of flame rushing up from the stove. Mrs. Peyret's dress caught fire, and in her fright she spilled coal oil over herself.

Whether the child ran to the assistance of her mother, or became confused and was trapped in the blazing kitchen is not known. Her body was found beside the stove and death had intervened before the firemen entered.

Mrs. Peyret ran screaming for aid to the front of the house, and then attempted to return to the kitchen to rescue the little girl. She fell unconscious, and was carried out by firemen who had been summoned by neighbors. Battalion Chief Carroll found the woman lying in the hallway and carried her out of the burning home.

The fire was confined to the kitchen, the damage amounting to about $200.

Back to the Farm for Mowrey Sisters

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. — This afternoon "pap" may glance up from his milking, shade his eyes to stereoscope the little cavalcade coming down the road, and yell:

"Maw, you better warm some of them potatoes and beef. The gals is back."

So Stella Mowrey, age 21, and her sister Evelyn, 16, will return to the farm, outside of Kenosha, Wis. The career stuff is off. Instead of electrifying the first-nighters on Broadway and the Rialto Stella and Evelyn will ing milk from the "mulleys" in the "medder." Instead of stepping from a loop hotel for a noon breakfast before the matinee, they will get the chickens off the roost about 4 a. m. and remind them their business is laying, not perching.

Stella and Evelyn came to Chicago a week ago from the farm. They wanted to get in the show business. They were arrested for shoplifting, but Judge Heap gave them their choice of the jail or the farm.

BLACK HANDERS NOW HUNTED HERE

Federal Sleuths Trace Men to the Bay Cities in Hiding.

Investigation by Federal authorities of the alleged blackhand ring which has terrorized wealthy Italians in large cities of the country for several years, has now been shifted to San Francisco, secret service officials yesterday appearing before the Federal grand jury in the transbay city and testifying as to the local operations of the band.

Oakland figures in the investigation, as well as a score of other large cities. It has been learned that several wealthy Italians of this city have received minatory letters from the supposed Mafia, threatening death and destruction of homes if certain sums of money were not paid over.

The local investigation started with the arrest in San Jose several months ago of Tony De Franco and Joseph Vetrano. Their arrest was a start toward breaking up the gang on this coast. The gang is believed to have members in all parts of the world, and it is one of its tribunals, meeting in New York City, which is believed to have plotted the slaying in Italy of Police Lieutenant Joseph Petrosini of New York in 1909.

SEEKING FUGITIVES.

Many members of the secret organization are believed to be in hiding in Oakland and San Francisco, the Federal officers told the grand jury yesterday. They told of many who had received threatening letters. Theodore Kytka, the handwriting expert, testified that he had received threatening letters through the mail after it became known that he had been retained to investigate threatening missives sent by members of the ring.

The following persons are among those who have received letters threatening to dynamite their homes or places of business unless sums ranging from $1000 to $5000 were paid:

THOUSANDS WANTED.

ANTONIO TRAPANI, president of the Western Fish Company, 751 Francisco street; total of $8000 demanded.

GIOVANNI MANISCUPICO, 1321 Columbus avenue; $5000 demanded.

ETTORE CARDINALE, Pittsburg, Cal.; $1000 demanded.

SALVATORE GATTO, 989 Filbert street; $5000 demanded.

MICHELI ALONZIO, 109 Duane street, San Jose; $2000 demanded.

ANTONIO ORLANDO, San Jose; $5000 demanded.

JACOBI SANATORA, 803 Pine street; $1000 demanded.

FRANK BARONE, 722 North Thirteenth street, San Jose; $5000 demanded.

SALVATORE TERESE, 1199 Orchard street, San Jose; $8000 demanded.

SALVATORE SCIALABBA, Almaden avenue, San Jose; $1000 demanded.

LUIGI PUCCHINI, millionaire fish dealer, San Francisco; $8000 demanded.

BULLETS FAIL TO KILL ATLANTA MAN

Irate Husband Fires 5 Times, But Victim Is Not Harmed.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 21.—A. W. Villard, 53 years old, signal operator of engine house No. 1, is apparently bullet-proof. This was most convincingly demonstrated when S. W. Bacon Jr., 56 years old, want ad manager of an Atlanta paper, fired five .32-caliber bullets "into" Villard from a revolver held a few inches from his body.

The shooting occurred in the Empire Life building, where Villard said he found Bacon in an office with Mrs. Villard, his wife, from whom the fireman had been separated for some time.

When Bacon started shooting at Villard, the latter was very close to the gun. Bacon fired at Villard's chest, the latter said Bacon, instead of dropping to the floor, cursed him; Bacon fired again, and, he said, Villard cursed him again. This performance was repeated five times.

BULLETS USELESS.

Then Bacon stood with the smoking, empty revolver in his hand, while Villard, somewhat dazed and confused from loud noise of the gun and the thumping shock of the five leaden pellets striking against his chest, reached down and picked up two of the bullets which hit him.

Later Villard picked out the other three bullets from against his skin, where they lodged harmlessly, leaving nothing more serious than blue bruises.

The police could not assign any reason for the bullets not taking fatal effect upon Villard, except that at the time Villard was wearing a heavy coat and overcoat.

WAS STENOGRAPHER.

Mrs. Villard, her husband declared, formerly worked for Bacon as a stenographer, and for about a year had been "going with" Bacon. For a long time Villard and wife have been living apart. He said he began to suspect recently that she was still going with Bacon. So, on the afternoon of the shooting he followed Bacon to the Empire Life building, and then up into the building and to an office of a friend of Bacon's, where the shooting occurred.

Carranza Troops Defeat Yaqui Bands

GUAYMAS, Mexico, Jan. 21.—The campaign against the Yaqui Indians is now progressing favorably and latest reports state that Carranza troops have occupied a Yaqui stronghold at Los Palares and in a skirmish near San Javier succeeded in driving off a detached band of the Indians and capturing 300 head of cattle and 100 horses.

General Urbatejo, the Yaqui chief who commanded the Yaquis operating with General Villa, and who, with General Fructuoso Mendez, surrendered to the Carranza forces in this vicinity, has been sent away from the Indian country aboard the gunboat Guerrero to Guadalajara, together with Generals Mendez, Jesus Trujillo and Banderas and the Mayo Indian chief, Bachomo. The latter two led the Indians in their attack on the American colony at Los Mochis, Sinaloa, last November.

BANDIT VILLA IS REPORTED CAUGHT

Refining Company officials here late yesterday.

INFORMATION RELIABLE.

The company officials declared their information detailed the story of the capture, which took place at Hacienda San Geronimo, in the Guerrero district of Western Chihuahua.

The information came to them from the same source which revealed the first news of the Santa Ysabel massacre of the eighteen Americans.

This source, they declare, could not be revealed because of the private nature of the message and the fact that the man was in constant danger in Chihuahua because of his position. However, they state that they have absolute confidence in the man's reliability, and believe the story will be confirmed later.

REPORT BELIEVED.

The extreme circumstantial details of the reported capture led well-informed persons here to believe it, but against this phase stood the telegraphed denial by General Luis Herrera, Carranza commandant at Chihuahua, that the capture had been expected. A message asking that Villa be brought to Juarez to be executed at the racetrack was ready for filing by Mexican officials in case the report of his capture proved authentic. Efforts today to get in communication with any of the three commanders who were said to have surrounded the outlaw were ineffective.

Officials here and at Washington were inclined to discount the magnitude of the event, as seen by the general public. Villa, it was said, was a troublesome outlaw, nothing more, and would be dealt with. He was not conceded the glamor which was his in the public mind when he fought at Torreon and worked his way toward Mexico City with an unbeaten and confident army. His present following was said to be inconsiderable and dwindling, and Carranza officials refused to concede that he might rise again to prominence as he did after he was outlawed by Porfirio Diaz for the killing of an army officer who had run away with his sister.

CONFIRMATION SLOW.

However, the inaccessibility of the Guerrero country, together with the fact that the bandits have cut all of the telegraph lines, will make confirmation slow, and it is believed that the first definite information to be obtained will be given when General Carlos Cabezos and his troops arrive on a troop train from Western Chihuahua.

The same message which brought the report that Villa had been captured in his old retreat also brought the news that Pablo Lopez and seventeen of his bandits who were directly responsible for the murder of the eighteen Americans at Santa Ysabel had been caught in the Guerrero district near Guerrero town.

They were executed after a brief but regular court-martial, the Carranza firing squad taking a life for a life lost at the Santa Ysabel massacre.

Denial from Carranza official sources that Francisco Villa had been captured, as reported from Chihuahua, was supplemented today by statements from Villa partisans here, alleged to be based on reliable information that he and several hundred followers were safe in the Tarahumare Mountains west of Guerrero.

MOUNTAIN FASTNESS.

In the fastnesses of these mountains, every inch of which he has known since the days when, as a brigand, he successfully evaded every force Porfirio Diaz could send against him, they declared, Villa is now awaiting the development of the movement started against Carranza by General Benjamin Argumedo, the Arricta brothers and others. He would be next heard from, they asserted, when he struck a blow at the Carranza forces now being concentrated at Torreon to take the field against the rebel movement, which has become fairly well developed.

General Jacinto Trevino, Carranza military chief of Chihuahua, was expected to arrive at Torreon today or tomorrow to take charge of the new army. Before leaving Chihuahua City yesterday Trevino appointed General Luis Herrera supreme chief of Chihuahua. It was Herrera who gave the Associated Press a statement denying the report that Villa had been caught and was being brought in for execution.

This was the only statement to reach the border from Chihuahua, and Mexican officials at Juarez were awaiting the arrival of Civil Governor Enrique for additional information.

Villa's partisans who sought sanctuary here when their government collapsed at no time gave any credence to the reported capture of their chief.

MEN LOYAL.

"The only way in which Villa could be captured," said Perez Rul, his former secretary, who arrived here some time ago, "would be through the treachery of some of his followers and while he was asleep. This is improbable. No man in Mexico commands more the loyalty of his men, no one sleeps less, and no man would be quicker than he to take his own life rather than surrender."

Carranza authorities denied that there had been any bandit attack on Parral, as stated in reports several days ago, which declared that a Chinese cook had been killed and that the caretakers of the closed mines in that vicinity had been robbed. It was stated, also, that Carranza and the military chiefs, who left Queretaro for Celaya several days ago, had returned to Queretaro.

Railroad Testimony Used by Governor

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—The second day's hearing of the $300,000,000 oil land action brought by the federal government against the Southern Pacific Company and other corporations was taken up with the reading today of testimony given at the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific unmerging case a year ago.

Frank Schoonover read into the record the testimony of Julius Kruttschnitt and other Southern Pacific officials in the unmerger proceedings. At that time the railroads claimed to be practically one concern, denying they were in any sense competitors. In the present suit the government contends that, as one concern, they wrongfully held control of valuable mineral lands, representing to the government that they had not known of the existence of oil upon them.

GAS CAUSES FIRE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—A hundred occupants of the Monte Cristo Hotel, 646 Pacific street, were awakened this morning when fire broke out as the result of an explosion of gas. Damage to the amount of $500 resulted.

WASHINGTON ANXIOUS FOR CONFIRMATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Reports from the border that General Villa had been captured were heard with eager interest in official and diplomatic circles, but so far no official information on the subject had come to either the state department or the Mexican embassy.

At the embassy it was stated that if the capture took place probably no report would be received from the military commander at Chihuahua before tomorrow. While not disposed to accept unofficial news, the Mexican officials had their hopes aroused by the dispatches and promptly telegraphed Chihuahua for immediate advice.

It was pointed out that it was entirely probable that Villa had been betrayed by some of his own followers, who has been deserting him by the wholesale since the surrender of his main army in Chihuahua.

Even though he has been regarded lately only as a troublesome and a dangerous factor, the removal of Villa from the Mexican situation is looked on here as a long step by Carranza toward restoring peace.

FELIX DIAZ DENIES REVOLUTION PLANS

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—General Felix Diaz issued a statement here last night, denying that he had planned or is planning another revolution in Mexico.

"Even if I had favored such a course," he said, "I should never have carried it out, for the reason that the United States has recognized Carranza. The United States has said that Carranza must be given a chance to enforce order in Mexico. I believe that it is right and just. I will do nothing until Carranza either proves or disproves his capacity for rule.

"Personally, I have no confidence in Carranza. I do not believe he can succeed. There seems to me to be no man in Mexico strong and able enough to bring peace to the country. My belief is that the only way the Mexican problem ever will be settled is when the United States assembles the truly great and substantial men who have been exiled from Mexico and returns them to their country, backed by the influence of the United States. I am positively opposed to intervention by the United States on any grounds. If time shows that I can be of service to my country I shall not be found wanting."

ARMED JAPANESE REPORTED IN MEXICO

CALEXICO, Cal., Jan. 21.—N. G. Paredes, the Carranza consul here, is preparing to investigate a report that between 300 and 400 armed Japanese are encamped in the Sierra del Pinal mountains of Lower California, at a point near Jacumba. Reports of the presence of the Japanese were furnished Consul Paredes by a United States immigration officer, who visited that section recently, it was said.

Consul Paredes is of the opinion that the "Japanese" were Mexican laborers, garbed in khaki, who, because of their dress, were mistaken for Japanese.

HER SON SUBJECT TO CROUP.

"My son Edwin is subject to croup," writes Mrs. E. O. Irwin, New Kensington, Pa. "I put in many sleepless hours at night before I learned of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need not fear this disease if they keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and use it as directed. It always gave my boy relief." For sale by Osgood Bros. NEW INDUSTRY IN TUNGSTEN MINING

California One State Which Draws Profit From Ores.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The production of tungsten ores in the United States during 1915 broke the record and was apparently equivalent to about 2165 short tons of concentrates, carrying 60 per cent of tungsten trioxide (WO3), and was valued at more than $2,000,000. These figures are based on preliminary returns to the United States Geological Survey. The largest previous output of tungsten ore was in 1910, when 1521 tons was produced.

Conditions and prices in the tungsten market were unsettled and somewhat anomalous. Although the price in the latter part of 1914 was $9 or more a unit, 60 per cent ore was sold in the early part of 1915 as low as $5.80 a unit, so that tungsten mining did not start very briskly. Early in the summer, however, floods of orders for munitions of war caused a great demand for high-speed steels, to be used in cutting shells, rifle barrels, etc.; an embargo was declared by the British Government on the export of tungsten ores from any part of the British possessions, and there was soon a country-wide scramble for tungsten ores.

VARIOUS CONTRACTS.

Probably no one foresaw the height to which the price of tungsten would rise, and some operators contracted for ores at prices which in ordinary years would be high, but which were soon exceeded by several hundred per cent. Tungsten metal was also contracted for at prices much below those afterward reached. In the fall the prices of tungsten reached unheard-of heights; $48 per unit was paid for numerous lots, $50 for some, and even higher prices were reported. The prices moved upward so rapidly and unexpectedly that strenuous tungsten prospecting did not follow at once, but early in the fall a large number of men were in the field looking for deposits.

CALIFORNIA MINE.

In the Atolia (California) field there were great developments. The Atolia Mining Co. is reported to have employed more than 300 men, and many men worked the desert sands in the vicinity for float scheelite. P. J. Osdick discovered rich ore east of the Atolia Mining Co.'s property and made large profits. On and near the Baltic claim a number of men worked the gravel of a shallow gulch for scheelite and the sands on the Sunshine and other claims are also reported to have been worked at a profit. Several gold mines also produced some scheelite. The Consolidated Gold Mines, in Randsburg, had found water at a depth of about 500 feet and this has been piped to the Atolia Mining Co.'s mill, about 5 miles distant. Formerly water was hauled on the railroad for a distance of about 50 miles. The company is reported to have erected a new mill to treat its tailings.

MANY MILLS.

Several discoveries of tungsten ores were reported from Gilpin county, Colo., but the most extensive discoveries, as indicated by the number of outcrops, were made in White Pine county, Nev. Veins of scheelite were found at several places between the Minerva district, 30 miles south of Osceola, and Cherry Creek, 50 miles north of the settlement. Some of the veins were formerly prospected for precious metals, but the scheelite was not recognized. The hubnerite mine and mill twelve miles south of Osceola were actively operated toward the close of the season; the mill at Camp Bonita, on the east side of the Snake Range, was operated part of the year, and mills were erected or started by the St. Anthony Mines Co. at Toy (Browns), Humboldt county, by A. R. Shepard and associates in the Reagan district, and by the Doyle Mining Co. in Sacramento Pass, White Pine county. Some hubnerite was dry washed from desert sands at Round Mountain and Spanish Springs, Nev.

RUSSIANS AGAIN FIGHTING FIERCELY

English Repulsed in Attack With Deadly Smoke Bombs.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—An attack by the British with the use of smoke bombs on the German positions north of Frelinghien, Northern France, is announced in the official statement by German army headquarters. It is declared the attack was beaten off with heavy loss to the British.

Increasingly violent fighting on the Bessarabian frontier is announced by the Vienna war office, but it is declared all the attacks of superior Russian forces have been repulsed with heavy losses to them.

"The new battle on the Bessarabian front has increased in violence. Tenacious attacks by superior Russian forces between Tapporoutz and Boyan were repulsed. The enemy several times during the engagements entered our trenches, but were each time repulsed in hand-to-hand fighting, with heavy losses.

"At one place the Sixth and Thirteenth Honved regiments made a vigorous counter-attack. The ground before the trenches was covered with dead Russians. On the fighting ground of certain batallions were counted as many as 800 to 1000 bodies of Russians who had been killed.

"The front held by Generals Palanzer and Baltin in under the fire of Russian artillery.

"There have been artillery duels in Eastern Galacia."

Redding "Wets" Ready for Coming Campaign

REDDING, Jan. 21.—The wets of Shasta county have begun to organize for the battle with the drys, the outcome of which is to be settled at the polls next November.

D. D. Bowman, special attorney of the United California Industries, and F. B. Armstrong of Sacramento, secretary for the northern division, arrived in Redding and called a meeting of the business men who are particularly interested in the State remaining wet.

Over fifty business men from Redding, including representatives from Igo, Ono and Keswick, attended the meeting. Organization was effected at the meeting.

John W. Harris Kills Himself at Factory

Opening the carriage and automobile factory of John W. Harris this morning W. L. Hunting, an employe, discovered his employer stretched out upon the floor with a bullet through his head. Harris left his home at 575 Claremont avenue shortly after 6 o'clock this morning and within the next hour was found dead. Apparently the dead man had just entered his place of business when he took his life.

His overcoat was wrapped tight around his neck and within a few feet of the body was a 38-caliber revolver with one cartridge discharged. Hunting immediately notified the police and Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen detailed Inspector Kyle to investigate the case.

According to relatives of Harris he had been morose over business and financial affairs of late and gave this as the only cause for his committing suicide.

The dead man had been prominently identified with the automobile and carriage upholstering industry for many years, operating a large factory at 292 Twenty-fourth street. Harris is survived by a widow and two children. He was 51 years old.

Dynamite Is Stolen; Sheriff Gives Warning

"Don't put your money in a safe because it may not be safe," Sheriff Barnet is advising today.

It was reported to the authorities of the bay cities that 40 sticks of dynamite together with fuse and percussion caps had been stolen from a quarry of the Hutchinson Company near Sisso.

"This work is characteristic of professional yeggs," said Sheriff Barnet today. "Thefts of this kind usually precede work by safe-crackers."

Character Witnesses Called by Defendant

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—A number of character witnesses were examined this morning at the trial of Edward Carr and Rollie York, former Oakland policemen accused of counterfeiting. Besides the prisoners there was called to the stand Mrs. Irene Carr, wife of one of the defendants, who told of the various occupations followed by her husband. It is expected that the case will go to the jury today.

HAVE YOUR NEW SUIT CHARGED!

Do you pay cash for everything you buy, Sir? Few men do. Think it over. It's customary for men to buy many of life's necessities on Credit. In fact, it is such a prevalent habit that you scarcely think anything about it.

But have you ever bought Clothes this way? Lots of men do. For instance, at Cherry's Clothing Store, at 528 Thirteenth St. you can get a new Suit TODAY and have it charged. If your CREDIT is good at other stores it is good at CHERRY'S. All you have to do is make a small initial payment when you select your suit. Then you arrange with the Credit Department a schedule of weekly or monthly payments.

Cherry's stores transacted an enormous business during 1915. The reason this concern's patronage grows month by month and year by year is because they treat their customers right. Suits and overcoats are moderately priced and may be purchased on liberal Credit Terms.

Cherry's other store is located at 515 Thirteenth St. and is exclusively for women's apparel. Their San Francisco addresses are 1009 Market St. and 2400 Mission St. Other stores Portland, Los Angeles and Sacramento.

All stores open Saturday evening. —Advertisement.

Victim Revives and Kills Robber in Duel

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 21.—A few minutes after he had been beaten into unconsciousness by two robbers and robbed of $2.10 and a gold watch, Joe Hing, a Chinese restaurateur, regained consciousness, started after the robbers, fought a running revolver duel with them for four blocks and finally shot and killed one of the robbers here today.

The dead man is believed to be Byron H. Fox of this city. A card found in his clothing asked that in case of accident Mrs. K. Fox of 141 North Broadway, Salt Lake City, Utah, be notified.

Hing recovered his watch and money from the clothing of the dead man.

MEN MAROONED ON FIRE ISLAND

Signal Flames Flash Across Channel; Rescue Fails.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 21.—Signal fires, which were built on the Cook Inlet shore opposite Fire Island, last night, were answered by similar fires from the men marooned there by the Cook Inlet ice field. Two attempts were made to cross the channel to the island to succor the marooned men, but these failed because of the high wind and the drifting ice. Another attempt will be made by a better organized party which will attempt to cross the channel with a power boat.

It is persistently reported that the marooned men are Captain Cramer and his crew of the launch Traveler, which has not been heard of since leaving Seldovia for Anchorage soon after Christmas. The men who reported yesterday that the derelict in the ice field was not the Traveler, said today that they could not get close enough to the wrecked boat to be positive and that it might be the Traveler, although the rigging was not the same as the vessel had when she left here several weeks ago.

The men who were with Captain Cramer when he left here were Ed Kraus, Claud Pierce and John Amman.

Youthful Slayer of Girl's Assailant Freed

STOCKTON, Jan. 21.—Biase Guadagnolo, an 18-year-old boy who shot and killed Pasquale Pancrazio, because of his attack on his niece, was exonerated by a coroner's jury. The jurors shook the hand of the slayer when they allowed him to go free.

While a boarder in the home of Antonio Guadagnolo, in Spokane, Wash., in March, 1914, Pancrazio lured Josephine Guadagnolo, a Millwood schoolgirl, from her home and kept her prisoner for nine days. He was sentenced to from one to ten years in the Washington state penitentiary at Monroe, from which he was recently paroled.

Meanwhile Antonio Guadagnolo moved to Stockton with his wife and seven children and sent for his younger brother, Biase Guadagnolo, who recently arrived from Italy. Today while the father of the girl was at work, Pancrazio appeared on the scene and declared that he had come for Josephine.

Mrs. Guadagnolo retired to the house with her children and brother-in-law and barricaded the doors.

Whitney's Widow Wins Contest for Allowance

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Lucy A. Whitney, widow of Joel Parker Whitney, has won in the Supreme Court in an appeal taken by the executors of her late husband's estate from an order of the lower court granting her a family allowance during the administration of the estate in addition to an amount paid monthly to her under the terms of the will and commencing with the death of the testator.

Under the will Mrs. Whitney receives $1200 per month. Whitney died January 17, 1913, and she received these payments until June, 1914, when she petitioned the Probate Court for $1200 additional as a family allowance. This was granted by the lower court. The executors appealed. Mrs. Whitney will now receive $2400 per month until the estate is distributed and thereafter will receive $1200 per month until her death.

Bomb Plot Stopped by a Timely Arrest

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—A bomb plot, apparently directed against the Municipal building, was frustrated early this evening when the police arrested two men, members of a gang the detectives of the "bomb" squad have been shadowing for three months.

For more than an hour they watched one of the suspected men as he walked furtively about the Municipal building, carrying a canvas suitcase, in which was hidden a powerful bomb. The man appeared to be seeking a spot in which to leave the explosive.

The prisoner's arrest was followed by that of his companion.

Alkali Makes Soap Bad for Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. About a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

Army Officers Called to Make Charge Good

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 21.—Officers of the Twelfth United States Cavalry, comrades in arms of Lieutenant Joseph Guznik, army aviator and the "handsomest man in the army," who rushed to his defense when his wife, beautiful Mrs. Amy Kuznik, filed suit for divorce last week charging conduct unbecoming a gentleman and soldier in his affairs with the women of Fort Russell, have been invited by Attorney Charles H. Talbot to come to Denver and testify in the Kuznik divorce case.

They are also warned in the same communication to come prepared to "square" themselves with Mrs. Kuznik for the attack they made on her in a telegram they sent to a Denver newspaper for publication, in which they referred to her as having a vindictive and malicious mind, and as an irrational woman.

LOSES "BALM" CASE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—After ten hours of deliberations the jurors in the $25,000 breach of promise action of Cora Maude Clarke against John Leon Martin, broker, reported they were unable to agree upon a verdict. Supreme Court Justice Lehman discharged them.

A Message to Thin, Weak, Scrawny Folks

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say: "I can't understand why I do not get fat; I eat plenty of good, nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. A splendid way of working to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to try Sargol, the famous flesh building agent that has been so widely sold in America in recent years. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and see if your cheeks don't quickly fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh form over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point.

Osgood Bros. Drug Store, Oakland, and other good druggists have Sargol or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each large package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

NOTE—Sargol is recommended only as a flesh builder and while excellent results in cases of nervous indigestion, etc., have been reported, care should be taken about using it unless a gain of weight is desired.

Looks as Though Jimmy Johnston Was Lost to Oakland With No Recompense

BILL ABSTEIN IS CANNED BEFORE HE GETS STARTED

Rowdy Having Enough First Base Talent Gives Bill to Wichita.

(By BILLY FITZ.)

Looks like the Oakland Club has been given the double cross on the Jimmy Johnston case.

As told in The TRIBUNE last night, Charles Ebbetts of the Brooklyn club has purchased from Harry Sinclair, ex-Fed. magnate, the release of the outfielder, who jumped to the outlaws in November last. The dispatch containing this information comes as a complete surprise here, but is taken to indicate that Ebbetts received some sort of permission from the National Commission to go ahead and secure the player. Oakland's claim to Johnston has apparently been ignored, and yet the player never played with the Federals, and could have easily been made to return any advance money he had accepted from them. If O. B. figures the Oaks have no claim at all on Johnston, they are taking the same attitude they so condemned in the Federals. The Oakland club will fight the case to a finish.

A wire from Rowdy Elliott at Hot Springs, Arkansas, instructed Assistant Secretary McFarlin to give Bill Abstein his release. Elliott figures that having Malcolm Barry, Carl Ely and Duke Danzig he has enough first base talent, and can afford to let Wichita (Western league) have Abstein. So he it!

"Fog horn" Murphy, the Oakland and Seal announcer, reports that he expects to have a great season next year. He has perfected a new delivery which he says is even more effective than the one he knocked the fans over with last year.

A lot of fellows like "Dutch" Klawitter and "Spider" Baum are apparently satisfied when they can deceive the batter, but Murphy is more ambitious. Murphy deceives everybody in the ball park. In addition to his wonderful deceptive delivery, Murphy is also a good man for team work and team harmony, as he never betrays any club secrets. Never yet has he been known to expose who the batteries are or what players ar expected to participate in the game. Any time a pinch hitter is thrown into the game, Murphy can be depended upon to keep his identity a profound secret. This is no doubt a great aid to Manager "Rowdy" Elliott, as it prevents the opposing pitcher from pitching to the batter's weakness, as would be the case if the batter's identity were exposed.

Murphy has not yet signed his 1916 contract. Now that the Feds are gone and that there are no more snares luring the ball tossers, the Oak management wants Murphy to stand for a small cut in his salary. Murphy can't see why he is subjected to the same treatment accorded the ball players.

But if it is true that Murphy has perfected a delivery that is more deceptive than any he has yet used, and his vocal cords hold under the strain, 1916 should be a banner year for him. If such is the case, President Leavitt of the Oakland Club should spare little effort in signing Murphy, for who knows but that Martin Beck or "Flo" Ziegfeld may be on his trail.

"The Confessions of an Umpire," which is the title under which Umpire Bill Brennan of the National League is writing stories for eastern sport pages, sounds funny indeed. If we were Bill we would change the title, for the fact that he is still alive and at liberty shows that it isn't a complete confession.

Los Angeles baseball experts are pointing out to the fans why Barry, the first sacker whom Elliott secured from the Jersey City Club of the International League is not going to make good in this circuit. "Take the case of Gus Gleischmann, the Tiger first sacker, for instance, says the Los Angeles story. Gus batted exactly .289 in the International Circuit two years ago when that league had several better pitchers in its midst. Besides Gus is admitted to be a great fielder. On the coast, Gleischmann has only batted at a .245 clip which is not even fair for a first baseman. And as Barry is nowhere the fielder Gleischmann is, how does he figure to fill the gap left vacant by Jack Ness, if he bats only .245."

They point to the fact that Gus Gleischmann, the Tiger initial sacker, batted .289, the same as did Barry, in the International League circuit. Besides, Gleischmann is admitted to be a far superior fielding first sacker, which makes matters all the more difficult for the new Oak to make good. First sackers who can't hit over .245 are not wanted in this league, is the way the Los Angeles scribes look at it.

"Big Bill" Prough, the speed ball demon of the Oaks, has been wintering in Oakland and devoting himself principally to checkers. Prough claims the checker championship of the diamond, and promises to defeat all comers when the bunch gathers at Boyes Springs. The big fellow is ten pounds lighter than he was last summer, and looks to be in far better condition than at any time since the White Sox turned him over to Oakland. "I'll be there with the bells this season," said Prough this morning, "I didn't feel right at any time last year, and lost so many hard luck games that it discouraged me. This year, I figure that the breaks will about turn in my favor."

Word comes from Ray Boyd who is herding pigs in Indiana on his brother's ranch. Boyd's broken wrist has completely healed and he is keeping his arm in condition by hurling rocks at prize porkers. Boyd is expected to be one of the club's mainstays in the box this year.

This year happens to be leap year. We have five managers in the Coast league who have been shot by Dan Cupid—but one has evaded the famous little bow and arrow expert and that is Harold Elliott, the chubby little leader of the Oaks. But look out, Rowdy!

The Los Angeles club has asked for waivers on Tom Garner and Harry Harper, outfielders; Mose Arkenburg and Hi West, pitchers; and Joe Berger, third baseman. It was stated some time ago that the players would not be retained for next season and the matter of asking for waivers was purely formal. Fans and players in the Coast League regret the passing of Berger, as he is one of the cleanest ball players in the league. His weakness as a hitter was the cause of his being replaced. Johnny Butler of the Northwest League and "Goldie" Rapps, late of St. Joe, will fight it out for the vacancy this spring.

BILL LEARD MAY MANAGE SEATTLE

PORTLAND, Jan. 21.—Advices received here today indicate that Bill Leard of the San Francisco Coast League will be appointed manager of the Seattle Northwestern League team, succeeding Tenny Raymond, who will become manager of the Spokane Indians. Leard, upon hearing that he was to be released by Manager Wolverton, obtained permission to make a deal for himself, and as he is a great friend of Owner Dugdale of the Seattle team, it is believed that he will be Raymond's successor. Leard stated that he had a position as manager of a Northwestern League team in view. Leard, when he played with Seattle several seasons ago, was a great favorite with fans.

The Nordfeutscher Schuetzen are just about to wind up their shooting for the season of 1915 and with one or two more meets they will als start a new program.

LEE JOHNSON MEETS JOHNNY ARROUSEY

Lee Johnson, the clever little colored lad who gave Willie Moppe a merry time at the Wheelmen Club Wednesday, will have another hard task on his hands on the coming Wednesday night when he mixes with Johnny Arrousey, the Los Angeles flash, in the main event bout of the West Oakland Club. The two will weigh in at about 128 pounds for the bout. Jimmy Dundee and Jimmy Duffy meet in the special event.

BILLIARDS

Willie Hoppe threatens to make a spendthrift of George Sutton, the veteran Chicago balkliner. George is well heeled as a result of his ability to save his earnings, but every so often he kicks over the traces, utterly disregards the laws of frugality, takes the rubber off the bank roll and posts from $250 to $1000 as a side bet to play Hoppe for the 18.2 balkline championship of which Willie is the proud possessor.

Only last week Sutton laid down a defi to Hoppe, posting $500 with the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company as a forfeit to bind a match with the New York star and naming but two conditions—the one that the match be played in Chicago in April next and the other that the contest be of three or six nights' duration, which would mean that they play 1500 or 3000 points. Sutton further betrays his recklessness by offering to play Hoppe, winner take all if the champion so elects.

Apprised of Sutton's challenge, Hoppe has informed George that he will pass through Chicago late this month at which time he will discuss terms for a match with him. Sutton is playing great billiards in practice, hence his latest show of spunk.

R. B. Brunner, who is making a lecture on Billiards very popular, gave a talk to the members of the Union League Club in San Francisco last Saturday night. The talk made a hit and the series will be continued to six lectures. Saturday night is the time and the Union League Club the place. Brunner's idea is new and is educational in a game that needs elucidating, and, better still, is making good.

: Hopes to Bloom as Coast League Wonder Again :

This is Howard Ehmke, the sensational young high school pitcher, who hurled to the Feds after a sensational season with Los Angeles and who is now preparing for a coast league "come-back" as a member of Frank Chance's pitching staff. Ehmke hurt his arm with Buffalo, but appears to have recovered entirely.

BASKETBALL

The St. Joseph's Midgets basketball team defeated the Berkeley Y. M. C. A.'s 80-pound team at Peralta Hall gym. on Wednesday evening, by a score of 28 to 9. Features of the game were the team work of the Midgets and the field goals made by Captain Young and "Freeney" Dufault. This makes the ninth straight game for the "Midgets."

The "dauntless five" would like to hear from any 80-pound team around the bay.

Lineups:

Midgets—Young and Dufault, forwards; Rafferty, center; Rennie and Duffy, guards; Pfitzer and Simon, substitutes.

Berkeley Y. M. C. A.—Christenson and Thor, forwards; Provost, center; Fender and Mills, guards; Hiscox, substitute.

Goals scored by Young 8, Dufault 3, Rafferty 2, Thor 3, Provost 1.

Fouls scored by Dufault 2.

Referees, Beck and Patton.

Score at half-time, 16 to 2.

The Calana Club 120-pound basketball team defeated the Technical high school at the Armory hall on January 19, by a score of 31 to 15. A feature of the game was the all-around playing of the Calana team, teamwork and good shooting featuring. Lineups:

Tech—High—Cleary and Vincent, forwards; Hindlund, center; Reid and Sutton, guards.

Calana Club—Munday Yager and Lewis, forwards; center, Wood; Heuinger, McDowell and Harold, guards.

Goals scored by Calana club: Yager 1, Lewis 6, Woods 3, Harold 1. By Tech.—Cleary 2, Vincent 2. Fouls scored by McDowell 3, Munday 2.

Referee—Fassett.

Score at half-time, 18 to 5.

St. Mary's College 145 pounders have also arranged a strenuous schedule. The team is due to meet the strong Spartan Club tomorrow night on St. Mary's court. Following are the games arranged:

January—Friday 21, Spartan Club at S. M. C.; Tuesday, 25, Battery B at S. M. C.; Friday, 28, Berkeley Y. M. C. A. at S. M. C.

February, Tuesday, 1, Annex Club at S. M. C.; Friday, 4, Calanda Club at S. M. C.; Tuesday, 8, Saint Joseph's Club at S. M. C.; Friday, 11, Fillmegis Club at S. M. C.; Tuesday, 15, Saint Patrick's Soddality at S. M. C.; Friday, 18, Spartan Club at S. M. C.; Tuesday, 22, Battery B at S. M. C.; Friday, 25, Oakland Y. M. C. A. at S. M. C.; Tuesday, 29, San Rafael High at San Rafael.

After a month's lay-off the Aenix five did the Rip Van Winkle last night and awoke with a vengeance by trouncing the Tech. High team 54-18. The terrific score would give the impression that Tech did not have a chance, which is not true. They were beaten only by their lack of team work, and with a few more games and some good practice they will be able to give any team a battle worthy of any high school.

The Aenix five played its usual fast and aggressive game. Tech's forwards were practically helpless under the airtight guarding of Spencer and Meyers, while the score shows the ability of Forwards Fabry, Saulpaugh and Boyer to loose their guards and roll the ball in the basket. Cate played his usual star game at center, scoring 3 field goals, while Saulpaugh scored 3 field goals and 4 fouls. Other goals scored: Boyer 5, Spencer 2.

The Aenix team would like to hear from some fast teams either in the city or country. Address C. Spencer, 1419 Brush, Oakland, Manager. Phone Oakland 6725.

The St. Ambrose 145-pound team defeated the Spartans of Fruitvale by the score of 53 to 33. The team work of the winners was the feature of the game. Smith and Avery starred at forwards, with White at center and Palmgren and Jordhay at guards.

U. C. TENNIS TEAM SHOWS PROMISE

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—California's 1916 tennis season will start this year with only two varsity men back in college, Captain R. L. Lipman and E. H. Rogers are the only two remaining veterans.

Five candidates who played on their class teams last season are good material for this year's team and show signs of considerable promise. R. C. Van Vliet, who was the winner of the senior class tournament last semester, and C. P. Peterson are the two senior members of the squad. R. C. Clark, a member of his freshman class team, will be a candidate, as will be A. B. Gravem of the junior class and W. A. Godshall.

Captain Lipman announced yesterday that California has entered into an intercity tournament, composed of teams from the bay cities and Sacramento and San Jose. Although no definite schedule has been drawn up, the varsity's first game in this tourney will be played about March 1, and followed by one each week thereafter. Tentative rules for the series announced by Lipman are that the teams will be limited to eight men; that the schedule will include eight singles and four doubles; that each match will count one point, and that the championship will be awarded on a percentage basis. The winning club is to be presented with a cup.

LANGER WILL SWIM FOR U. C.

BERKELEY, Jan. 21.—Ludy Langer, University of California swimming captain and holder of several world's records in the aquatic world, was authorized by the executive committee to represent the university in the Mid-Pacific Swimming Carnival in Honolulu on February 22, subject to the approval of the president's office. Langer will defend the world's record in the 220-yard and quarter-mile events, leaving San Francisco on February 8 and returning on March 6. His trip will be made without expense to the university, being at the invitation of the carnival committee.

At the same meeting Chairman J. P. Hotchkiss of the intercollegiate agreement committee made his formal report to the executive committee and Chairee Hall made several minor suggestions as to the exact wording of the Stanford agreement, which has not been signed as yet by the committee members.

McALLISTER TACKLES DYER TONIGHT

Bob McAllister will make his second appearance in the revived four-round ranks at Dreamland pavilion tonight against Fred Dyer, an Australian who has been highly touted. The special will be furnished by Lee Johnson and Eddie Shannon. The other bouts will be: Jack Burns vs. Chris George, Harry Dell vs. Jimmy Fox, Joe Ferro vs. Dude Clark, Bobby Johnson vs. Al Grunau and Jimmy Ford vs. Pete Tavas.

BOXING NOTES

Kansas City fight followers are likely to see Otto Wallace and Frankie Burns, who scrapped a hot draw there, in action again. The Academy Athletic club practically has matched the two lightweights to appear again February 1. In the meantime Wallace will battle Packey Hennessey in Minneapolis and Burns may meet Jeany Palmer in Memphis.

Wallace and his manager, Tommy Dixon, will leave today for Milwaukee Wallace's home. He will spend a day or two there before proceeding to Minneapolis, where he boxes Hennessy the night of January 26. Burns received the offer to box Palmer in Memphis a week or two ago and hasn't decided yet whether to take the date.

Fred Welsh can hardly overlook the latest offer made for a Welsh-White bout in New Orleans. Dominick Tortorich comes to the fore with a $13,000 guarantee for the champion if he will meet the hard hitting Chicago lightweight in a twenty round contest to a referee's decision. Nate Lewis, the Chicago boy's manager, has agreed to add an additional $1000 to this New Orleans guarantee to go toward paying Welsh's training expenses.

"It can be seen that we are in earnest," said Lewis after he returned from Boston where White lost a decision to Matt Wells. "If the house only comes to $14,000 we fight for nothing besides losing our own $1000. Welsh has been saying that White is ducking around a bush in the matter of arranging a fight. Nothing of the sort. The latest offer stops all that silly talk. If Welsh is sincere about his plans to let some good American get a crack at that title, here is the chance to show it."

Willie Ritchie, though he got a terrific lacing at the hands of the Englishman Ted Lewis in Madison Square Garden, is still convinced that he can do a lot better against Jimmy Johnson's "slashing, smashing, crashing, dashing" fighter. Willie complained after the fight that he could not get started in time to match the mad-whirling fist Britisher. Willie didn't get going, as a matter of fact, until the last three rounds. Then he was going great guns and he had the Englishman dog tired. Jim Corbett sat at the ringside that night and commented on Willie's late start.

"He should have come into the ring warmed up a bit, as old Bob Fitzsimmons used to do," said Jim. "Crafty Bob would spar three or four rounds with his henchmen and when he came into the ring carefully wrapped in his big robe he was ready and ready to continue where he had left off in the dressing room. It was a great trick and one that a slow beginner like Ritchie should adopt."

Ritchie talked about Lewis the other night:

"I'd like to meet him again," he said. "I'll swear that I can do better against him. I will admit that I never saw so many gloves flying through the air before. Gee, it was like a hail storm. I was told that the Englishman could not hit. Say, I've been hit a lot of times by the toughest of them during my career and I'll admit that Kid Lewis hit as hard as any of them. The fact that he marked me up more than I ever was before in a fight means that he was doing some sort of hitting. He has a good right hand punch to the head that you can't get away from. He is by far the best man I ever met."

Ritchie Mitchell, youngster who calls Milwaukee his home town, and who gave Johnny Kilbane such a tough time of it recently, looks to be the coming lightweight champion. The beauty of it all is he can make the lightweight limit, 133 pounds, at ringside. If he becomes champion he will insist on that notch, which is the legitimate lightweight figure. The present crop of welters and near-welterweights who cannot scale below 135 to 140 six hours before the battle will be a thing of the past.

Jack Dillon is hungry for fight—and with appetite unsatiated.

Dillon occupies a peculiar position in the ring—a fighter who can not get a fight. He wants to fight the heavies. He's willing to "spot" them from forty to eighty pounds, and from three inches to a foot in height, but even at that they don't want his stuff.

Dillon is a truly marvelous fighter, one of those rarities—the man with the fighting heart. Tom Sharkey had such a heart; so did John L. and Bob Fitzsimmons. But when they passed out of the pugilistic limelight, fighting hearts became extinct among the heavies until Dillon hove into view.

"I'll fight any man in the game today, and I won't quibble over weights, heights or terms," asserts Dillon.

PECKED BABY'S EYES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Bessie Boudoff of No. 817 Park avenue, Brooklyn, was appointed by Supreme Court Justice Van Siclen of that borough guardian of her 2-year-old baby, Sadie, for the purpose of bringing a suit for damages in the child's behalf against Abraham Markowitz, a market man, at No. 257 Ellery street, Brooklyn.

Mrs. Boudoff says in her petition that Markowitz on December 9 last handled a live chicken in such a "careless, negligent and improper manner" that it pecked her child in the right eye.

Reminiscences of a Veteran Sporting Editor

By MR. MULDOON.

The quick finish of Young Ahearn by Mike Gibbons at St. Paul the other night was one of those things that often happen in the prize ring.

In less than two minutes Gibbons landed his haymaker and put his opponent to sleep.

That quick finish reminds me very much of the battle between Tom Sharkey and Jack Munroe at Philadelphia, except that in that case Sharkey just missed scoring a knockout in the first two minutes of fighting.

How he missed it no one but Munroe can tell to this day.

The house was full, the silence was intense and the gong had just soundnd. Sharkey, who had been fighting all sorts of fellows, Jeffries, Fitzsimmons, Ruhlin and the rest looked on Munroe as a dub and he made up his mind to land the bacon in a jiffy.

No sooner had the gong struck than he rushed at Munroe, swinging his powerful arms like flails and with awful rapidity.

Munroe not looking for anything of that sort had scarcely got into position and before he could place himself Tom had landed flush on his jaw.

Down went Munroe like a log, the building rang with cheers and the crowd got up, ready to move for home. It looked as though the fight was all over. But the remarkable vitality of Munroe asserted itself, and at the count of nine he arose, smiling, and squared himself to renew the fray. Again Sharkey rushed in, swinging those fists, whose impact could crush stone. Munroe was ready this time. The knockdown had awakened his fighting instinct. As Sharkey plunged forward Munroe darted in to meet him, sheltering his face and neck behind his bent left arm. At the same time Munroe's right fist thudded against Sharkey's left short ribs with every ounce of his energy driving it. It was the punch perfected; it did the work mapped out for it, and Sharkey went down before it. But, like Munroe, Sharkey came back and the two went the six rounds to no decision, but each respecting the other's hitting power.

* * *

But there have been plenty of other battles between good men that lasted no longer than the battle between Gibbons and Ahearn lasted at St. Paul. Fitzsimmons on several occasions wound up all the business he had to do in the very first round. He did this even in his fight with Peter Maher in Langtry, Tex., who he finished in their first pass in the first round. But the quickest finish Fitz ever brought about was that of Jeff Thorne, the British middle-weight champion, whom he met in Tattersall's, Chicago, in October, 1899. Fitz and Thorne had had words before the fight, and the Cornishman had promised to stand the Englishman on his head when he got him in the ring. And this threat Fitz virtually made good, for in the very first round of their fight he landed his left on Thorne's jaw. The Britisher pivoted, landed on his head with his feet in the air and remained in that position until the referee called him out.

* * *

But the best of boxers sometimes are given a knockout blow at the very beginning of a battle. Even as crafty a boxer as Kid McCoy was sometimes dealt a surprise party. One of the greatest he ever received was when he met Jack McCormick, the Philadelphia boxer, on the stage of the old Star theater at Chicago. McCormick was regarded as a very good trial horse, being as well a heavyweight wrestler and trainer. Everybody felt sorry for the stranger, despite the vastness of his physical proportions, when he drew off his robe and stood up to face the lacing the crowd thought McCoy surely would deal out to him.

* * *

McCoy didn't weigh much over 160 pounds at the time and looked like a little boy alongside of the massive 190 pounds of solid front Jack presented to him. It was plain that McCoy had all the skill and speed in his favor, and his splendid footwork, without being flashy, carried him so nicely out of range that McCormick during the first minute was made to look like a truck horse. A half-dozen lightning-like lefts to McCormick's face put plenty of pink there and appeared to fluster the big man. McCormick never let up in his rushing tactics, however, twice sprawling badly as the slippery Kid sidestepped and clipped the big man as he flew by. Then McCoy made a fatal mistake. He stood still, evidently looking for an opening through which to land that left hook of his. He knew he could bring the giant down with it if he landed.

* * *

McCoy must have seen it coming. Likewise he must have miscalculated its direction and force. The small man jerked his head back with a snap, but he didn't get it back far enough. The glove landed on McCoy's cheek, fairly plowed its way through the jaw down to the breast, stopping there with a resounding thud. In truth, the blow split through him as much as one might expect a cleaver would. McCoy was fairly shot in his brain. His arms dropped to his sides and he toppled slowly but heavily on his back. He fell partly under the front rope, arms widespread, and never moved a muscle as Referee Malachy Hogan tolled off the seconds. It wasn't necessary to count. Never was a boxer so completely "out." The big crowd, stunned for an instant at the queer turn, then broke into a frenzy of yell, and those who could reach McCormick carried him around on their shoulders. It was a crazy scene at the finish.

LEWIS AND BRITTON DRAW.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Ted Lewis of England and Jack Britton of Chicago fought a fast ten-round draw here last night. Britton shaded his opponent in the early rounds, but Lewis more than evened honors in the last three rounds. Lewis weighed 142 pounds and Britton 144.

The S. P. Store team and Broadway Billiards will finish their tilts with each other when they come together on the St. Mary's grounds Sunday afternoon. The brand of ball that the league teams have given the fans in that section has drawn the bush ball followers out in great numbers. There were several hundred people at the last game played on the college campus.

TEAM WORK OF OAKLAND 'Y' IS WINNING FACTOR

Street and Hjelte Register 15 Baskets Against Santa Clara.

The Oakland Y. M. C. A. unlimited basketball team won their sixteenth straight game of the season last night, when they took the measure of the University of Santa Clara by a score of 55 to 35, the clever team work of Ed Street and George Hjelte, the Golds' forwards, featuring the game. The two "Y" veterans, who for some seven years have been starring year in and year out for local basketball teams, registered fifteen baskets between them and also counted up seven fouls, thus accounting for 37 points.

The advantage of weight and experience told on the Santa Clara boys. They displayed amazing team work and even showed the more experienced "Y" boys up in that department of the game, but when it came to tussling for the ball and getting around their man the Golds were too large for them.

The game was a hard fight from the start, the Golds forging right into the lead and rolling up 32 points to the Prune Pickers' 15 in the first half.

The second half found both teams in great working order and some brilliant passing and difficult goal shots brought the crowd to their feet time after time. Both sides resorted to team work in this half, the Golds displaying an amazing offense and rolling up 23 points to the Santa Clara's 20.

The two teams meet again on Saturday night, this time on the Santa Clara court, where a great game ought to ensue.

The line-ups:

Oakland "Y."—Forwards, Street, G. Hjelte; center, M. Hjelte; guards, Waddell, Laughland.

Santa Clara—Forwards, Diaz, Scholz; center, Raftis; guards, Mulholland, Kosto.

Goals score—By Street 8, by G. Hjelte 2, by M. Hjelte 3, by Diaz 5, by Raftis 2, by Mulholland 4. Fouls scored—By Street 4, by G. Hjelte 3, by M. Hjelte 4, by Guarini 4, by Waddell 1, by Scholz 3, by Mulholland 1, by Raftis 5, by Kosto 2.

Referee—Otto Rittler.

GEORGE CHIP PROVES MASTER OF McCOY

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—George Chip of Newcastle, Pa., former middleweight champion, outfought Al McCoy of Brooklyn, present holder of the title, in a ten-round bout in Brooklyn last night. Chip was the aggressor throughout and inflicted severe punishment upon the man who took his laurels from him in April, 1914. He knocked McCoy down for the count of seven in the third round, but was unable to land a decisive blow. Chip weighed in at 157½ pounds and McCoy just two pounds heavier.

TRIBUNE LEAGUE

Speed Martin will pitch his farewell game for the Ambrose Tailors in the Tribune Mid-Winter League, Sunday, when the league leaders clash with the runners-up, the Lawlor's Stars. On the Tuesday following the game Martin, with several other local boys, will start on their trip to Honoluiu with the Olympic Club. Speed has been pitching some wonderful ball for the Tailors throughout the season and has been giving every team that tackled the Tailors the time of their lives. The trip to the Islands will consume about five weeks and upon his return Speed probably will hook up with some organized ball club.

Maxwell Hardware Company and the J. J. Kriegs will hook up in a double-header Sunday and two of the best games of the season are expected. Lindberg, for the the Kriegs, will probably do the twirling in both games.

GET RID OF SCROFULA HOW? TAKE S. S. S.

Fifty Years' Use Proves S. S. S. Will Relieve Stubborn Cases.

You have noticed the little festering pimples on the face and body—swelling of the glands—soreness in the legs and arm muscles. These are the symptoms of Scrofula. You may have some of these symptoms, possibly the taint of Scrofula infection. But in either case, it is a dangerous condition. Your blood is infected, impure, and you can never hope to gain perfect health until the impurities are washed from the system. If you feel badly all the time, you must crave health. If you want to feel renewed spirits, the glow of perfect health, bright eyes, clear skin, the knowledge that you are well, you can do so. Cleanse your blood by taking S. S. S. For fifty years it has been the standard blood purifier. It relieves the trouble by remuriating the blood, renewing its strength, and stimulating the flow, so that the blood regains its lost vitality and throws off the poison. Even long-standing cases respond. But you must use S. S. S. Take it for all blood infections. Get it at your druggist's today.

Said lease shall be made for a term of twenty-five years.

Said lease will be made by ordinance of the Council of the City of Oakland, and shall be accepted by the lessee in the manner and form to be prescribed in said ordinance, and shall contain the following conditions:

1. That the lessee shall construct at his or its own cost and expense and at a necessary cost and expense of at least One hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00) dock or warehouse upon said leased premises, according to plans and specifications to be approved by the Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Oakland, said dock or warehouse to be at least one hundred and sixty (160) feet wide and at least eight hundred (800) feet long and to be constructed in a substantial and workmanlike manner. Said dock or warehouse may be of frame construction or of a more permanent type of construction, at the option of the lessee; and said lessee may construct said dock of one or two stories at its option, or it may construct a portion of said dock of two stories, and the balance of one story, with the privilege of adding the additional second story at such time during the term of said lease as the demands of business may, in the judgment of said lessee, justify such additional construction. Said dock or warehouse shall be constructed by means of a contract let by said lessee to the lowest responsible bidder, after giving reasonable public notice inviting bids for the construction of said warehouse. Said construction shall be commenced in good faith within ninety (90) days from and after the date of said lease and shall be prosecuted thereafter with reasonable diligence until completion, and shall be completed within two (2) years from and after said last mentioned date. The said dock and warehouse when so constructed shall become and remain the property of the lessor.

2. The lessee shall at his or its own cost and expense during the term of said lease maintain said dock or warehouse in good condition and repair.

3. The lessee shall keep said dock or warehouse insured against loss by fire in an amount equal to at least sixty per cent (60%) of the cost of construction of the same. Said insurance shall be made payable to the account of the lessee, in case of loss occurring. Said insurance money shall be received and held in trust by said lessee for the purpose of the repair or reconstruction of said dock or warehouse and shall be used exclusively for said purpose. The lessee shall repair and reconstruct said dock or warehouse with the insurance collected and expend in such repair and reconstruction all moneys collected on account of such insurance. Said repair and reconstruction shall be commenced in good faith within four months after such loss occurs and shall be prosecuted to completion with reasonable diligence.

4. The said lessee shall use and operate said dock or warehouse for the purposes of commerce and navigation, and unless prevented by fire, earthquake, shipwreck, or other unforeseen casualty beyond his or its control, shall ship or cause to be shipped to and from said dock or warehouse during each calendar year during the term of this lease, after the first day of January, 1920, at least such quantity of merchandise as would produce the sum of Two thousand five hundred dollars ($2500.00) annually in toll charges at the rates now fixed by ordinance for such toll charges. The said lessee may permit other persons to use said dock or warehouse and may receive goods at said dock or warehouse and ship goods from said dock or warehouse other than the goods of said lessee, provided that said lessee shall be liable to said lessor for the toll charges and dockage charges of all persons using said dock or warehouse, with the consent of said lessee, the same as if said use had been the use of said lessee. The said lessee shall pay to the said lessor tolls and dockage for the use of said dock or warehouse by said lessee, and by other persons using said dock or warehouse with the consent of said lessee, at the rates charged by said lessor at its other municipally owned wharves or docks within the City of Oakland. The said lease shall be granted under and by authority of and in accordance with and subject to the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, approved May 1st, 1911, and entitled "An Act Granting Certain Tide and Submerged Lands of the State of California to the City of Oakland and Regulating the Management, Use and Control thereof." (Statutes of 1911, page 1258.)

5. The said lessor shall dedicate Seventh Street to a width of at least forty (40) feet from the present westerly terminus thereof as fixed by Ordinance No. 481 N. S., passed by the Council of the City of Oakland and along the Southerly side of said leased premises to the most westerly end thereof.

6. The said lessor shall, within one (1) year from the date of the execution of this lease, deepen the present channel from the deep waters of the Bay of San Francisco to and along the northerly side of said leased premises to a depth of at least thirty (30) feet at mean low tide, and shall thereafter, during the term of this lease, maintain said or some other suitable channel to a depth of at least thirty (30) feet at mean low tide, together with necessary turning basin, for the accommodation of shipping to and from said leased premises.

7. The said lessor shall, within two (2) years from the date of the execution of this lease, grade and macadamize or cause to be graded and macadamized Seventh Street from Bay Street to the Westerly end of said leased premises.

8. The lessor shall pay to the lessee but only out of the receipts of dockage and tolls collected by said lessor, on account of shipping to and from said leased premises, and to the extent of ninety-five per cent (95%) of such receipts, the actual cost of constructing said dock or warehouse hereinbefore provided for, also the actual cost of the insurance against loss by fire, also the actual cost of repairs, maintenance and upkeep of said dock or warehouse, together with interest upon the said cost of construction, insurance and repairs at the rate of 5% per annum. Upon the completion of said dock or warehouse or upon the payment of any cost of insurance or upon the expenditure of any money for repairs or maintenance or up-keep, the said lessee shall render to the said lessor an itemized, statement in writing of the cost thereof, which statement shall be subject to check by the said lessor, and as to all items not objected to in writing by the said lessor within sixty days shall be final. In case the said lessor and the said lessee cannot agree as to any item to which objection is so made, the propriety of such item shall be submitted to some firm of certified accountants mutually agreed upon for determination. Interest on the correct amount of such item, as finally determined, and interest on all costs agreed upon, shall run from the date of the rendition of statement covering such costs. The cost of maintenance, up-keep or repair of said dock or warehouse for which the said lessee is to be so paid shall not under this provision, or any provision of this lease, include the cost of repairs or reconstruction necessitated by the damage or destruction by fire to the extent to which such damage or destruction is, or should be, according to the terms of this lease, covered by insurance.

9. The said lessee shall keep full and accurate books of account of said costs and the same shall be at all times open to the inspection and examination of the said lessor.

10. On or before the 15th day of each month, during the said term, the said lessor shall render to said lessee an itemized statement in writing of the receipts by the said lessor during the preceding month for tolls and dockage on account of goods shipped to and from said these premises, and it shall, at the same time, pay to the said lessee ninety-five per cent (95%) thereof, the same to be applied in payment of the amounts hereinbefore specified to be paid by said lessor to the said lessee until such amounts are paid in full. The said lessor does not and shall not assume any obligation to pay the said lessee any sum of money whatever except out of the gross receipts from such tolls and dockage and to the extent of ninety-five per cent (95%) of said gross receipts. In case said ninety-five per cent (95%) of said receipts shall not at the expiration of said term have fully paid for the amounts so to be paid by the said lessor to the said lessee, nevertheless, all obligations of the said lessor to pay the balance of said last mentioned amounts shall cease; provided that the lessor may at its option, repay to said lessee the whole or any part of said cost of construction, insurance and repairs before the same have been earned out of 95% of the gross receipts, as aforesaid; but said lessee shall have no right to require said lessor to make any payment whatever toward said cost save and except to the extent of 95% of the gross receipts, as aforesaid.

11. The said lessee shall have the right to construct, maintain and use upon said demised premises such additional stories upon the top of said dock or warehouse as may be necessary for the conducting of its business, and shall have the right to alter, repair or remove such additional stories at any time, provided that such additional stories shall be so constructed as to not cause unnecessary damage to said dock or warehouse, and that in case said additional stories are removed, damaged or destroyed that the said lessee shall restore said dock or warehouse to as good shape and condition as if said additional stories had not been constructed, removed, damaged or destroyed. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to require the said lessor to pay to said lessee the cost of construction, or maintenance or insurance of said additional story or stories or interest upon the original cost of said additional story or stories or any part of said original cost of said additional story or stories. Such additional story or stories when constructed shall become the property of said lessor.

12. Said lessee shall at the same time as the execution of this lease execute and deliver to the said lessor a bond with sureties as required by Section 128 of the Charter of the City of Oakland, said bond to be in the penal sum of $25,000, to secure the building of said dock or warehouse within said period of two years as aforesaid, said bond to be approved by the Council of the City of Oakland.

13. The word "lessor" in said lease shall be understood to mean the City of Oakland, a municipal corporation of the State of California, and its successors and the word "lessee" in said lease shall be understood to mean the lessee to be named in said grant of lease, and his or its executors, administrators, heirs or successors in interest and assigns. Said lease shall not be assigned by said lessee either voluntarily or by operation or process of law, without the consent of the Council of the City of Oakland first had and obtained.

14. Said lessee shall pay upon the making of this lease the cost of publication of the notice inviting bids for this lease, and of the ordinance making the lease.

15. A failure on the part of said lessee to comply with any of the provisions of said lease relating to the time of commencement or of completion of the construction of said dock or warehouse, or with either or any of the provisions, terms or conditions of said lease, shall work a forfeiture of said lease, and of all rights thereunder. The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Oakland shall have the right to grant an extension of time for the completion of said construction, if it appear that the work has been commenced within the time fixed, and thereafter prosecuted in good faith, when thereunto first authorized by resolution of the council, and for such length of time as may be stated in said resolution. All extensions shall be in writing and made a matter of record in the municipality.

And notice is hereby given that said lease will be awarded at public auction by the Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Oakland, at his office in the City Hall of said City, on the 26th day of January, 1916, at 12 o'clock noon of said day, to the highest responsible bidder at the highest annual rent (said award to be subject to the approval of the Council, which may in its discretion reject any and all bids), to be paid annually in advance.

Bidders will be required to accompany their bid with a cash deposit or check certified by a responsible bank in the sum of One thousand dollars ($1000.00), payable to L. W. Cummings, City Clerk, which said cash deposit or certified check shall be delivered to said Commissioner of Public Works at the time of making any bid and shall be held by the City of Oakland to secure the acceptance by said successful bidder of the lease herein provided for, in case the award of said lease is approved by the Council of the City of Oakland, also to secure the execution and delivery of the bond herein provided for, and to secure the payment of the costs of publishing this notice, and of the ordinance granting said lease, and shall be forfeited to said City of Oakland, in case the successful bidder fails to accept said lease, or execute and deliver said bond or pay said costs within ten days from the receipt of written notice that the Council of the City of Oakland has approved the award to the successful bidder.

JOB IN CONGRESS COSTS QUARTER

Debt of Years Standing Comes Due on Day of First Speech.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 21. — The day Congressman C. C. Dill, from Washington State, rises up in Congress and makes his maiden speech, it's going to cost him 25 cents plus compound interest thereon for fourteen years. The Congressman, this session's youngest, has owed that quarter ever since he was 16. His creditor is Mrs. Fanny Bell, Mount Gilead, Ohio, and she has his note to prove it. It reads:

"Fredericktown, Ohio, March 10, 1901.
"$.25.
"For value rec'd I promise to pay Fanny Berry Bell the sum of twenty-five cents with compound interest at 6 per cent when I shall have made my first speech in the State Legislature or the United States Congress or shall have won my first fight in either. C. C. DILL."

That note may account for the fact that Dill is a national lawmaker at so early an age. He simply couldn't wait any longer to get that debt off his mind. The circumstances were these:

Dill lived on a rented farm near Fredericktown, Ohio. Mrs. Bell was the wife of the owner. On one corner of the farm was the Salem M. E. church and one day a box social was announced for Saturday night at the church. Mrs. Bell asked young Dill if he were going. Nope, didn't have the necessary quarter, he explained cheerfully.

"I'll lend it to you," she said.

"Don't know when I can pay it back," he demurred.

"Pay it back when you make your first speech in Congress," she suggested. Dill, being a terribly earnest young man, had made no secret of the fact that he was going to Congress some day. The farm lad accepted the money and drew up the note.

He had a good time at the social, untroubled by his new financial burden. Five or six years later he fell into the camp of Tom Johnson and became one of his secretaries during his gubernatorial campaign. After the campaign Johnson asked him what he was going to do.

"I am going to Congress," said Dill.

"All right," said Johnson, "you go out West and pick out some good, growing town and stay there till they send you."

Dill went to Spokane, Wash. And here he is.

GETS $1,000,000 FOR HIS KINDNESS

American Who Aided Relative in Boer War Handsomely Rewarded.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—At the time of the Boer war, Alpha Gifford went to South Africa in search of adventure. With his brother, he went to visit Yen Gifford, a distant relative, whose mining possessions lay in a district where the fighting was most severe.

While the brothers were guests at their relative's home marauders stormed the mining plant and it was only by Alpha Gifford's aid that the property was saved. Before the trouble was all over, the wealthy mine owner became seriously ill and young Gifford nursed him until he recovered, himself undergoing severe hardships because of the conditions then obtaining as a result of the war.

When his relative had recovered young Gifford, still hungering for adventure, traveled around the world. Several years later the elder Gifford placed in trust for the two brothers the sum of $25,000 with the provision that it was not to be disposed of until the former's death.

A little more than a year ago Gifford enlisted as a member of the United States Marine Corps and at the opening of the exposition at San Francisco he was among the men sent to the exposition marine barracks. A few months later a letter came from his mother in New York, informing him of the death of the wealthy relative in Africa and of the fact that the old man's fortune, amounting to $1,000,000, had been bequeathed to him in consequence of the kindness shown the mine owner in the days of strife and danger.

Gifford's comrades were somewhat in awe of him when they learned of his great wealth and expected him to quit the marine corps at once. He told them, however, that his inheritance was in the hands of competent persons and that though a millionaire he would remain in the government's service until his enlistment expired, and then undertake to make proper use of the fortune, as his benefactor had desired.—The Pathfinder.

Learns to Dance and Learns to Love

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 21.—A romance of the tango culminated Saturday at 1 o'clock when Robert E. Smith of Charlotte, N. C., led Miss Vie Brotherton of 16 South Gordon street, to All Saints Episcopal church for marriage.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. W. Memminger, and this morning the couple leaves for Winston-Salem, N. C., to spend their honeymoon.

A year ago, when the tango was the most popular step, and "Too Much Mustard" reigned as the ragtime favorite, young Smith, who was then attached to the Atlanta offices of the Southern Express Company, exhibited an ambition to dance, and applied to Miss Lorena Brotherton—now his sister-in-law—who taught private lessons at her Gordon street home.

Miss Lorena Brotherton was so busy with such a list of pupils that she was compelled to turn some of them over to her sister, who acted as her assistant. Among them was Saturday's groom.

Will Operate on Man for Aphasia

BROOKLYN, Jan. 21.—Francis X. McKernan, 25 years old, of New Rochelle, is the subject of much discussion in the medical circles of Long Island City. This is as a result of an accident which occurred to him while working on the subway in this borough last April. He was hit on the head, and has since been troubled with aphasia.

Dr. George Forbes, a prominent surgeon of St. John's Hospital, says a bone is pressing against the brain. He also says that an operation will remedy the trouble. The operation will probably take place next week. Dr. James H. Dalinton and Dr. F. C. Keller, both of Manhattan, will perform the delicate task.

Shortly after his trouble had started him McKernan fell heir to $750,000, left by his grandmother.

MYSTERY surrounds the sinking of a launch, owned by the Peoples Water Company, at the foot of Webster street. The launch was purchased a few days ago to be used for a tender to the water company's dredgers that are at work in San Leandro bay, repairing a break in the levee that was caused by a heavy storm last winter. Until recently the water company had been using the launch Peep, the property of the Oakland Launch and Tugboat Company. The Peep, however, was sold this week to Clarence Wertz of Suisun, to be used in passenger trade on the inland waters of the state.

The new launch was tied up for the night at her berth in the Webster-street slip. She was apparently all right when the engineer left her. There were several other launches in the same slip and a number of Italian fishermen boats, that are docking there since the herring season commenced. The next morning the launch was resting on the bottom, with only her signal poles sticking out of the water.

Workmen were busy all day trying to raise the craft, but at a late hour their efforts had proven uneffective. Chains were lowered and pulled under her keel and then hawsers run down to take their places. These were made fast to capstans on launches, but the vessel kept settling back into the mud instead of coming to the surface. It is barely possible that the sea cock was removed by some miscreant, but this cannot be determined until the launch is floated.

LARGE NUMBER OF FISHING BOATS IN THE HARBOR.

As the herring season progresses the number of fishing boats in Oakland harbor increase daily. There were fully a dozen of the little launches at anchor at one time yesterday in the Webster-street slip. The fish were caught in the bay near Sausalito and are sold by the fishermen to persons visiting the waterfront. The boats that ply between Oakland and the fishing ground are not controlled by either of the fish corporations of San Francisco.

CONTRACT LET FOR FOUR KNOCK-DOWN BARGES.

A contract for the building of four knock-down barges has been let to the Pacific Shipyard. These barges are to be used in the salmon packing business in Alaska this coming summer. They will be 30 by 60 feet and will cost in the neighborhood of $6000.

The barges will be made here according to plans and will be shipped to Alaska in pieces. In the north they will be fitted together, calked and made ready for the cannery trade.

MOVEMENT OF VESSELS IN OAKLAND HARBOR.

The steamer Reform of the California Transportation Company, made two dockings yesterday when she arrived from river points along the Mokelumne. She first discharged at the Franklin street slip and then proceeded to her regular birth at the foot of Webster street.

The tug Richmond towed Santa Fe barge No. 4, loaded with freight cars, in and out of the harbor.

Steam schooners Tahoe and Phoenix left the harbor from the United Engineering Works, where they had been under repair.

Freighter Jessie Matsen loaded with freight from several wharves for transbay shipment.

Tows were taken out of the harbor by seven gas tugs.

Steam schooners Tiverton and Vanguard and North Fork, arrived with lumber for local dealers.

The gas schooner Topo brought gravel for Peterson Company.

For the first time since her collision with the Santa Barbara at the mouth of the estuary last month, the steam schooner Ranier came up the harbor. She was repaired at Moore and Scott's. She will load copper ore for Tacoma.

The columns of heights give the elevation of each tide above or below the level of Coast Survey chart sounding. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign, or dash (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depths given on the chart.

Month Is Better Than Year Ago

Bradstreet's Reports the Trade as Good

Bradstreet's weekly report of trade conditions in Oakland and vicinity shows business above the average and general trade as good as the season warrants. It says:

"Continued cold and wet weather retards retail trade though many houses report old stocks almost entirely disposed of with shelves being refilled with the spring goods. While in general lines business has fallen off somewhat, the average appears to be better than the month of January to date of last year. Buyers have started east and anticipate an excellent season.

"Salesmen on the road are handicapped by weather conditions and report dull trade. Liquor dealers report business from fair to slow, while cigars and tobacco are inactive. Automobile accessory houses report business for December and January to date in the neighborhood of 15 per cent better than December and January of last year, though in this line collections are slow, but little falling off in business is anticipated by these firms as the result of the practical elimination of the so-called jitney traffic from the downtown section. Business in men's furnishings has fallen off considerably, though it is thought the spring season will be active. In some quarters a raise in the price of such dyed goods for summer and fall delivery is expected owing to the elimination of European supplies of dyes and the difficulty in establishing their exact manufacture in this country. It is reported in some quarters that fall orders are being filled in the east with no definite date of delivery. Jobbers of staples report trade satisfactory.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

"Local building has fallen off considerably with building permits behind and as a consequence building material for local supply is dull. However, a condition has arisen from the result of the destruction wrought by the storm in the southern part of the state which has favored the lumber firms and large orders are being rushed to the south both for building purposes and the reconstruction of the rigs in the oil fields. Railroads report incoming freight as increased considerably over the same period last year, while the outbound freight, with the exception of the lumber shipments to the south, is normal. Passenger traffic is fair. From Berkeley come reports of activity among the factories with capacity orders dominant. Business in photoplays has been especially active with the plant taxed to its utmost to fill orders throughout the west. The northwestern territory in this line is reported opening up well.

WATERFRONT ACTIVITY.

"On the Oakland waterfront activity is reported in the shipbuilding industry. One firm, in addition to having already started on two iron vessels, is said to be about to commence the construction of a $400,000 freighter, while the Moore & Scott Company have received a contract for the construction of a seventy-two hundred ton ship to cost $750,000. Two other wooden vessels are reported under way for northern traffic while the salmon fleet is completing its usual repair work and making preparations to start for northern waters in February. Development of the western waterfront is expected with the consummation of the proposed long-term lease of a large tract of land in this section to the Albers Milling Company.

"While a few large loans in private quarters are announced, banks report the demand far behind the supply. Clearings, while slightly less than last week, are far in excess of the similar week of 1915. Local collections are reported fair to slow."

GAS PLANTS SOLD.

The Southern Counties Gas Company, now having a capital of $2,000,000, is to be developed into a $10,000,000 corporation. Its president, F. R. Bain, with eastern capitalists, has purchased the gas properties of the Southern California Edison Company at Pomona, Long Beach, Venice, Santa Monica, San Pedro, San Dimas, Lordsburg, Ocean Park and Claremont. Amounts paid were not given out. The corporation will be one of the largest of its kind in the country.

LETTUCE SCARCE AND PRICE HIGH

Los Angeles Article Now Almost Out of Local Market.

Last week Oakland produce men were mourning a glut of the lettuce market and were glad to get any prices they could for the salad ingredient. Today they have but little of the Los Angeles article, can get no more and prices are soaring. Los Angeles lettuce this morning brought $1.50 a crate and Sacramento, lettuce a little of which is coming in, was $1.10 to $1.25 a crate. The southern article is practically out of the market.

A few crates of turkeys of good quality arrived and were sold at 25 to 26 cents a pound. Poultry is scarce with a tendency to higher prices. Very few are coming in from anywhere.

Arrivals included considerable cauliflower, which now brings 85 to 90 cents. Tomatoes are still rather poor and not in great quantity.

Potatoes are coming in slowly and prices are stiff. A few cars arrived this morning and found a ready market.

Prices of citrus fruit remain the same with stocks all the time improving in quality. Some pineapples arriving are of very fine quality. They bring $3.50 a crate of 36, 30 and 42 to a crate.

General business is looking up in all produce lines, dealers buying more freely and reporting a better demand.

Wholesale prices are:

Property Owners to Appeal to Council

Owners of the properties now occupied by the Oakland produce market dealers will ask the city council to rescind the order for removal of the markets on May 27. At a meeting called and arranged by the owners a good deal of apathy was displayed by the produce men who care little now whether they go or stay. It was decided to leave the steps to be taken to ask the council to rescind the order entirely to the property owners who will open a campaign in that direction.

No further steps have been taken by any of the firms doing business on Eleventh and Harrison streets to secure other locations and nothing more has been done to bring them together to discuss the question.

Metal Prices Show Substantial Gains

Copper, lead and spelter showed substantial advances in price in 1915 over the 1914 levels, and while the year's average price of silver is below that of 1914, there has been a steady advance in recent months and the December price ruled higher than the average for 1914.

Prices as compiled by the Engineering and Mining Journal compare as follows: Copper in 1915, 17.275 cents against a much lower figure in 1914, which is not given because of the demoralization of the market on the outbreak of the war; spelter, 13.230 cents against 5.213 cents in 1914; lead, 4.628 cents against 3.862; silver, 49.684 cents an ounce, against 54.811 in 1914. Peoples Water Securities Now in Hands of Committee

Nearly all of the outstanding securities of the Peoples Water Company are now in the hands of the executive committee in charge of the reorganization. The manner in which the bonds and notes has come in has surprised the members of the committee, who scarcely expected such a general response to the call.

Today was the last day for receipt of the securities for participation in the benefits of the reorganization, but for the few outstanding it is the sentiment of the committee that they should be received, as were the others, should they now be handed in.

Up to noon today $13,468,954 of all securities out were in the depositaries. These were divided as follows: Peoples Water bonds, $6,173,000; underlying bonds, $5,363,954; notes, $1,932,000.

The total outstanding securities are $15,300,000 as follows: Water bonds, $7,400,000; underlying, $5,600,000; notes, $2,300,000; total $15,300,000.

The committee is now in a position to go ahead and complete the work of reorganization.

Wall Street Makes Partial Recovery From Depression

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The market recovered but partially from the low prices and depression that ruled yesterday and the recovery was not enough to offset the undoubted technical weakness manifested. While prices were somewhat better at the resumption of trading this morning and there was considerable activity, it was not in sufficient volume to offset the fresh selling which met the various advances. All gains made were considerably reduced within the first half hour.

The initial advances were chiefly in American Smelting, Mercantile Marine preferred, Crucible Steel, United States Steel, Anaconda and American Woolen. These only partially held to the close of the market.

Railroad stocks were dull with little movement though no losses were recorded. On the contrary, prices remained firm and the leader, New York Central, even registered a dollar gain in the first hour.

Coppers were stronger and more interest was displayed in them, a fact taken by many that they are at last to move in line with the continued high record prices of the red metal.

Generally industrials were feverish and while slight advances were made and followed by recoveries the latter were only partly maintained.

United States Steel made some gains which it held to well and at the close was in a better position than yesterday.

PROFESSIONAL ADVICES.

E. F. Hutton & Co., First National Bank building, private wires furnish the following:

Hutton.—In the opinion of the writer it is a question as to whether foreign selling has filled up this market or not or whether it will continue to depress it. Outside of this feature there is nothing to be bearish on. There is practically no inflation left in securities. War stocks, except in cases of worthless properties, are showing big earnings. Railroads, which we are told to sell now as we were when the market was water-logged last May, are doing better than anyone could expect. Money is easy and business is good, there is a strong party, though, that keeps the market more or less oversold that gives it stability. Eight months ago the market more or less was water-logged just as it is today, especially for good stocks. Everyone said the railroads could not go up, then Erie made a 20-point advance and the rest followed moderately. We are in a good deal the same situation today except for the unknown factor commented on. Can we absorb this foreign selling readily? We will comment no more on conditions or particular properties which are below their intrinsic values as good news has no effect at this time.

New York Financial News Bureau—The wearied aspect of the stock market to which we have for several days been directing attention has proved a true barometer of suspected technical weakness. The slump may extend further until industrial liquidation shall have run its course. While rails are likely to exhibit great underlying strength during the unsettlement, good stocks are usually dragged down with the bad in a movement of breadth. At such times splendid buying opportunities will be provided and we have reasons for believing that they will not be neglected. The active operator may find it profitable to continue to sell war stocks on all rallies for turns.

U. S. STEEL POSITION.

E. F. Hutton & Co., First National Bank building, private wires today carried the following concerning United States Steel:

The following interpretations of United States Steel dividend action next Tuesday will be entertained by prominent banking interests, according to preliminary calculations: If a 5 per cent dividend rate is declared by the directors, it will be viewed as an expression of the soundness of the present business and indicative of a belief that the outlook is good for maintenance of the rate. Should no dividend be declared, or a very small figure named, it will be taken to mean that the directors are not sure of the prospect and will want to conserve all resources against exigencies. While there is a very general interpretation of the Bethlehem common dividend action as exceptionally conservative, and while the holders of war stocks are taking it as an indication of what may be expected in dividend decisions by conservative managements in the other company, the banking element did not expect a figure much higher than that named. A big extra disbursement when the war's uncertainties pass is hinted in these quarters, but until conditions in the war are more definite in their trend for a prolonged war or for an early peace, resources will be conserved.

Oakland Bank Clearings Increase $915,711 in Week

Oakland clearing-house receipts for the present week showed an increase over the corresponding week of last year of $915,711.23. The total figures for the week are $4,209,309.39, and for the same week of 1915 they were $3,293,598.16.

Bradstreet Chief Is Oakland Visitor

E. J. Hollister, representing the executive offices of the Bradstreet Company, was the guest of J. R. Munsell of the Oakland office yesterday and expressed himself very much pleased with the local situation. Hollister has been with the Bradstreet Company for more than thirty years and has passed through all the grades of the business.

Hollister is making a tour of the coast offices with a view of studying coast conditions and suggesting the most advanced methods of procedure in anticipation of the increased volume of business looked for on all sides during the coming year and the consequent general increase in the use of mercantile agency service.

After addressing the personnel of the local Bradstreet office at length along the lines of improved service, Hollister was given an opportunity to inspect the business section of Oakland and remarked upon the rapid growth of the city in the last few years. After visiting Oakland, Hollister left for San Francisco, where he is now giving the matter of improved service along specialized lines his attention.

Liverpool spot wheat ½ to 3 higher. Corn 1 to 2 lower.

Liverpool, 2 p. m., ½ to 1 up from 12:30. Port receipts estimated 40,000, 40,000, 72,303, 68,647.

Southern spot markets hold steady and most of the advances received yesterday indicated that there was every probability that holders would stand firm. If situation continues it will bring about a recovery in contracts. Market is short and it would take very little buying to cause a sharp advance. Believe bull side the best and purchases around present levels will pay good profits.

Hayden Stone & Company—Sentiment is growing against prices owing to near approach of planting preparations and the limited export movement of last year's crop.

INCREASED DEPOSITS.

The Bank of Italy at San Francisco yesterday re-elected officers. Reports showed deposits increased during the year $1,202,309.30.

MARKET FIRM IN MINING ISSUES

Moderate Demand and Fairly Good Volume of Business.

With a moderate demand, prices held fairly well in all the principal mining issues on the San Francisco Stock Exchange this morning. There was a fair amount of business transacted without special feature.

Jumbo Extension did not follow its upward trend of yesterday, the only offer being $1.85, which is two and a half cents lower than at the close Thursday. There was little inquiry for other Goldfields beyond some small transactions in C. O. D. and Lone Star Consolidated, both at four cents.

Comstocks were slightly weaker, though no especial declines were noted. Con. Virginia was offered at 16, a slight loss. Ophir sold at 30 and Mexican at 17, yesterday's prices. Union brought 04.

Halifax was the only stock to move among the Tonopah group, bringing 50, the same as Thursday. Jim Butler was offered at 94 and Tonopah Extension at $4.30.

Big Jim was in demand at 84, with none of the stock to be had. United Western sold at 28, a slight advance.

Rochester Mines was weaker than the day previous, selling first at 68 and later at 65.

SILENT FLEET IS GUARDING GERMANY

Otto Gaup Writes of His Visit to Various Battleships.

ZURICH, Switzerland, Jan. 21.—Describing a recent visit to the German fleet, Dr. Otto Gaup writes in the Muenchener Neueste Nachrichten: "Our silent fleet," say the English. "Our silent fleet, can we also say with equal right, which, still and earnest, unseen and unmarked, day and night, summer and winter, in storm and in sunshine, stands on guard in the North Sea and in the Baltic, thereby playing a role, of whose higher, I might also say more decisive importance, only a few of us can have any conception. We hear of our submarines, which have so embittered England's sea supremacy, but who has heard for months of our great battleships, our large and small cruisers, our ever-increasing torpedo boats, which stand behind these submarines and make their successful activities possible.

"There can be no German who doubts that behind the thick veil covering our battle fleet everything is in the best order, the liveliest activity, never slumbering watchfulness and every one burning to serve the fatherland, not by passive, but active, engagement in a conflict, whose fearfulness would exceed even that of the fighting in the trenches. One need not be long with the fleet to be convinced that the strictest secrecy in war is for it even more necessary than for the army. On the warship one gets the impression of enormous concentrated force, and power of movement, of which a mobilized fleet is capable. A curt command and dozens and still dozens of gigantic guns fire enormous shot, it may be at a distance of 20 kilometers. Another command and a few hours later the fleet is many miles from its first position. Ships in action must carry everything they need, for battle and existence; there are no reserves for them, no impassable ways; they cross the waters with the speed of railway trains and a few hours' journey can bring a decisive battle on the result of which the fate of world empires may depend. One need only think a little to understand the absolute necessity that nothing at all should be made public regarding the movements, the location, the composition of the fleet."

After pointing out that the British admiralty need hardly trouble to explain to their country the value of their fleet in this war, that it constitutes the only protection against the immediate destruction of the empire, and that its loss would be followed by a blockade, famine and instant capitulation, Dr. Gaupp goes on to say that it is not so easy for a German to understand clearly the part the German fleet now plays.

"It is not Germany's only protection and only weapon," he writes, "but the fleet is a piece of armor covering a vulnerable spot, and thereby making the free handling of arms and shield possible. Without it the enemy would lie thick before our harbors in the Baltic and the North Sea; without it our armies would have to reckon with hostile forces landing on our coasts at any moment, and thus tieing up large armies for their protection. Without the fleet our most important way into the open, leading over the Baltic, would have been shut from the first days of the war. Without it England could have brought entirely different pressure to bear on Denmark, and in the Dardanelles, and might have terrorized the whole Balkans into joining the entente; without it every attempt of the neutrals to restrict the English despotism over the sea would be hopeless. Only the existence of a strong German fleet has forced England to pay a certain regard to the United States; without it England's chances of wearing us down into peace would be ten times greater than they are today.

"I do not believe that any Englishman with technical expert knowledge doubts that our fleet has pursued the one correct, and for England, fatal strategy, of continuing as a 'fleet in being' and so made the enemy's supremacy at sea only provisional and conditional. To provoke a decisive battle against an overwhelmingly superior force would be heroic, but it would not be war; it would be playing the enemy's game. That our navy would take any opportunity to measure herself against the foe where the chances were at all equal she has proved sufficiently and will also prove further. It is also certain that the English will give them no such opportunity, if they know it. Before the war I heard in England, over and over again, that the German fleet, ship for ship, was as good as the English—in the mouth of an Englishman the highest praise he could give. The experiences they have had since may make them doubt if they said enough, and now they may prefer only to fight when they are certain of having a greater force."

Wheat Develops Fresh Strength

Urgent Liverpool Demand

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Wheat developed strength today influenced by reports of an urgent demand at Liverpool and by announcement that clearances from Argentina and Australia continued to be light.

The opening which ranged from 1-8 to 7-8 at 1 cent higher with May at $1.29 3-8 and July at $1.22¾@5-8 was followed by a reaction but then but a fresh upturn.

The market closed strong, 2½@3¼c net advance, with May at $1.32½ and July at $1.25½.

Corn hardened with wheat. After opening unchanged to 1-4c lower prices rallied and scored somewhat of an advance above yesterday's finish.

The close was steady at ⅝@¾c to 1@1¼c net advance.

Oats maintained a relatively firm tone.

Weakness in the hog market led to a setback for provisions.

Following were the closing quotations:

Wheat—May, $1.32½; July, $1.25⅝.

Corn—May, 79c; July, 79¼c.

Oats—May, 53¼c; July, 49⅞c.

Pork—January, $20; May, $20.50.

Lard—May, $10.85.

Ribs—May, $11.07½; July, $11.25.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Corn, No. 2 yellow, 79¼c; No. 4 yellow, 72@74c¼; No. 4 white, 72@74c. Rye, nominal. Barley, 68@80c. Timothy, $5.55@7.85. Clover, $10@18.50.

EXPERT OPINIONS.

E. F. Hutton & Company, First National Bank building, private wires furnish:

Ware & Leland—The increased anticipation the movement of corn may further depress prices of corn. Purchases of oats on moderate declines seem proper.

Finley Barrell & Company—We look for wheat prices to work around this level for the present with higher prices finally. We look for higher prices for May corn and adhere to the long side of May oats. Feel that the provision market will be healthier after a further recession.

Thomson McKinnon Company—Statistical position continues to favor lower prices for wheat but market is stubborn. Corn markets not in a position to withstand increased receipts. Provision values should experience further setback.

Bartlett Frazer Company—We look for a further setback in corn. We expect to see exporters continue to buy wheat on all recessions as there is no evidence of getting Argentine or Australian wheat.

Lamson Bros. & Company—The wheat market has given a good account of itself and appears in a position to work higher.

Harris Wintrop & Company—Southern hemisphere will be a competitor in the export trade from now on and will operate against any decided advance from this level.

GRAIN MOVEMENTS.

Argentine shipments—Wheat, 400,000, 876,000, 313,000; corn, 2,295,000, 2,703,000, 2,406,000; oats, 280,000, 700,000, 1,530,000. Since January 1—Wheat, 872,000, 425,000; corn, 7,110,000, 9,530,000; oats, 1,909,000, 4,580,000.

Argentine visible wheat, 3,680,000; 3,312,000, 1,285,000; corn, 5,483,000, 5,474,000, 6,843,000.

S. P. Earnings on Same High Levels

December earnings of the Southern Pacific are understood to have continued on the high level of recent months, says the Wall Street Journal. In November, net earnings increased 71% over the same month of the previous year, and were 7% above the previous high record. While part of this traffic is due to the closing of the canal, the bulk of it is the result of the reopening of the mines and industries along the company's lines.

Not only has the Southern Pacific succeeded in garnering a tremendous share of the revived transportation business, but it has kept operating expenses so well in hand that the increased business has yielded more than the normal proportion of net earnings.

Another feature promising benefit to stockholders is the development of new prospects in the field of the Associated Oil Company. Of the $40,000,000 Associated Oil stock Southern Pacific owns $20,069,000. Not only is this company repaying full benefit of the active market for oil, with advances in price, a fact which will add to Southern Pacific's income through dividends, but prospects for organization of a merger to include Associated Oil, if carried out, would mean a lump of something like $15,000,000 cash for the Southern Pacific treasury.

Gives Reasons for Salary Maintenance

LONDON, Jan. 21.—After the cabinet ministers made an earnest appeal to the trade union congress to defer demands for increased wages until after the war on the ground of national economy, the suggestion came from the unions that the ministers themselves might set an example in economy by giving up part of their salaries, which in some offices are princely. It was indicated in Parliament that such a movement was contemplated by the ministers. But now a leading Liberal paper makes an ingenious defense of the old scale of salaries.

"It is an old saying," the paper argues, "that a minister who gives his whole attention to the nation's affairs has little time for his own, and in the case of some cabinet ministers a sudden drop of a third to a half of their incomes would create private financial problems, and therefore some distraction of mind. Ministers are supposed to be of importance to the nation's business, and distraction of mind is therefore a thing to be avoided. It is not at all unlikely this consideration may prevail."

ASSOCIATED OIL CONTINUES WEAK

Further Losses Recorded on the San Francisco Exchange.

Associated Oil was again active at weak prices on the San Francisco Stock and Bond Exchange this morning, losing a fraction with every sale until it reached at the close 65⅝. There was no demand for Amalgamated.

Sugar stocks were not in demand. Union sold slightly stronger at 23, the only transaction recorded at the morning session.

Pacific Gas and Electric preferred firsts were strong at 90¾ and seconds gained to 91½. Spring Valley Water was strong at 58¼. California Fruit Canners sold at the strong price of 126¾.

There was general firmness on the bond side of the exchange. Great Western Power 5s brought 85¾, a slight advance. California Gas and Electric Unifying 5s were strong at 93¾ and Natomas 6s at 83. Pacific Gas and Electric 5s brought the strong price of 92⅝.

Shipyards Could Increase Tonnage

The New York Chamber of Comerce has just completed a thorough investigation of the shipbuilding industry in this country.

The chamber has reached the conclusion that should conditions warrant it, most of the shipyards of the country could increase their tonnage from 15 to 60 per cent.

The report gives the following table:

	Vessels Built.	Gross Tons.	No. Over 1000 Tons.
1915	1157	225,122	23
1914	1151	310,270	46
1913	1475	346,155	61
1912	1505	232,669	28
1911	1421	290,829	46
1910	1361	343,065	53
1909	1247	238,030	31
1908	1457	614,216	94
1907	1157	471,332	74
1906	1221	418,745	58

This shows that 1915 falls far below any other year in the past decade in the number of vessels of 1000 tons or more and in gross tonnage, although six more vessels of all sizes were being built in 1915 than in 1914. The number in 1915 was the same as in 1907, when tonnage was far greater.

Death Toll in Hawaii May Be 25

Hurricane Known to Have Claimed 11

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 21.—The death list of the storm which raged over the Hawaiian islands for a week, but which has now passed on, is now known to have cost eleven lives on the island of Maui, where the gale vented its greatest fury, and the death list may reach twenty-five.

Property damage, mostly to growing sugar cane, was estimated today at $500,000.

The American bark British Yeoman, which was reported in danger during the storm, was towed into Honolulu harbor today by the navy tug Navajo.

ARGUE SLINGSBY CASE.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Today was the fifth day of the hearing on the appeal of the uncles of Teddie Slingsby against the judgment handed down by the court in the case to disprove his legitimacy last year. Sir Edward Carson, attorney for the appellants, is still reviewing and analyzing the evidence in the former trial, and expects to continue speaking another week.

University President Resigns His Position

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 21. Dr. J. T. Kingsbury, president of the University of Utah for almost twenty years, tendered his resignation to the board of regents yesterday, to take effect at the end of the present university year. Dr. John A. Widtsoe, president of the Utah Agricultural College, was elected to succeed him over the opposition of a minority in the board. Dr. Kingsbury and the majority of the board of regents were the objects of considerable public criticism last spring, when fourteen members of the university faculty resigned, charging that the administration of the university was not in accord with the proper spirit of academic freedom.

CURED BY HARD RIDE.

PORTLAND, Jan. 21.—So rough was the auto-ambulance ride that C. W. Ranck, an employe of the Oregon Electric railway, took from a suburb to St. Vincent's hospital that by the time Ranck reached the hospital he was completely cured and surgeons found it unnecessary to operate. Ranck suffered from an acute intestinal trouble. Surgeons said the effect of the rough ride served to concentrate his mind from his illness and permitted needed relaxation.

Contest Posters Reveal Merit

Ad-Masque Plans Progressing

A poster contest for the Chamber of Commerce Ad-Masque brought sixty-five designs from artists and art students in the bay region. The drawings are on display at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters in Hotel Oakland. Announcement will be made of the prizes tomorrow or Sunday.

The poster designs represent a high standard of work. Several of exceptional artistic merit lost sight of the advertising feature of the Ad-Masque. The municipal auditorium, the city hall and the harbor were used as motives for drawings in many instances. Groupings of artistic national advertising symbols and figures were used by others. The winning design will be announced by a committee consisting of H. A. Lafler, William H. Berry and W. W. Cribbins.

Committees in charge of the Ad-Masque met at the Chamber of Commerce last night to report on their work and to arrange for further plans for the municipal carnival.

BOXES ASSIGNED.

All the boxes to be constructed around the main floor of the auditorium for the night of the ball have been taken, it was announced by P. E. Crabtree, chairman of the committee on tickets and boxes. There will be sixty boxes. They will be decorated and will seat about six persons each. They have been taken by big advertising firms, by society and club women and by various lodges and organizations. Kem Weber has general supervision of the decorations for the boxes. The committee has issued 10,000 tickets, which will be placed on sale in a few days.

Many original ideas have been developed as to costumes and drawings have been made of these by Kem Weber. The scrap book of advertising figures, symbols and mottoes will be kept at the office of the Chamber of Commerce in Hotel Oakland, commencing Monday.

A false impression has become current that all the costumes worn by maskers must represent advertising in some way. This was corrected by Arthur Hargrave, chairman of the costume committee.

ANY COSTUME PERMISSIBLE.

Hargrave said:

"This is essentially a masquerade ball. Any masquerade costume can be worn, from a yama-yama to that garb of Mephistopheles. The only restriction is that it must be of such a nature that it will get by the censorship committee, consisting of Captain of Inspectors W. J. Petersen, A. S. Lavenson and Louis Aber. Anything of a questionable nature will not be tolerated, but otherwise than this, the utmost freedom is given in the choice of costumes. We know that thousands of people will wear original costumes depicting some form of advertising, especially as a number of prizes are being offered. But we also know that many will want to come just to dance and enjoy the spectacle. They are all welcome."

S. E. Shermantine, head of the committee of merchants co-operating, announced that eighteen firms have signified their intention of taking part in the pageant which is to precede the grand march.

Some of these individual displays are to be of elaborate nature.

Canned Beans Kill Woman and Chickens

FRUITVALE, Jan. 21.—Mystery surrounding the sudden death of a sister of Mrs. A. More, San Francisco stenographer and a resident of this community, was cleared up when a dozen of her poultry were found dead at the same time.

The young woman, according to word received from Los Angeles, where she resided, had become suddenly ill after eating some canned beans. The occupants of her chicken coop were given what was left over of the beans and next morning were found dead about the same time that their owner succumbed. Examination showed the food to have been tainted.

Selections from Verdi's grand opera, "Rigoletto," sung by four soloists and famous selections by a symphony orchestra of 50 picked musicians will feature the program of the third "pop" symphony concert which will be given at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon at the Oakland Municipal Auditorium. Paul Steindorff, conductor of the concerts, has prepared a program which will appeal to all music lovers. Madame Florence Le Roy Chase will be a new singer at these concerts.

Signor E. Puccini will sing the title role in "Rigoletto," Miss Lucy Van De Mark will sing the role of Magdalena and Ralph Errole will appear in the Duke. The role of Gilda will be sung by Madame Chase.

BILLINGS, Mont., Jan. 21.—One hundred selected elk from Yellowstone national park went through here last night en route to Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Idaho Springs, Colo., which raised about $2500 by public subscription to obtain them. Fifty of the animals will be turned loose on Pike's Peak and twenty-five each in the mountains near Pueblo and Idaho Springs.

Soldier Reported Dead Finds Wife Remarried

GENEVA, Jan. 21.—A curious military "Enoch Arden" case has become known here. There were two men in the same regiment from Lyons named Emile Dubois. One was married, the other single. In the fighting in Alsace one of the Emile Duboises was killed — the single one—and the death was reported to the wife of the other. This was in August, 1914.

Mme. Emile Dubois came to Geneva, and after a year's mourning she married another French soldier, who is at the front, and went to live again at her home in Lyons. A few days ago her first husband, who had recovered from wounds, came home on leave and found his wife. It is not known what legal arrangements will be made.

Physician Is Dying of Sleeping Sickness

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Dr. Albert C. Percell, victim of the mysterious African sleeping sickness, is dying at his home in Brooklyn. The malady, unknown in this country, was contracted by the physician five years ago while in Africa. Dr. Percell, a giant in physique, was laid low by the bite of the tiny tsetse fly, the dread scourge of Africa and Arabia.

MARE ISLAND NOTES.

MARE ISLAND, Jan. 21.—Orders to lay down the lines for battleship No. 44 in the mold loft arrived at Mare Island yesterday afternoon, and Naval Constructor H. M. Gleason announced that he will start actual work on the super-dreadnought within ten days. The mold loft is to be extended on account of the large amount of work that must be turned out for the leviathan, and part of the $500,000 that the House Naval Committee has asked Congress to set aside to equip Mare Island for battleship construction will be spent on the building.

It was learned today that battleship 44 will show a big improvement in hull construction over the dreadnaughts now in commission or building, especially in the defense against submarines. This improvement consists of the development of a new type of hull construction under the water line. The naval authorities in Washington, D. C., are keeping the changes secret.

Lieut. Herbert A. Jones, formerly attached to the destroyer Hull, flagship of the Pacific reserve fleet, is to report for duty in the machinery department at Mare Island tomorrow. It is understood that he is to become planning superintendent in the division next month or early in March.

Capt. E. B. Mainwaring, who recently reported for duty here, has been detached and will sail on the March transport for Guam.

Passed Assistant Surgeon C. K. Winn, attached to the Mare Island hospital, has been ordered to proceed to the state hospital at Ukiah to prepare a report for the Navy Department in regard to the condition of the naval insane patients now at that institution. He will leave Monday to be absent about a week.

HAYWARD, Jan. 21.—Open house will be kept at the new headquarters of the Alameda County Farm Bureau and the Chamber of Commerce on Castro street this evening. Both organizations recently moved into their commodious new quarters, which have been elaborately fitted up and tonight's reception will give the public an opportunity of viewing the exhibit, including local projects from the Alameda section of the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Several hundred persons are expected to attend. A social program will be carried through under the direction of a committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce. J. E. Welsh, secretary of both the Chamber of Commerce and the Farm Bureau, will have charge of the joint offices, in which will be situated a reading room, an information bureau and other conveniences of which visitors will be invited to make use.

Blood Transfusion Put to New Test

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Blood transfusion in cases of gas asphyxiation was pronounced a success last night.

Dr. Karl A. Meyer, who made experiments for the first time in America, and probably in the world, on Gustave Mussell three days ago, stated that the patient was out of danger and would be able to return to his home in a few days. Mussell was at the point of death when brought to Dr. Meyer at the county hospital. Treatment formerly in use could not have prolonged his life for more than an hour, it was stated.

Harem Bathing Suit on Palm Beach Girl

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 21.—Advanced styles in bathing suits are always introduced at Palm Beach, and the most unique creation of this season thus far was the harem suit worn this morning by Miss Virginia Sullivan of Chicago. It was of white silk, with a narrow blue stripe. The skirt, which was pleated, was short, and beneath it hung long bloomers reaching below the knees, with several rows of shirring. With this she wore a large bathing hat of white shirred satin.
